DRIED APPLE PIES.

Sara Somers Tells How This Pastry May be Made Both Appetizing and Desirable—Dried Cherries and How to Prepare Them—How to Utilize the Juice of Cherries.

I have somewhere read a rhyme in which the author denounced dried apples as an abomination, and, waxing eloquent, he goes on to say that they are made of a wormy, gnarly, bitter fruit, strung on a dirty cord, etc., evidently endeavoring to impress the reader with the fact that fruit in question is neither palatable, cleanly, nor healthful.

DR. HENLEY'S Oregon Kidney Tea.

It can do you no harm. It may do you much good. Here is the testimony of one sufferer who has been made a "new man."

I had been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys when kind Providence sent Dr. Henley with the Oregon Kidney Tea to my aid. It had an almost miraculous effect and in a few days I was a new man.

It has cured thousands; why not you? Tomorrow may be too late. Your supplier will tell you about it. Ask him.

During the months of July and August summer apples in our state are plentiful and unless care be taken to save them, hundreds of bushels yearly go to waste.

Dried apples should cook at least two hours and three would be better. Hot water from the tea-bottle should frequently be added, as they should be quite juicy when done.

Prussia has excluded sewage from rivers more rigidly than any other country, but of late the regulations have become somewhat relaxed.

Until 1723 London had but one water company which pumped from springs in Hertfordshire and the upper Lea; in that year the Chelsea company was started, and water from the Thames near Chelsea hospital, with reservoirs in Green Park, Hyde Park, and the Serpentine.

London's daily supply of water is 17,000,000 gallons more than half of which comes from the Thames and is settled in filtration beds.

Dried cherries, when properly prepared are another luxury. Cherries are as plentiful as apples, and in spite of canning and other saving devices, many of them go to waste.

NEW FARMERS' ALLIANCE.

Bacillus and Bacteria Join Forces to Exterminate the Bugs.

When M. Pasteur, a few years ago, proposed to kill off the rabbits of Australia by introducing among them a contagious disease of a fatal character, humanitarians disgustedly cried "Oh! What will they think of similar plans which bid fair to be widely adopted before long for wiping out various bugs that attack the crops?"

There is a "cabbage worm," for example, an otherwise innocent creature, about an inch and a half long, with a special appetite for the vegetable in question. It is subject to a singular and very deadly disease, caused by bacteria, as consumption and typhoid are in man.

DRINKING WATER.

A chapter on the pollution of rivers will be found in a book translated from the German of Prof. R. Baumeister, of Karlsruhe, entitled "The Sewerage of Cities."

It is not only the sprinkling service to disseminate the fatal complaint, but to infect the soil with this very germ wherever it goes, so that half a dozen might distribute the epidemic through a whole cabbage patch and so rid it of every caterpillar in a few days.

NATURE PROVIDES THAT WHENEVER AN INSECT DESTRUCTIVE TO VEGETABLE LIFE BECOMES OVERABUNDANT IT IS IMMEDIATELY ATTACKED BY DISEASE, FUNGUS OR BACTERIA, WHICH BREAKS OUT SPONTANEOUSLY.

In 1886 the webworms were so numerous in Washington that all the trees in the streets and parks were stripped by them to nakedness.

The inevitable epidemic each time reduces the swarming tribes to a few, which grow in numbers year after year until the season comes for another plague to reduce them to the bottom of the scales again, and so ad infinitum.

It is usual to hear people talking as if there was some miraculous potency in change of air and scene, but these must be accompanied by a complete change of daily occupation if the tired organization is to have rest.

A NAUGHTY DRUMMER.

How He Used the Telegraph to Deceive a Confiding Wife.

"No one who has ever been a telegraph operator in a large hotel doubts the entire truthfulness of the old saying that all men are liars," he remarked as he finished sending a dispatch and added the receiver's check to it.

"Well, I became that Rochester woman's husband by proxy. Every morning I received a dispatch from her, and every evening I answered it. I sent the truest husband to church twice on Sunday and permitted him to go to the theatre twice during the week. Upon his return from Waukesha he began sending amatory dispatches to a woman at that point.
