The Hawaiian question is again gaining in prominence and the course of the administration can hardly be considered the proper course for a republic to pursue. The administration has recognized the provisional government of the islands and has accredited a minister to it. The sealing of a queen upon a throne smacks too much of a preference for a monarchical form of government, and while it might be just, it is better to let the Hawaiian people take care of themselves. As the queen has been dethroned by her own subjects, let her stay dethroned until she can gain the throne by her own efforts and the support of a majority of her people. Let this government protect its citizens on the islands, but let the Hawaiians fight it out. If the queen is placed in control, she will be deposed as sure as fate unless this government guarantees her seat. The upshot of the whole matter will be, if the present plan of the administration is carried out, a new and strong British naval station in the Pacific ocean.

Another question enters the Hawaiian matter. Suppose this government should demand of the provisional government of the Hawaiian islands, its retirement from the field and allow the queen to be seated; is it not a declaration of war against the provisional government? The United States has recognized that government and it does not matter whether a battle is fought or the present Hawaiian government retires peacefully under our direction, the restoration of the queen to her throne will be in effect a declaration of war. It will also be a declaration against a republican form of government, and while thousands of Cleveland's supporters can stand almost anything coming from him, this sentiment expressed in such a pronounced manner, will leave him in the trenches alone with no one but his office holders and the seekers of office to support him. Our proper position in the Hawaiian matter is "Hands off, let them fight it out." If England mixes in the matter, let us, for once, flaunt our power in her face and tell her in a manner that all governments can understand that the United States is a thorough believer in the Monroe doctrine and that when "Hands Off," is said, hands off is meant, even if it costs us a war.

The only policy of the democratic administration should be a change in the tariff. The people have delegated this power to their representatives, and unless their wishes are respected they will delegate some other body to do it. Too many irons in the fire does not pay and the democratic party as represented in congress must attend strictly to the duty it is there to perform.

YAMHILL AGAINST THE WORLD.

Yamhill Walks off with Three Worlds Fair Medals in Competition with the World.

Wm. Galloway received Tuesday a communication from the department of agriculture, Worlds fair, that the flour exhibited by Kratz & Kieruan, of this city—McMinnville, Oregon, if you please, not Washington—had received an award on their flour. The flour shipped to Chicago was taken from a pile of several hundred barrels stored in the mill and represents but the average product, no extra effort being made to make it better than the usual run. There is also a rumor to the effect that the large baking powder and yeast powder concerns winning the premiums on their goods used McMinnville flour in their tests. With the premium for the best wheat and the best oats, the best green and dried fruits, Yamhill county should not begrudge her share of the $25,000 expended by the Oregon commission in placing the products of the state before the world in proper shape. The complete awards will be published as soon as accurate returns can be obtained from Chicago. Mr. Cleland, the head miller of the McMinnville mills, no doubt feels proud of the honor that has been conferred upon his product. Larger concerns would give thousands of dollars for the honor.

TEACHERS' MEETING.

The Local Institute of the Teachers of this County was interesting.

The teachers local institute of Yamhill county met pursuant to call of the president at the Cook school in McMinnville, on Saturday October 28th. The meeting was called to order by the president, J. Blough, who was elected secretary for the ensuing year.

Prof. A. N. Lowe, G. A. Prentiss and Mrs. M. C. Matthieu were appointed a committee on program. The regular work of the institute was then taken up by Prof. Baker, who introduced the subject of the natural sciences in the public schools. He presented his subject in a very interesting and instructive manner, accompanying his remarks with illustrations of the laws of motion and the properties of matter. The afternoon exercises opened with singing. The committee on program then reported the following for the next meeting: Psychology, J. Blough; U. S. history, A. N. Lowe; phonics, G. A. Prentiss; arithmetic, C. A. Deach; geography, S. S. Duncan; penmanship, Jas. Allen; discipline, Mrs. M. C. Matthieu; primary drill, Miss M. Coener. "What is the best method of teaching language to primary pupils," and "How shall we teach numbers in the primary grades?" were discussed in a very interesting manner by nearly all present. Fourteen teachers were in attendance. The next meeting will be held at Dayton, Saturday, November 25, 1893. J. B. STEWELL.
