Some miscreants seem bent on destroying the town of Frisco, in southern Utah, and did succeed in burning a portion of it, recently. The villains are known and lynching is threatened.

A dispatch from San Francisco says the amount of freight going north has very perceptibly increased during the past ten days, and in consequence steamers on both the Portland and the Sound routes have been taxed to their utmost capacity.

Rev. Ben T. Jenkins Jr., Sunday morning killed Rev. J. Lane Borden, president of the Mansfield college. Rev. Borden had seduced a young lady friend of Jenkins. Jenkins used a revolver, and fired five or six shots. One of the shots took effect in Borden's leg, one in the heart, shattering a watch, and one in the forehead, just between the eyes. He lived about two hours, but never spoke. The greatest excitement prevails, but Jenkins has the sympathy of the community. Jenkins and his brother, C. E. Jenkins, who was present, surrendered to the sheriff.

A terrible calamity, involving the death of 186 children, occurred in Sunderland, county Durham, England Saturday evening. From details received it appears that an entertainment given in Victoria Hall by a conjuror, attended almost altogether by children, several thousand being in attendance. The accident occurred at the end of the performance, the body of the hall being cleared entirely of its occupants, when some 1200 of the little ones came rushing down stairs from the gallery. At the top of the first flight of stairs was a door which opened only twenty inches, and thus but one child at a time could get through. At this point while the mass of children were pushing forward, one of them fell, and was unable to rise owing to the others crowding. The result was a great number was pushed down, trampled on and suffocated. The scene was terrible. No effort could stop the mad rush of the affrighted children. They came on pell mell, though strangely without much shouting, and soon 186 were knocked down and suffocated to death by the others trampling on them.

Miss Jennie Carson went to Montana about a year ago and established a sheep ranch near Oka, at the expense of $10,000 cash. She has managed her business herself, and her sheep and ranch are said to be worth $7,600 more than they cost her. She is known as "the Montana shepherdess."

A terrible accident occurred at Silverton, on Thursday last, when one of the fine twins of J. M. Brown, shot and mortally wounded the other. The mother was attending the tour named at Salem at the time of the shooting occurrence. A treacherous old fowling piece lying carelessly within reach of the little ones caused the frightful mischief. The wounded child has since died.
