Rev. W. D. Nichols, who has been stationed at Lincoln, Polk county, the past year, was removed to Corvallis at the last session of the M. E. conference. Mr. Nichols takes a business-like view of matters as may be seen by the following, which we received from him: "I am of necessity compelled to stop THE REPORTER as times are hard, and we of the ministry are made to realize this as early and fully as the printers. You will therefore please stop it. I regret to part with it, as it is a newspaper, in fact as well as in name. But necessity knows no law except its own." Ministers cannot pay out money only as they receive it; and an editor cannot publish a paper and send it out for others to read except he is paid for it."
