Strawberries are still selling for twenty cents per gallon. This fact should induce eastern people to live in this country. Money can be made in growing them at this price, too, another fact that should induce them.

Geo. Snyder, who has been in this city for some time past, has concluded that he wants to see the home of his childhood and accordingly will start west the latter part of this week. It is 22 years since Mr. Snyder arrived on this coast.

In old times it seemed to be thought that a medicine must be nauseating to be effective. Now all this is changed. Bayer's Sarsaparilla, one of the most powerful alternatives, is agreeable to most palates, the flavor being by no means medicinal.

Peter Thomas is in the city, having lately returned from a trip through Idaho. He is travelling for the Mitchell, Lewis, Staver Co., and remarks that times are bad and crops no good in Idaho and as a consequence farm machinery is not being sold.

The large electric light poles for carrying the large wire across Cozine creek, have arrived from the mill. They contain nearly 500 feet of lumber. The work of putting up the wire will commence immediately. With a twenty-light iron machine McMinnville would have the most complete plant in the state.

Harvest commenced last Saturday. On the farm of Jerome A. Derby, west of this city, work was begun in a piece of barley. The machine used was a Deering, with the telescope platform. The grain was heavy, and notwithstanding the fears of some farmers, the platform proved to be abundantly substantial and worked well. Knapp, Burnett & Co., who sold the machine, are no better pleased with its work than is Mr. Derby, who says he would advise his friends to buy a Deering with a telescope platform. This is the first practical test given this improvement in this county, and its success speaks well for the machine.

The editor of the Salem Independent has made a visit to the jute mill at Walla Walla. He went through there to gather statistics and is of the opinion that the project in this state will not be remunerative, and that it is a "big steal."

The officers of the I. O. O. F. lodge at Dayton, lately elected, are: E. Mabee, N. G.; O. N. Harris, V. G.; W. H. Harris, Tress. This lodge is one of the oldest in the state, having incorporated its 25th anniversary on June 17th.

Company B of this city participated in the sham battle at Portland on Tuesday, the 4th. Twenty-two of the members were in line and they all enjoyed the fight, which was conducted on thorough military lines. There was not a casualty, not even a powder burn.

The shooters of this city who attended the matches in Portland on the 4th are much disgusted with the management. The price of birds was five cents per shot and it was impossible to pay expenses by winning first money, the prizes being divided into five or six prizes.

A soft fair skin is the result of pure blood and a healthy liver. To secure which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the Superior Medicine. Ladies who rely upon cosmetics to beautify their complexions should make a note of this, bearing in mind that they cannot improve upon nature.

McMinnville was deserted Tuesday. Our people distributed themselves all over the county; some of them went to Sheridan, some to Forest Grove, some to Chehalis and some to Portland. Looking at their sunburned noses we should judge that they enjoyed the day.

Dayton is attempting to get the S. P. Company to run their track through the town. The company is now engaged in widening the track to a standard gauge and if dollars are the things desired by the company they should tap Dayton as it is one of the best towns in the county. With a railroad it will make it a good record.

Uncle Dan Melman was arrested and tried last week on the charge of allowing a horse to run at large in the streets of the city. He was convicted and fined one dollar, making the total expense to him $18.50. The Oregon Pacific is in the hands of the right people. An excursion was given to San Francisco for the benefit of valley merchants but a short time ago that resulted in a whole lot of pleasure and profit to those who went. An excursion of wholesale business men of San Francisco will soon leave for Oregon, and another excursion of Oregon merchants will start on August 14th.

The Cosmopolitan, one of the best magazines published, has reduced its price to 12 cents a number, $1.50 per year. The magazine is most timely in its articles; in this respect being superior to any magazine published. It does not attempt to impress you with the great literary ability of its editor by choosing meaningless and abstract articles, but every article that it prints is interesting and instructive.

Oregon's Fruit at the Fair.

A gentleman from Chicago says that the interest centered in the California fruit exhibits not at all from the glory of Washington, Oregon and Idaho. Attention directed to the Pacific coast is a good thing for every section. Everyone admires the magnificent display of California at the exposition, but not all would be suited to the country which produces only the products that the Bear state here exhibits. Oranges, lemons and pineapples do please the palate, but they will not answer all the demands of the stomach. From the proportion of products exhibited by California, the visitor to the fair would feel that to live in the Sunset state would be to subsist only on their luxuries. Although California has produced nearly $1,000,000 to advertise herself at the World's fair she has not a representative display. Oregon with only $50,000, has made a more varied and representative showing of products than her southern sister has done with 20 times that amount.

Will Certainly Build.

R. E. Mulcahy, superintendent of the Oregon Pacific railroad, will receive New York on the 8th, and Receiver Haidley will go a few days later. Mr. Haidley expects to arrange, while there, for the placing of receiver's certificates enough to complete the road over the Cascades to the Deschutes river. It is thought a million dollars will do this, thus tapping nearly half of Oregon in territory—an empire within itself—new without a railroad. This would be a grand thing for the road, for southeastern Oregon and for the Willamette valley.

Branch lines through the valley on both sides of the river tapping Portland on the east side and Astoria on the west side would make this one of the grandest railroad properties in the world.

DIED.

McKINLEY.—In Sheridan on Wednesday, June 28, 1893, James McKinley, of pneumonia, aged 66 years.

Mr. McKinley was a pioneer of 1847, returning soon after reaching the state, he again made the journey here in 1849, since which time he has permanently resided in Polk and Yamhill counties.

PATTY.—At his residence a few miles from this city, on Monday, July 5, 1893, Rev. R. W. Patty, of general debility, aged 84 years.

Mr. Patty was an old pioneer of this county and is the father of T. S. Patty, of this city. The funeral was held yesterday from the residence of the deceased.

The Shooters.

The sportsmen of this city who attended the shoot at Salem came home feeling good. Ed Long walked off with the championship medal, having broken the largest percentage of birds shot at. W. E. Martin won a Victor bicycle and Am Shadden was loaded down with beans and ham and pork. Noah Robinson won the medal in the shoot for shooters who had not broken 60 per cent of their birds. The Yamhill county delegation walked off with more than their share of the prizes, but not more than they deserve.

Born.

CHANDLER.—In this city, July 3, 1893, to the wife of A. C. Chandler, a son.

The celebration at Sheridan was a great success. The weather was just right; the afternoon sea breeze was delightfully cool and invigorating. A procession of Old Fellows, Workmen and citizens marched to the grove, where the speeches were made. The addresses of Rev. Abbott and Whitmore were very pleasing to the members of the orders they represented, but those who are not identified with either order naturally thought a genuine, eagle screaming fourth of July oration would have been more fitting for the occasion. However no fault was found.

Mrs. Cox of Newberg, spoke on temperance in the afternoon. The music by the Sheridan band and glee club was up to the average. Various amusements occupied the afternoon, making the celebration altogether a very enjoyable affair.

Cure for Colds, Fevers and General Debility. Small Bile Beans. 25c. per bottle.

L. G. Hazard, of New York city, is a holder of Oregon Pacific bonds in the amount of more than $1,000,000, and has hitherto maintained a neutral position in the faction fight between the Blair-Wharton and Hogg factions. His representative, in the person of J. Hughes, of New York, arrived in this city last week, says the Corvallis Times, and starts on the return trip today. He has spent the interim in making a critical examination of the properties of the road. He states that he finds the road in much better condition than he expected to find it, and it is believed that his report to his superior will strengthen the position of the Blair faction.

The bicyclists of the city report the new track at the college in fine condition. It is now time for some of our athletic young men to do a fast mile, if they can't ride themselves of laziness, which we much doubt. There are less amateur athletes who will compete for competition's sake, in this city than there are in any city in the state. Money must be hung up before one of them will start.

THE OLD MAN IS FREE.

Wm. Scott Once More Will Greet His Children.

The Salem Statesman of yesterday had the following to say about William Scott, of this county, who was pardoned by the governor Monday last: "William Scott yesterday morning left the Oregon penitentiary a free man. He was fastened within those walls on the 9th day of July, 1890, under sentence of ten years for manslaughter, having been convicted of the crime in Yamhill county. Governor Penoyer signed the pardon Monday afternoon, at a quarter to 11 o'clock yesterday morning the old man was free.

About 5 o'clock Monday evening Assistant Warden Jos. Cavanaugh went into the chapel and called for Mr. Scott and another prisoner who had also been pardoned, for the purpose of taking their measures for new suits of citizen's clothes. Mr. Cavanaugh asked them what they would like for a fourth of July dinner in the way of something different from the usual prison bill of fare. 'Old man Scott,' as he is best known, spoke up and said that he did not care for anything different excepting that he would like to be permitted to eat in the open air. Mr. Cavanaugh further interrogated him as to how he would like to partake of a dinner outside the prison gates. The old man replied to look no more pleased—one reason was that the assistant warden held some papers in his hand. He did not answer readily. Finally he was told that he could have the privilege of eating his Fourth of July dinner outside and away from the prison and many more meals if he so desired. At this he understood what was meant and he stood perfectly dumb for some minutes. Shortly he recovered his power of speech and then said that he probably was his last night in the penitentiary. Mr. Cavanaugh being present noticed that during the whole of his conversation he never flattered but told his story in a straightforward manner, appearing as though he was entirely innocent of the horrible crime for which he was convicted and has already passed nearly three years within the walls of a penitentiary.

A reporter called at the penitentiary shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday and as he stepped into Superintendent Downing's office, this official and his clerk were making out the final papers for the discharge of Mr. Scott, who was in the room at the time. Mr. Scott was dressed in a new suit of dark gray and wore a new woolen shirt and necktie. He knew that his destination was the farm home of his son, C. G. Scott, near Carlton, Yamhill county, and he could not rest easy till he got there.

An Oregon Grizzly.

The grizzly bear is nearly a thing of the past in Oregon, but occasionally one is heard from. The Tidings of Ashland tells the following: "George Farlow, who was in town last week from the ranch of Farlow Bros. on upper Butte creek; tells of some fun the ranchers in that neighborhood have been having with bears this spring and summer. A big grizzly whose tracks in the snow measured at least twelve inches in diameter has been living on fresh beef while waiting for the berries to ripen. He has killed at least five head of cattle in that neighborhood—three of them three year olds and one a big cow with a bell on her.

THE BURLINGTON IS COMING.

The Great Big Road is Surely Headed for Oregon.

An eastern Oregon paper says: "The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy surveyors have crossed over the Idaho state line and are now making surveys and photographing the topography of the country along the different proposed routes of the line from Boise to Portland."

Geo. P. Litchfield of Salem, whose term of office as special Indian agent for the United States government expired a few days ago, received a document from Washington yesterday informing him that his efforts in securing a right of way over the Crow Indian reservation for the Burlington had been approved.

This was Mr. Litchfield's last official act, and one of his most important, he thinks, for Oregon's interests. This right of way will allow the Burlington to build from Sheridan, Wyoming, to Billings, Montana, through the Crow reservation, after securing the right of way from individual Indians; Mr. Litchfield's work being on the community land of the reservation). Mr. Litchfield thinks this is the turning point of the road for Oregon. He saw several gangs of surveyors. Some of them had worked for the Oregon Pacific and it was their impression that the road might join the Oregon Pacific somewhere. Anywhere they are on Oregon, and they will probably not be long in getting here after the financial situation eases up, for the Burlington is one of the greatest corporations in the world.

The writer would not be surprised to see Burlington trains running into Salem before the end of 1894.

They now end nowhere, up in a Montana desert, and they must get to the deep water of the Pacific in order to make their far western, open profitable, and they will likely take in all the big towns of Oregon. The Burlington is not a road to be tied up to a stump by stopping in one place.—Salem Statesman.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, you have a rumbling sound and imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Cases of this kind are cured by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous lining.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Eastern Oregon.

Since June 30th, warmer weather has prevailed. The frosts of the 15, 19, 20 and 21 of June did considerable damage to potatoes and other tender vegetation east and south of the Blue mountains. On the 23 light rains fell in the eastern and northwestern counties, but it was not heavy enough to be of that benefit which is desired. The winds have been fresh in force and variable in direction, though considerable northerly winds.

Rain is badly needed for the cereal crops, especially for that sown in spring plowed land. Only in unusually favorable years does the cereal crop yield any good crop when it is sowed in spring plowed land. The summer fallow and fall sown grain is most promising, and will not be injured by the absence of rain; but it would be materially benefited by rain. The present outlook indicates only a fair wheat crop in Wasco, Gilliam and Morrow counties; in all the counties, however, the late spring sown grain will not make half a crop and much of it most likely be cut for hay unless a good heavy rain should occur soon. The fruit prospects are good in Union county and in the Snake river country. They are fair in the other sections. Haying is generally in progress, and good yields are reported. Apparently the climatic conditions have been favorable to the cereal crop, yet many of the correspondents report crops not the average.

The warmer weather is causing the snow to melt more rapidly; but the earlier portions has already been melted so that there is no longer danger of floods.

CHOP-WEATHER BULLETIN.

For the Week Ending Monday, July 3, 1893.—U. S. Signal Service.

The week opened cool and cloudy; but from Thursday, June 29, the weather has been warm, and sunshine has prevailed. The nights yet remain cool. The temperature has risen from 3 to 5 degrees for the week. No rain has fallen during the week, save an occasional sprinkle on the 23d inst.

The warmth and sunshine have been of great benefit to vegetation of all kinds; while a good warm rain of twenty hours would be very beneficial, yet where the soil was properly cultivated no added moisture is especially necessary. Haying is in progress, hence for it warm sunshine is needed. The cool nights retard growth and development of much of the vegetation. Early sown oats are very fine; late sown oats are not so good, and in a few sections wire worms are working.

Plums are growing quite rapidly, save the late planted new yards, and they too promise a good average crop. The locs have appeared, under the influence of the warm weather, and spraying is actively engaged in. With proper care the hop crop will be enormous this year, for climatic conditions have so far been very favorable to it. Due to the cool nights corn has very slow growth; but it has a healthy appearance and bids fair to be a good crop. Apples continue to drop from the trees. Apples, peaches, cherries and pears will be a short crop, possibly on the whole not more than three-fourths of a crop. Cherries are rapidly ripening and the markets are well supplied. The crop is better in Douglas, Josephine and Jackson counties than in the other counties. Prunes and plums continue to promise large crops. Strawberries are unusually plentiful. Raspberries are ripening. The wheat crop is more on edge for Oregon, and they will probably not be long in getting here after the financial situation eases up, for the Burlington is one of the greatest corporations in the world.

The writer would not be surprised to see Burlington trains running into Salem before the end of 1894.
