LAFAYETTE.

Sept. 10th, 1883.
Ranh Harris, who has been of knocking about for the good of his health, returned from East of the Mountains, last week, looking as fresh and hearty as a young man.
J. T. Hombree and family left for their new home in East Portland, on Wednesday.
Some little of the very late grain is still uncut; the continued smoke, with the late fogs and light showers has retarded the ripening.
It rained here during the afternoon of the 6th, since which time the smoke has disappeared nearly altogether, while clouds and an occasional drizzle has taken its place.
There is a two story frame building going up in the rear of John Hulery's saloon—the lower story to be used as a wood-shed, the upper part, nobody knows what.
T. O. Hutchinson, engaged to teach the next term of school, has arrived and fixed himself up for his time.
Al Snyder, of the REPORTER, was in town Friday, and made things quite lively all around here for a while. Come again, Al.
Snizzlekin says that "our boys are not dudes at home, but think they're duds when they go to Portland."
White winter wheat is now considered the best for fall sowing, because that was the only kind that stood the frost of last winter. Those who were fortunate enough to have that variety in last fall, were saved the extra expense and trouble of re-sowing, and had good crops. It is advertised for sale by several, at $1 to $1.50 per bushel.
Quite a number go to Portland, to-day, to view the last spike celebration, and to feast their eyes with a sight of all the great nabobs that Mr. Villard invited to see us in our wild western home.
Beautiful and grand as this world is, it has its drawbacks—drawbacks in the shape of plagues, pests, cranks, fends, etc. But the worst plague, the meanest pest, the crankiest crank and most hellish fiend of the lot, is the whittling fiend. You can always know him at sight by the knife in his hand, and nothing escapes it. Have you a new fence, nicely painted and finished? He stops to admire it, and as he saunters along or stops to admire, his knife is busy: a chip out of this picket, a notch out of that rail, a job at the gate-post, and so on till your fence looks as if it might have been a breast-work in a rifle engagement or artillery fight. Does he stop to talk to you at your door? in goes the knife and out comes a chip from the post or panel, which he lays along his thumb and whittles to a point. You invite him into your house and give him your best chair to sit on; he is no sooner seated than his eyes wander after something to whittle, but there is nothing within his reach. He begins to feel discouraged, when, Oh, glory! he sees a little of the seat of his chair between his legs; there is no hesitation no thought of the injury to be done; in goes the knife, first with a cut to the right, then with the left thumb pressed against the blade to assist, another out from the left, and out comes a chip; and again he cuts, and again, until you are forced to remind him that he is disfiguring the chair, when, most likely, he will look up in blank astonishment and remark that "it don't hurt it much." Wherever you go you will find marks of this indefatigable hell cat. Fences, porches, pews, chairs, tables, desks, trees—everything, without regard to time, place or ownership, falls a prey to this most aggravating and contemptible of all pests, the whittling fiend. Down with him.
Nax.

DAYTON.

Sept. 10, 1883.
School begins to-day.
L. Michael, Esq., was in town last week.
S. W. Crane, of Portland, was in town last week.
Jake Mann, Esq., of Tacoma, W. T., visited friends here last week.
Mark Peery, of Albany, is visiting relatives near this place.
Messrs. Townsend and Kelly, of Lafayette were in town last Wednesday.
Miss Violet Vaughn, of Clamberg, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Eberhard, near this place.
J. J. Shipley, of your place, is here running Capt. Powell's warehouse.
Mrs. Dr. Ball who has been very low with typhoid fever for the past two weeks, is improving slowly.
Anne Holdredge, who has been in Eastern Oregon for the last two years, returned home one day last week.
Col. Chris Taylor, while in San Francisco, purchased a fine Jersey cow. She is a beauty.
A. L. Saylor, our enterprising druggist, left for Portland this morning.
A light shower last Friday and several since that time—just laid—smoke cleared away—and everybody feeling better.
Coll Mann, who has been spending this summer at this place, left for Vancouver last week where he will attend school the coming winter.
Several of our towns-people will attend the "Villard" celebration at Portland.
Henry Austin has sold his property in this place to Mrs. G. W. DeFord. Price, $350.
G. E. Detmering has made some valuable improvements in his store. The room in the corner of the building has been removed, and the shelving extended the entire length of the building. The appearance of the store is very much improved by the change.
LLOYD.

NORTH YAMHILL.

Sept. 10, 1883.
Mr. Fred Hammerschmidt has gone to Salem to attend school.
Mrs. Lee Laughlin left for Astoria last week on a visit.
There will be a grand ball at Laughlin's hall, Sept. 28th. A good time is expected.
Deputy Sheriff Harris was in town last week attending to "biz."
Wm. Mesner's house is nearly completed. He is putting up a house that will improve that corner very much.
Major Moore has bought a lot of Hon Lee Laughlin and is hauling lumber for a new house, to be occupied by his mother.
Sampson & Perkins are putting up on the lot of F. Housworth a big lumber shed.—Then anybody wanting dressed lumber, will know where to find it.
Uncle John Perkins is having a large fine house built which is nearly completed.
Messrs. George Robinson and A. Shuck, of McMinnville, were in town last week visiting their old friends and relatives. George has just returned from a trip east of the mountains, and reports it dryer in the Upper Country than in the valley.
Wm. Lewis has moved into a part of Mrs. Higgins' house, and Monte Stewart will occupy the house to be vacated.
Prof. Freund was in town last week visiting his friends and former pupils.
Mrs. H. C. Morgan has been quite poorly the past week or two.
Mr. Thomas Buckingham has been very sick the past week with quincy, but we hear he is better, now.
We saw Mr. Quiek, of Tillamook, last week. He has not been out before for some time.
Ed and Johnny Griffin, of the Dalles, are down visiting relatives and friends.
James Harford had the misfortune to lose a valuable horse, which choked himself to death with a rope halter. Jim says a good headstall will be found on his horses hereafter.
Benny McConnell leaves to-day for Portland, to attend school.
A little boy of Chas. Salfsky fell or was pushed from a wood pile and was severely hurt in his side.
We were blessed last week with a couple of good showers of rain which done a great deal of good, though some of the farmers are not through with their late sown grain—it is to be hoped that there will be fair weather or enough in which to save all the grain.
There was found in the streets of North Yamhill, a fine, costly gold finger ring which the owner cut recover by calling on G. W. Scrimgeour, proving property and paying charges.
Loren & Wirtz, the tinners and hardware boys from the Grove, are moving their stock into their new building at this place, and will soon be straightened out and ready for business.
Miss Basket, of McCoy, is the guest of Mrs. A. H. Roberts.

SHERIDAN.

Sept. 10 1883
Oregon mist.
Good-bye, smoke and dust.
Go and hear the new preacher.
It rained a light shower Saturday.
Capt. Lafollett sawed his thumb only half off.
If possible, every boy and girl ought to start to school next Monday.
Prof. J. F. Hill has been engaged to teach the Sheridan Academy and will commence on Sept. 17th, 1883. He taught at Dayton for two years and comes highly recommended.
The Italian queen bees sent out from Ill. to Mr. Bogue, are a grand success.
Joe Stewart gave bonds in the sum of one thousand dollars to appear at the circuit court. He was prosecuted by W. L. Bradshaw and defended by Capt. Lafollett.
We desire to call the attention of the town authorities and the citizens of Sheridan to the necessity of building new and repairing old sidewalks before the rainy season commences. Now is the time, men.
Gus Anderson closed his saloon and went into the harvest field, till it rained. But "poor Gus" has returned to the saloon again.
McDonald, who was stumbling in the affray with Joe Stewart, is improving rapidly and is considered entirely out of danger.
The railroad company has built a switch so as to run cars to the ware-houses of Scroggin & Bewley, which is a great convenience.
The machinery of the engine at the Sheridan ware house gave out last week causing considerable trouble and annoyance, but Mr. Jones drove his engine down and hitched on to the belt and everything is all right again.
Capt. Lafollett has not sold his stock farm yet. He offers it very cheap and on terms to suit purchaser.
We are informed that Arthur Branson, son of E. T. Branson, will start in a week or so to Morrison, Tennessee, to live. Mr. R. is going to clerk in a store or bank; he will be back in about a year, I guess.

It commenced raining Thursday, about noon and continued in gentle showers until dark. If our memory serves us right, it rained here on the 16th of May and no more until the 6th of September. This is the longest drouth we have ever known in Oregon.

On Tuesday a little scrimmage occurred between two very quiet citizens in our streets. One of them commenced striking and claving at the eyes of the other, when he showed him off and armed himself with a powerful and deadly weapon in the shape of a piece of plank over a foot long, three inches wide and half an inch thick, when the bystanders interfered and separated them. The conservators of the peace made no arrests. These are dog days; that's what's the matter.

It is claimed by the threshing crew composed of some of our best citizens, who were present at the row between Stewart and McDonald, and the men of the neighborhood, that we did them injustice in our last batch of items wherein we intimate that a great crime had been committed and no one would arrest the criminal. It is claimed that McDonald and the whole neighborhood are of the opinion that no crime had been committed and consequently no one would arrest a warrant, and we must say, after hearing the evidence, that we believe they were right. Mr. Stewart had no trouble whatever in securing bonds. The complaint was made by parties in Sheridan, and a good deal of hard feeling is caused thereby. As the whole matter will go before the Grand Jury, we will not comment on the evidence.

THE HIGHLANDS.

All the threshing done before the rain.
A singing school is being talked up here.
H. B. S., of Sheridan, frequently calls in our neighborhood to buy chickens, eggs, &c. and—we won't tell the rest.
Our land buyer, Mr. White, that we mentioned last week, has gone from our vision like he came—no one knoweth whither. No one grieves for the rations of bread, bacon and tobacco dealt out to him for two or three weeks; but he borrowed Pollard's breeches and still had them on when he walked away from the neighborhood. Bud followed and overtook him near Grand Ronde, but failed to get the breeches, even after using up the whole vocabulary of cuss words.

Will C. King lectured at this place last Wednesday night to a good house. His lecture was well liked. He is working in a good cause and we hope his lectures will be a benefit to all who hear them.

TRAVELER.

NEWBERG.
Sept. 10, 1883.
Everything looks as smiling as you please, this morning, as much as to say, we are glad old Webfoot has made its appearance again.

The little shower yesterday and last night laid the dust and cleared away the smoke and has left every body looking bright and refreshed.

A large crowd from this place and Dundee have gone to Portland to attend the grand celebration.

Almost everyone about here who has a holiday is done picking and all report a pretty fair crop.

Miss Sophia Mark, of your place, was down visiting relatives and friends between here and Middleton, last week.

Miss Carrie Deskin is down home on a short visit.

Mr. Hawkins, from down on the Columbia, was up last week to thresh on his farm near here.

Stuart Vaughn and family, residing near Middleton, are visiting Mrs. Stuart's father (Chas. Mark) at your city.

There was a large gathering yesterday at the camp meeting ground near Tualatin. Rev. Frank Ashcroft was the principal speaker. The meeting will continue over next Sunday.

Mrs. E. S. Craven is quite poorly at present; Miss Ada Newman is stopping with the family.

Fredric Sedel and James Newman of this place and Dr. Syle of Middleton, visited Lafayette last week.

Dr. Jessup, David Wood and Alphonso Blair, with their families, expect to start for Iowa the last of this month, for a visit.

Mr. Overman and wife, who have been visiting here this summer, intend to return home to Indiana shortly.

Mr. Sneller and family are keeping house for Fredric Seidel.

"Chng Ee & Co." is talking of going to India, his old home. You can all guess what for.

On Saturday evening the 22nd of Sept., the I. O. G. T. of this place will give a festival, the proceeds of which are to go to the Orphan Home. Every lady in attendance is expected to bring a basket containing supper enough for two, and these baskets are to be auctioned off to the highest bidder. There will be a paper read, edited by Misses May Robertson, Maggie Inglis and Lou Holton, and speeches by various members of the Order. All are cordially invited.

There are spots still visible on the sun.
