

YAMHILL REPORTER.

A. V. R. STUBBS, PROPRIETOR. MOUNTAIN VIEW, OREGON.

A HAUNTED ROOM.

Well, I know a haunted chamber, where the tapestry is hanging in tatters on the dusty walls, and trails upon the floor. Where dusky shadows glide and dance, the midnight hours chiding, where moonbeams are like spirit forms, that wait around the door.

AUNT HANNAH.

"There's something I want you to tell me, aunt," said Eliza Herbert, a girl of fourteen, and she drew a stool close to her aunt's feet, and leaned her head in her lap, so that the whole cloud of nut-brown curls fell over her black silk apron.

she made up her mind to sacrifice her own happiness for the sake of this dear sister. It was very hard for poor Kate, but she had more confidence in her own strength, both moral and physical, than she had in Isabel's; she felt that she would be able to rise from the blow, and ultimately to have the power of being tranquil and happy.

THE THRILLS OF VICTORY.

A Veteran Horseman Recalls his First Race-Beating the Winner. "I was just thirteen years old the day I first put up money on a horse race," said a portly man, with a conspicuous brown beard streaked with gray, as he flicked a fly from the side of the horse he was driving along the road.

PERSONS AND THINGS.

The Marquis de Lorne has had 25 live muskrats shipped from Montreal to Scotland. The late New Haven manufacturer after whom the Yale lock is named left an estate of $8,000,000.

THE EVILS OF BILL-POSTING.

"I pay my bill-poster more than any leading man; he is a more important feature in the success of my show, and I am willing to bet that my play is billed equal to Barnum's circus." These words I quote literally from a so-called actor, who was gleaming in diamonds yesterday on Union Square.
