NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC TICKET.
 FOR PRESIDENT, GROVER CLEVELAND, of New York.
 FOR VICE PRESIDENT, ADLAI E. STEVENSON, of Illinois.
 For Presidential Electors, W. M. COLTON, of Jackson, Ohio, E. NOLAN, of Clatsop, Robt. A. MILLER, of Jackson, W. F. BUTCHER, of Baker.

Tom Reed said at Syracuse, in defending the McKinley Chinese wall: "I am in favor of erecting a barrier to keep our resources to ourselves." What a beautiful policy this would be to our farmers, who depend upon a foreign market for the sale of $800,000,000 of their products.
 "Republican protection is a fault" because it protects only the manufacturer by enabling him to get higher prices for goods, which prices the people who labor for wages have to pay without getting any increase of their wages. The employment of more men at the same or at lower wages to make more high priced goods does not benefit those who were employed before.

Now as to President Cleveland's record in behalf of the soldiers. They charge that he has vetoed a good many pension bills. So he has. I have read his vetoes. I am a soldier. I love my soldiers. Had I been president and a congress had passed such bills for my soldiers, I should have vetoed them, too. They were mostly all frauds and shams, and I had no frauds under me. Any right-minded man, sworn to discharge his duty, would have signed those vetoes as President Cleveland did.—From a speech by Gen. Sibley, in Utica.

SMACKS OF JOBBERY
 Monkey work within the democratic party of Oregon will not pay. The withdrawal of R. A. Miller from the electoral ticket leaves the ticket in a peculiar condition. Democrats of Oregon have been voting for principle and have suffered defeat and they will still continue to vote for principle and thousands of them will vote for the three remaining democratic electors and will not vote for the populist who like a black sheep has been cast in among them. Work of this nature does not create enthusiasm and it smacks of jobbery, one of the things in politics not approved by the democratic party. The withdrawal of the other three candidates has been attempted but thanks to the common sense and the loyalty of the electors themselves, this has not been done up to date. Should it be done, thousands of democrats in the state will not vote on the day of election. It is modern politics but there is no principle in this method of managing the campaign. Had the democratic party in the state been asked about the matter there would now be four democratic electors upon the ticket.

THE FOREIGNER AND OUR TAXES
 The very latest effort of the tin-plate liar goes all the way back to 1879 for some evidence that will make a show of proving that the foreigner pays the tax. The advance in price from 1879 to 1880 is cited as an example of the wickedness of Welsh manufacturers in forcing up quotations when they "had our market at their mercy," and the fact is calmly ignored that during the same time there was an advance in iron—the principal material used in making tin-plate—from $18 to $42 a ton.

The progress of prices is shown by taking the averages for four successive periods of six months each. It must be remembered that up to the end of June, 1890, it was not generally believed that even the Reed congress would have the audacity to provoke its party's overthrow by presenting such a capital object-lesson as the tin-plate duty has proved to be. During the last half of 1890 the agitation in congress and the final passage of the law had set on foot an active speculation for an advance, and the market had been fully established at the new level by the first of January, inasmuch as nobody would be foolish enough to part with any tin-plate for less than it would later be worth only six months later—i. e., for the old price with the increase of duty added. Bearing these facts in mind, we find just how the thing worked from the following table:
 Six months ended Dec. 31, 1889... $4.47
 Six months ended Dec. 31, 1890... 3.97
 Six months ended Dec. 31, 1891... 3.32
 Six months ended Dec. 31, 1892... 3.35
 Whole year 1891... 4.35

The last item shows where prices stood before the Reed congress had begun its mischievous work at all. If in addition to these increases the foreigner is paying the tax, tin-plate is higher than it was in the days of its infancy, while if the foreigner is refunding the tax he is receiving only about $2.35 for his tin-plate.

No American tin-plate "lean-to" can compete with the generous Welshman on these terms, while the Welshman himself will soon be going through bankruptcy. If the McKinley act has forced down the price of goods in this way to the American, it is hostile to American interest, for the more tax the foreigner pays the less price the American importer or consumer pays. Here is tin for example. When it was worth $4.35 a box the tax was one cent a pound, and that being refunded by the foreigner, the American paid about $3.15 for his plate, whereas when the present tax of 2.2-10-cents is deducted from the $5.35 the American importer pays only $2.35.

To illustrate this point more effectively let us suppose that the clothiers of this country imported $500,000 worth of ready-made clothing in 1889 and the same amount in 1891. The tariff tax in 1889 was about 60 per cent.; in 1891 it was 86 per cent. If the foreigner paid the tax he refunded $300,000 in 1889 and $430,000 in 1891; so that when the tax was 60 per cent, the American importer got $500,000 worth of clothes for $200,000, and when it was 86 per cent, he got them for $70,000. Consequently the higher the tax the less the protection to American industries.

In short, the man who believes the "foreigner-pays-the-tax" argument, is mentally incomplete, or, sadder still, an intellectual wreck.

John Brisben Walker, proprietor and editor of the Cosmopolitan Magazine, has just sold to the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company, for $2,500,000, a piece of land in Denver, Colo., for which he paid about 10 years ago only $1500. This is probably the most wonderful rise in real estate values that has ever occurred in this or any other country. When Mr. Walker bought the territory, it was a detached piece of land in front of the city, with a river channel between it and the land laid out in streets. Mr. Walker built a causeway to connect his purchase with the mainland, which cost him something, but not very much. The company was compelled to purchase this tract. It could not get along without it. Other real estate investments in and about Denver have netted Mr. Walker about $500,000 or more, so that his total wealth is now reckoned at $3,000,000. This is a good amount of wealth to be of Boston and Birmingham, which have about the same population (Boston 448,000 in 1891), will admit that Birmingham enjoys every result of municipal enterprise, and to at least as good an extent as Boston. Many persons are inclined to state the case much more strongly in favor of Birmingham, which also confessedly possesses many developments of local activity not yet approached by the sister city. It will be interesting to compare the expenditure, not merely as a matter of curiosity, but especially because the value and usefulness of municipal government must always largely depend on the economy with which it can be administered. Birmingham's government costs per year $2,610,000; and Boston's government costs $12,570,000. Is it possible to give any reasonable explanation of this discrepancy, which may well suggest misgivings to the minds of the American tax-payers and which goes far to account for the deficiencies in the services rendered by municipal government of which they complain? Joseph Chamberlain, in the November Forum.

ANY ONE WHO KNOWS THE TWO CITIES

BEFORE THE ISSUE OF ANOTHER PAPER
 our readers will have voted their sentiments, and a president of this great republic will have been elected. It is a great and glorious country and will progress with either of the great political parties in control. What is now wanted is a more even distribution of the burdens of taxation, and this is the end and aim of the democratic party. The republican party has made it unequal. Vote for the democratic candidates and bring labor and capital to an equilibrium.

SEVENTY-FIVE CONVICTIONS—A THIRTY-NINE EXPERIENCE
 There is no one but at some period in his life has an experience that stands out prominently beyond all others. Such is the case of John B. Collins, of Romeo, Mich., who says: "From September to January, before being arrested, I had at least seventy-five convictions. After three months' use I have no attack." Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine also cures nervous prostration, headache, poor memory, dizziness, sleeplessness, neuralgia, etc., and builds up the body. Mrs. J. R. Miller, of Valparaiso, Ind., and R. Taylor, of Logansport, Ind., each gained 20 pounds of flesh by taking it. Sold by Rogers Brothers, on a guarantee. Get the Doctor's book free.

WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS.
 Giving a Car Seat to a Woman—A Disappearing Fashion.
 It used to look very queer to a person from the west when he entered a street car or a coach on the elevated roads in New York and found women standing hanging to a strap, while all about them men occupied seats, with their noses buried in newspapers. It seemed unparliamentary rudeness at first. Then, by and by, if they remained in New York, these same men who were first shocked gradually acquired all the gall of the native New Yorker and kept their seats with the best or worst of them. New York men have good reasons in explanation of their conduct. They say truly enough that if they gave up a seat to every woman who comes into a car in New York they would be soon left with no room for their own bodies and down all the time, and that this would be impossible in the crowds that fill the public conveyances of the big city. Then there is another plea. They say, these New York men, that since women are pushing her way into all the industries and going down town every day, let her take her chances and hustle the same as the men do. If she can't hustle, she'll get equal to a man. If she can't hustle, she'll get equal to a man. If she can't hustle, she'll get equal to a man. If she can't hustle, she'll get equal to a man.

PREJUDICES CLEARING AWAY.
 Two classes of citizens over whom the republican party has heretofore assumed a kind of proprietorship, are breaking their bonds. These are the veteran soldiers and the colored men.
 The soldiers are discovering that Cleveland is not and never was their enemy and that the outcry raised against him by the pension agents was unjust and malicious. The record of his administration is clean and honorable and accordant with every reasonable demand of all soldiers who do not make merchandise of their patriotic sentiment. Judge Rae expresses the feeling of thousands of his comrades when he says:
 Furthermore, I do not like a party that uses the old soldiers as the republican party uses them. Because it votes them pensions it assumes that it has the right to own them body and soul, and orders them to support anything that bears the name republican. Thirty years ago I came out in the dark days of this land and fought for my convictions, and I shall see to it that nobody denies me the right to express my convictions now.

Intelligent colored citizens, too, are proclaiming the truth that their race was as well treated during President Cleveland's term as by any republican president, and as fairly considered in appointments to public service. The fears they may have had beforehand, and which republican politicians selfishly instilled, were discovered to be groundless.
 Such is the testimony of John Brown, bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal church, who believes that every real interest of the colored race will be better served by the election of Cleveland than by the election of Harrison.
