"Press day" at the Portland exposition was a grand success, so those who were present.

The council has made a move in the sewer question, and if the cost is not considered too high, we will probably have sewers in due time.

The second rush for land in the Indian territory which occurred on Tuesday shows how eager people are to get something for nothing.

Balmaceda, ex-president of the Chilean republic, committed suicide at the Argentine legation in Santiago last Saturday morning. This was a great holiday and all Chile danced and sang of triumph over the tyrant's death.

The people of Salem will make an endeavor to raise the endowment of Willamette University to $100,000. Salem can well afford to do this, as the school is the very best advertisement the town can possibly have. It draws better than the asylum and penitentiary combined.

A Chicago man has a theory that the same methods by which rain has been produced in Texas may be utilized to prevent frost by making a dense fog, and he has written a letter to Secretary Brew asking that experiments be made. In these days it does not do to say that anything is impossible.

The October Forum will contain an article on the prevalence of gambling in the United States, in which an effort is made to calculate the enormous proportions of the "business." The writer will present much evidence to show that we are a nation of gamblers.

The opening of the river would certainly be beneficial to the whole of Yamhill county. McMinnville has to pay more freight to and from Portland than Corvallis, which is a much greater distance from Portland. The latter having the advantage of competing lines of transportation.—Dayton Herald.

Shall McMinnville have a democratic club? The party throughout the union is being organized for the campaign of next year. Oregon is a republican state, and Yamhill is a republican county, but an efficient organization of the democrats will do much to encourage our fellows in the close states and to reduce the radical majority at home.

Judge Pipes has issued an order that all the earnings of the Oregon Pacific railroad from this date be applied to the payment of the employees; and second that Col. T. E. Hogg appear on or before October 20 and show cause why he should not be removed, on the ground that he had not obeyed the previous order of the court in paying the employees. Judge Pipes has done his duty.—East Oregonian.

The Philadelphia Ledger, George W. Child's paper, repudiates the republican ticket of that state and calls upon the people to support the democratic candidates as "the clearest, most direct, earnest and energetic way" to accomplish necessary reforms. The Ledger has always stuck to the republican party, through evil and through good report, till now, but the Quays and Bardeleys have been too much for even its endurance.

There is not one who is not glad that the American farmer is receiving more for his wheat this year than last. Some of our republican friends are claiming that the McKinley bill does it. But any reasonable man knows that American wheat must be had by English and French people or they will go hungry. If the tariff laws were based on the legitimate needs of the government the farmers would receive a double benefit, get more for their wheat and buy their necessities cheaper.

CAMPBELL'S FIRST SPEECH.

Governor Campbell opened the Ohio campaign at Sidney last Thursday and the way he discussed the tariff and silver questions was in every way pleasing to the democrats. The republicans cannot fail to be struck with the soundness of his logic. On free coinage he said: "But the entire democracy desire to see this done with honesty, and as speedily as existing conditions will permit. We do not intend that this subject shall go undebated, neither do we intend that our enemies shall divert us from the decisive issue of the tariff."

The Ohio democracy proposes to defend the legislation which is the right of both metals to unlimited coinage. Although we may differ among ourselves as to the means of reaching such coinage, we most emphatically do not believe in the doctrine enunciated by the Ohio republican platform, which indorses the amended coinage act of the last republican congress. Under this law paper certificates are issued, but no silver will be coined in the event of the redemption of such certificates. The law is designed to stop the coinage of silver. These certificates are practically warehouse receipts for so much bullion, and are based upon its daily fluctuations in the market. If any dollar could be more thoroughly a shoddy dollar than these pig-metal paper certificate dollars it would be difficult to describe.

The Ohio democracy would invoke the legislation and treaty provisions to undo the great wrong which have perpetrated and to aid, so far as lies in their power, to restore silver to its proper place and use. They believe in the doctrine of the party from Jefferson's day, that both metals should be equally used as money. They have in their platform demanded the free and unlimited coinage of both metals, for the reason that they do not believe that either of the metals alone furnishes a sufficient basis for increasing credit transactions of the world.

"They desire the subject to be discussed by the people, and believe it will be disposed of honestly and intelligently by the next democratic national convention. They indignantly resent any insinuation that they are in earnest, if they desire to restore the free and unlimited coinage of silver in any manner except in that which will make every silver dollar as good in purchasing power as any other dollar, and worth 100 cents, as it is to-day, wherever the American flag may cover it."

CONVENE THE LEGISLATURE.

We do not believe the chamber of commerce nor the glittering array of the buccolic press who ostensibly favor the opening of the upper Columbia to cheaper transportation will be so board and all in earnest, if they were instead of windy declamation, still hunts after available railroad routes, and clamor for their neighbors to subscribe some money to do it with, they would petition Governor Penney to assemble the legislature, and each various community interested standing over their representatives with clubs to keep them from defaulting, pass a maximum freight bill and the thing would be done once for all—not only for the region round about the Columbia river, but those far fastnesses that now have no hope of riddance from railroad imposition; it would make Rogue river dance a can-can with the Grand Ronde and Powder river and Umpqua would cavort a highland fling in ecstasy at the same deliriance as would electrify the small portion of Wasco, Sherman and Umatilla counties, should the present scheme prevail, which it won't.

Now, gentlemen of the chamber of commerce, buccolic press, and the big and little fry of id genus omne, who want to accomplish results to ameliorate the condition of the country, the governor stands ready and willing to second your efforts. He approves a maximum freight bill; a comprehensive one that will draw covering not over a hundred lines, which the wayfarer man, though a fool, can understand, and the legislature can in a day do more than the present projects will accomplish in the next fifty years.

If you are in earnest petition the governor to convene the legislature, and prepare stuffed clubs to use over four representatives out of five of the distinguished gentlemen who now claim you as their constituents.—Sunday West-Com.

HOW FOREIGNERS PAY THE TAX.

To audiences of Ohio voters Major McKinley with endless reiteration declares that he believes in making foreigners pay our governmental expenses by taxing the goods they send us. One of his chief organs, however, calls upon the people to rejoice because the McKinley law has reduced the receipts at the American custom houses from $3.62 per capita of the population last year to $2.50 this year. In other words McKinley has relieved the foreigners of paying taxes to us to the amount of $1.00 for each man, woman and child in this country. There seems something wrong about this. Why this tender solicitude for the foreign payer? If he is going to pay our taxes the more he pays the merrier.

The origin of "windfall" in the sense of "good luck" dates from the time of William the Conqueror. It was then a criminal offense to cut timber in the forests. Only such could be gathered as the wind had blown down; hence a heavy wind storm was hailed with delight by the peasants as so much good luck, and from this comes the modern application of the expression.

NEW YORK'S NEXT GOVERNOR.

Roswell P. Flower, the democratic candidate for governor of New York, was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth or nursed in the lap of luxury, as many suppose. His father was a clothier in a small town in northern New York, and Roswell began life for himself, as a clerk, at the age of 14. While thus engaged he studied out of business hours enough to graduate from the high school. After working a while in a brickyard and at other manual labor, he became a clerk in the Watertown postoffice at the age of 18. Six years later he learned the trade of a jeweler, which he worked at some years with good success. In 1863, when he was 32 years old, a rich brother-in-law, Henry Keep, died, and left his estate, worth $4,000,000, in Flower's care. To better administer upon this great property he removed to New York, where he became very successful in business for himself.

In 1876, when Mr. Tilden was elected president, Flower was chairman of the state central committee. In 1881, when Levi P. Morton resigned his seat in congress to accept the position of minister to France, Flower was elected to fill the vacancy, and has been returned since. He came quite near being nominated for governor in 1882, when Cleveland was nominated, and again in 1885, when Hill was chosen. He was then nominated for lieutenant-governor, but declined, and Jones was put on the ticket by the committee.

The bureau of engraving and printing is turning out a large quantity of the Window $2 certificates, which are to be put in circulation on the first of October, to take the place of the counterfeited Hancock certificate; which will be retired as fast as they come into possession of the government.

The Dardanelles incident has called fresh attention to the danger to the peace of Europe given by Russo-Turkish relations. The historian, Edward A. Freeman, who is perhaps the best informed student of the Eastern Question in the world, is preparing an article for the Forum on the Peace of Europe, in which he will set forth the delicate relations of all the European governments to one another regarding this danger point.

Senator Bailey of Pendleton is favorably spoken of as a candidate for congress on the democratic ticket in the second district at the election next June. His legislative training and the attention he paid to his constituency, to say nothing of the reputation he made for honesty and efficiency while at Salem during the last session, will make him more than a strong candidate. The district is so hopelessly republican, however, and so thoroughly dominated by Portland jobbery and influence, that there is small prospect of an honest man getting into congress from that quarter.

The N. Y. Mail and Express prints this special from Washington: "James G. Blaine will soon after the first of the new year notify his friends and admirers, who are now urging his nomination for the presidency, that under no circumstances could he accept such an honor, and that he is for the re-nomination of Harrison. This information is given on the authority of a man whose name is national, and whose position, as to Harrison and Blaine, is unquestioned. He is a man who has charge of the northwest for the president, and has the fullest confidence of both interested parties. This situation has been known to the president for some time. Blaine postpones the notification for good and sufficient reasons, best known to himself."

McClellan's popularity with his soldiers is said to have been due to incidents like this: When the Army of the Potomac left Harrison's Landing, its march was along the north bank of the James river to Newport News. One evening a creek was reached and in the effort to cross its muddy current, single file, over the log that lay across, much delay and confusion were caused. "Wade right through, men!" a voice called out in the dusk, and more than one disheartened "wag" answered back, "That's all right for us. Why don't you wade through yourself?" No sooner had the officer heard this reproach than he leaped from his horse and did set the example of wading. And when he climbed up the bank, wet and dripping, a mighty cheer went up for "Little Mac."

There is one marked difference between the office hunters of the present time and those of March, 1889. Then the brass band style was the prevailing one. Every fellow that could get himself before the public by means of newspaper interviews did so, many of them to their everlasting regret. Now every one of them is on a "still hunt." You would never know from the hotel registers anything of this sudden influx of the blood polluted, for the very good reason that those of them who have not stopped at the private residences of personal friends have taken special pains to keep their names from the public registers of the hotels at which they are domiciled, and have besides requested the clerks, and even the waiters in some instances, under no circumstances to let any horrid newspaper men know that they were in the house. But the newspaper men knew it all the same, as they usually do everything of any importance that is going on.
