DAYTON.

August 13, 1883.
A Lefever returned from southern Oregon yesterday.
Nash Robinson and party returned from Willow Springs last Tuesday.
Mrs. Henry Shank, who has been very low with Typhoid fever, is much better; Dr. Odell reports her out of danger.
Mr. C. P. Roberts, Phrenologist, was in town last week.
Mr. Warner Breyman and wife, of Salem, passed through town yesterday.
Dr. Mills left for Portland yesterday, to meet his wife, who has been visiting her parents at Yreka, Cal., for the past two months.
Our young friend Ed Crane, who has been in the employ of the D. F. M. Co. for the past year, has resigned his position with that company and will make Portland his home in the future.
A party of about 100 excursionists from Champlin paid us a pleasant visit last Monday. They arrived at 12 o'clock on the steamer Isabel, and proceeded to enjoy themselves in the best manner possible until 4 o'clock when they left for home apparently well pleased with their trip.
Rev. J. T. Wolf will leave for conference, next Saturday.
The concert given by the W. C. T. U. at the M. E. church last Friday night was well attended and was a very creditable affair. The exercises consisting of music, declamations, essays, impromptu speeches etc., were good, particularly the duet by the Misses Wolfe, and the solo by Miss Hammond which were the gems of the evening.
LLOYD.

LAFAYETTE.

August 14, 1883.
Hon. W. D. Fenton and family, who took a trip to Bunch grass, have returned looking well and much refreshed.
Dr. H. R. Littlefield left for California to attend the Conclave of Knight Templars at San Francisco. He expects to be gone two or three weeks.
Al Fletcher, T. B. Nelson and several others have been out on a hunting and prospecting tour. They returned looking decidedly thin, very hungry, and "nary color" of gold, silver or lead.
Four wagons, loaded with fencing from Sampson's mill, passed through town on their way to the Martin place. There was between eight and ten thousand feet, post and boards, on the four wagons. Mrs. Martin intends to fence off the R. R. track.
Saturday morning, between one and two o'clock, J. J. Hembree hitched up a team to the Sheriff out to Carlton. Now, Joe was willing and the Sheriff was willing, but the horses evidently thought the hour unreasonable and the demand unreasonable, so they concluded not to go at all. Then Colard said they must go, and Joe said they must go, but they didn't go much in that direction. The noise brought everybody out of bed, the men in their drawers and the ladies in their full dresses, to see Joe and the Sheriff and the horses he it out. Up and down, over and under they went with an occasional glimpse of the back, or what was left of it, until the horses got back to the stable when everything became quiet once more. Mr. Colard went to Carlton in another buggy. Charley Nelson says that if he had been there that team and hack would have gone through, you bet. And I guess they would.
The typographical union was in town yesterday, as drunk as the union with a bottle of whisky could make it and so rich it didn't care a cent for the Call, Bulletin, or any other on-horse paper. It flourished around very plenty for a while, and with a grand flourish of its arm effected such a union between its fellow and Tom Bryant's nose as made the road tortuous to flow and Tom rather hostile. The last scene of the typographical union he was counting time to McMinnville, with fifteen minutes to leave town in. He hailed from Portland.
The yield of wheat is so much better than looked for that farmers are picking up courage a little, and think with a fair price, they will be able to pull through.
Threshing commenced very generally, early last week, but owing to the smoky atmosphere, it was found that the straw was yet too tough to thresh; so nearly all had to quit for a while. On opening shocks in the field, the bundles were found to be as green as when cut, and the grain itself quite soft, after standing two, and some three weeks. A good shower of rain is needed now, to put out the fires and clear the atmosphere, so the hot sun can put the grain in a condition to thresh.
I hear tales, that much of the hay put up in barns is sweating and heating, although it was allowed to cure the usual length of time and appeared in proper condition when put away.
Mrs. Gerald and her sister, Miss Van Slyke, of Portland, are visiting with James Olds' family. They are very fresh air, which can be had here in plenty.
The first load of wheat passed through town this morning.

SHERIDAN.

August 13, 1883.
Smoke and dust as disagreeable as ever.
Times are looking up a little.
J. M. Townsend has moved into his new house.
Wm. R. Eads, who went to the Sound country, last spring, has come home on a visit, and will remain a week or so.
C. Lafollett had twenty acres of oats threshed that yielded forty-six bushels to the acre.
We are informed that Jonathan Stoffer had sixty acres of wheat that turned out thirty bushels to the acre. This is the best crop yet threshed in this section.
Dr. D. W. Cox has his crop threshed and everything under shelter.

Several of the boys had the "stomach ache" last week, and had to quit work. Green fruit corn and such, will generally fetch on.

The warehouse on the mill is 40x50 feet and the sides reach eight or ten feet high. The water is turned into the race.

Most every one who has had threshing done, has stacked their straw. Good idea.

Is there no way to prevent the town authorities from playing croquet in the town of Sheridan on Sunday?

H. B. Sommersville a few days ago got out of his dog cart, and went into his warehouse without hitching his horse, and he (the horse) started without his driver and came across the bridge at a tearing rate, and in undertaking to turn the corner at Mayer's corner came all levels up upon the sidewalk, but soon righted himself and away he went again through one street and then another, until he finally smashed things to flinders and surrendered without injuring himself.

The officers installed by Sheridan Lodge I. O. G. T. No. 118, on last Wednesday evening are as follows: W. Potter, C. T.; Augusta Klohter, W. V. T.; J. E. Richter, W. S.; George James, W. F. S.; Albee Churchman, W. F.; Harry Bogue, W. M.; Alice James, W. C.; Celia James, W. I. G.; J. W. James, W. O. G.; Chas. Whittier, P. W. C. T.

The Sabbath School at the Christian Church meets each Sabbath at 10 o'clock. Mr. Porter is superintendent. The school at the M. E. Church meets at 2 o'clock—superintendent J. W. Chapman, assistant Edith Lafollett. Both schools are largely attended and successful.

The Open Temperance meeting last night at the chappel was largely attended and speeches were made by Prof. Van Sooy, Capt. Lafollett and Paris McCain. The string band and Glee Club furnished the best of music and the order and decorum was all that the most exacting could ask for. The temperance sentiment is gaining ground here and society is much better than it was a few years ago.

S. DAK.

NEWBERG.

Aug. 13, 1883.
Smoky, Smoky, Smoky.
Harvesting is in full blast.

There has been considerable threshing done about here, the past two weeks by a few machines, but they all expect to make a start this week.

Misses Ida Moore and Lizzie Wolfe, of Dayton, were down here on a visit last Thursday.

Judge Townsend and daughter, of Lafayette, were down here yesterday.

Mr. Hawkins and son, who are living down on the Columbia, were up to make their old home a visit, last week.

Miss Maranda Hadley was over from the Grove yesterday, on a visit.

One young gentleman says he is going to leave Oregon if the fashions don't change soon; he thinks the old fashioned dress and hoops on a girl makes her look like the d--l, or something else. We are sorry the poor fellow is about to be scared out of Oregon, and perhaps out of the world simply because the girls are wearing dresses like mother did some twenty or thirty years ago.

Jelina Wiley, of McMinnville, was down yesterday on a short visit.

There were quite a number out at the Educational meeting yesterday. There were speeches by Dr. Jessup, Judge Townsend, Wm. Hobson and others. There was a subscription of $1000 taken for the purpose of building a college at this place. That is a pretty good start, and we think there is a fair prospect of our having a college all ready for business in 12 or 14 months.

Quite a number from this place expect to take a trip to the top of Mt. Hood, as soon as the smoke clears away.

Revs. Jesse and Mary Edwards held divine services yesterday forenoon at Middleton, and in the afternoon at Tualatin.

Miss Lizzie Woodward returned home yesterday from her trip to Harrisburg; she reports having a pleasant time.

One old bachelor at this place, says if he was going to marry he would just as soon be blind folded and put in a room full of ladies, and take the first one he comes across as any other way. I wonder who would marry if they wanted to marry as bad as he pretends to.

There are seven tens hauling R. R. ties between this place and Middleton to Dundee; that don't look very favorable for having a R. R. very soon.

Married, Aug. 12th, 1883 at the residence of the brides parents, Mr. Nelson Brooks, of W. T., to Miss Rose Olds, of Middleton, Washington county Oregon. We wish the young people a long and happy life.

A Parody on Amity.

I remember quite well when our patches were new;
What a small place was Amity; its people how few.
When the city was made of three houses or more,
And the Amity Hotel had its back door before.
When the post office was kept just over the way
In a tea chest, which Breyman had emptied one day.
And the store in town was just like a big back
Untied by some peddler, and thrown off his back.
But now what a change, how mighty, how grand!
The city with people, the people with sand.
We have churches and schools, town halls and fights;
Boys on their muscle, and two legal lights.
We have Rollins & Hale—a first class Co.—
With Lanesfield & Son, a few doors below;
And Buntin, who wishes all parties to know
That he's here for to sell, and not for to show.
There is Simpson with watches that will make you stare,
And Buntin, with stores and all kind of tin ware.
With Hubels & Likens who work where 'ti hot,
And one or two places where boys play for the pot.
There is Putman & Watt who deal in leather and hides,
And Porter & Jellison who have horses to ride;
And Booth, too, with a neat butcher shop,
And Anderson, who paints buggies tiptop.
There is Getchel & Cook, who deal out the planks,
With Buntin busy on tin water-tanks,
And Newby at the mill, grinding up wheat,
While Toles is fixing up boots for the feet.
While buggies are making at McCarter & Crown's mill,
Sanders, Goucher and Taylor are mending their pills.

And Alderman and Cook sell wagons for notes,
Which makes all the farmers trot in with their oats.
There is Edwards with Getchel, and Wandless gentled,
And Lager beer Bob, with billiards and deas,
Also, James Johnson, who never says cue,
When a fellow is busted and asks for a shave,
There is Springer & Christian, who have money to let,
And interest take when you have money to get.
With a safe in the corner chock full of gold,
And a number of town lots that haven't been sold.
There is Woodson, the waltzer, and Simmons, the street,
And Amasa, who sings tenor, with awful big feet.
There's Johnny, whose book-mark is the king or the jock,
And the girl who on Henry has lately gone back.
Now look at the city, no man will deny
That the boom just coming will make her quite fly.
With railroads and farmers and money plenty to go,
Get away from the window, let Lenard sing through.
We have churches and schools, and houses and shops,
And girls on the marry and boys on the pop,
And improvements in hotels, we saw it the other day,
Nave filled a straw tick just over the way,
I trust when I am older to marry, you know,
And not be an old bach and mix sour dough,
But I hope to be lucky—the pard of a wife,
And engage in the business of nursery life.
So here is to the glee club, and Lyceum too,
How we all laugh when they come out in review.
With Allen and Springer and Sanders on the bass,
When they open their mouth there is naught left of their face.
I have spoken all the words that my lecture embraced,
I have put all the quads and points in their place,
And if these verses you find to be true,
Please excuse me and I'll bid you adieu.
