DAYTON.
Nov. 27, 1883.

Stormy.
Light fall of snow last Saturday night.
On account of a drift in the river, the steamer Orient was unable to reach this place last Monday.
Our warehouses are busily engaged in moving the wheat etc. from the lower floor of their warehouses, as there is great danger of the river rising over them.
Al Cook paid the metropolis a flying visit last week.
George Steele, a former resident of this place, but now of Forest Grove, is here on business.
Mrs. F. A. Hill is visiting friends in Portland.
Thanksgiving services will be held in the M. E. Church at this place next Thursday evening.
A. M. Peery has purchased the property of T. A. Turner, in this place.
A. A. Crane, who has filled the position of manager of the flouring mills here for the past two years, has resigned. Mr. Shepherd succeeds him.
Wm. Barnell, of Portland, was here on business connected with his flouring mills, last week.
Mrs. G. B. Abdell has been very ill for some time past, but is improving at present.
George Dorsey, who went east with the pioneers, returned one day last week, and expresses himself as well pleased with his trip.
Dr. Mills, under the skillful treatment of Drs. Littlefield & Calbreath, is slowly improving. At one time his life was despaired of but his physicians now express hopes of his recovery.
The oyster supper given by the I O G T was well attended. The receipts were $19.
A. M. Peery and R. L. Harris have purchased the stock of drugs lately owned by F. A. Hill and are busily engaged in putting in counters, shelving, etc., preparatory to enlarging stock. Mr. Peery will go to Portland in a few days, and will purchase one of the finest stocks of drugs etc., ever brought to this place. G. E. Johnson, a first class druggist, has been engaged to assist them, while Mr. Harris retains his position with A. J. Smith. Success to them.

LAFAYETTE.
Nov. 27, 1883.

Up to last Saturday the chance for getting in the seed was very good and an immense area was prepared and seeded. Everybody was busy at the plow, not leaving it except when absolutely necessary to go to the blacksmith shop, or some other such reason. So, all things being favorable, we may look for a largely increased crop next harvest.
There are signs that our farmers are breaking away from the one idea of wheat, and think that there may be money in something else. In fact, some of them begin to think, or find, that almost anything else will pay better than the wheat crop. I notice a good deal for hay seed, clover seed and grass seeds, while many are enquiring for the best kind of pasture grasses, both for making beef and butter, and others talk of peas, artichokes and other kinds of feed for minkling good pork. So far, of course, this is little more than talk; but talk always precedes action, as you know, and it is to be hoped that in this case the talk indicates speedy action.
Last Wednesday Taylor Morris lost his fine stallion. The animal caught cold and it settled on his lungs and kidneys, causing to poor brute a great deal of intense suffering for two or three days. He was a fine animal, four years old, seventeen hands high and valued at four or five hundred dollars.
Horse racing is the principal occupation of the Yamhill sport, now, and whenever you see a knot of men, there you may feel sure they are talking horse. Nearly every Saturday there is a horse race, with an occasional scrub foot-race between times.
Last Saturday morning the first snow of the season was visible on the coast range; a very little fell here through the day, but melted as fast as it fell. Sunday morning, however, the ground and house-tops were covered to the depth of 1 1/2 inches with a white mantle, but before night that was all gone. The first ice of the season, here, formed on Friday night.
Saturday brought back our old pioneer citizens, George Nelson and wife, who went back with the pioneer excursion, and were said to be the oldest couple on the train. They enjoyed the trip hugely and get back looking hearty and younger than when they left.
Hon. C. H. Burch and Hy Burch were in town last week.
School Supt. L. H. Baker was visible in these parts one day last week.
J. E. Hembree is up from Portland, on business.
Mrs. Delle Klosterman goes back to Portland, to-morrow.
Two boys, I will not publish their names this time, got into Mr. Millican's house and took some apples and canned fruit. The next day the sheriff went to arrest them and found only one; the other, scenting danger, had run away. The one arrested was placed in his father's care until the time of trial, but took the first chance to seek safety in flight. One of the boys is said to have some money with him, and as they are probably together, they will keep away while it lasts. Parents who never know where their children are from breakfast to bed time, may look for just such a result.

SHERIDAN.
Nov. 26, 1883.

James F. Bewley has placed some carp in a large spring on his home farm.
Geo. W. Walters, who went to the Sound country last spring, has returned to Sheridan to winter.
A S Bible has about 140 head of stock cattle.
Four or five teams were engaged part of last week in hauling oak lumber from Willamina to this place for shipment to Portland. The road is very muddy between here and Willamina.
The Altman Bros. and their mother are moving into the McMillen house.
Grass is good for the time of year and stock is in fine condition for the commencement of winter.
Montgomery Syron has been very sick with pneumonia but is now convalescent.
Teams were engaged last week in hauling hauled hay from Willamina here for shipment to Portland.
Mrs. Lydia Messinger will start east in a short time for a visit.
We had gentle showers every day last week which raised the river 5 or 6 feet.
The revival meeting continued all last week without any visible effect on the hardened sinners of Sheridan. It will be continued through this week, however, and it is hoped with better results. Rev. Mr. Matthews is coming to assist Rev. J. McIntire.
The snow, the beautiful snow covers the hills and mountains and a light fall covered the ground here yesterday morning but disappeared before noon.
Two men from Portland, whose names we did not learn are opening a grocery store in the T. J. Diekey building. It may be they have enterprise enough to advertise and tell the public what they have to sell. We shall see.
A man near town has taken a four-tined fork and is turning over the soil around his fruit trees—not immediately around the body of the tree but a few inches from it. He believes in winter cultivation and is opposed to plowing and summer following the orchard. Everyone should see to it that his orchard is thoroughly drained.
Frederick Hatzler is a benefactor to this community. He travels around the country in a cart drawn by a yoke of oxen and plants out orchards and berry patches for those who will pay him a small consideration, and what Fred don't know about his business isn't worth knowing, as his fine berry patch on his own place, near Grand Ronde, will demonstrate. He went to McMinnville last week to fix up the yard and garden of J. F. Bewley.

S.; W. E. McKune, W. L. H. S.; Alice James, W. V. T.; G. W. James, W. S.; Harvey Bogme, W. A. S.; J. E. Richter, W. P. S.; Celra James, W. T.; W. Tatum, W. M.; John James, W. D. M.; Noma Hyde, W. I. G.; J. W. James, W. O. G.; Edith Lafollett, W. C.; Walter Potter, P. W. C. T.; H. Z. Foster, L. D.

Wheat is worth to-day, 92 cents, clear.
Everything went very cheaply, at Tom Fryer's sale.
John McCullough's wife has been very sick, but is better.
Eber Lewis is trapping for a mink.
Henry Fenton and family, of Polk county, are visiting his brother, J. D. Fenton.
Jack Archibald's wife, of Glenbrook Farm, is quite poorly. She has been confined to her bed for some time.
Abe Blackburn has sown 175 acres of wheat this fall. Mr. Hanna has sown about 200 acres.
Who has lost a turkey? There's a stray one in town.
A little child of Nelson Olds was badly burned several days ago.
It seems pretty hard when a stranger traveling through the country and his horses get away from him that he can't borrow or hire a horse in this town to look after them. But then we never expect to be away from home or lose our horses.

The Gospel temperance meeting, despite the inclemency of the weather, was well attended. The addresses by Rev. A. J. Hunsaker and Mr. J. E. Magers, were both interesting and profitable. We are truly favored in having so many of our resident ministers, and reliable business men, come out so boldly on the side of temperance. We hope others, who are still undecided, will profit by their example, and take their place among the temperance workers. This hastening the time when no respectable man will be found in the anti-temperance ranks. While the work of destruction goes steadily on in our midst, and men are being degraded beyond description, and in many cases hurled into drunkards graves; while this destructive band is reaching even to the youth, totally unfitting them to meet the responsibilities that will soon devolve on them as American men and women. Is it not time that the christian men of our community were thoroughly awake to the importance of the temperance question. We cannot believe that American government is a failure, that it is impossible to protect ourselves against so great an evil as the liquor traffic. No, we believe the trouble lies in the fact that the temperance men have not given this subject due consideration, or if they have allowed themselves to be lulled to sleep with the subtle reasoning of the friends of the license system.
The Gospel Temperance meetings, given by the W. C. T. U. are to awaken a deeper interest on this subject, and to enlist the sympathies of both men and women in the great temperance reform that is slowly but surely sweeping over our land. We realize that thought must precede action; we wage no special warfare against saloon keepers, (though their business is loathsome to all lovers of peace and order.) Our work must begin further back and higher up than this, even with the intellectual, reasoning, power of the moral and christian people of our land, who can make and enforce prohibitory laws, believing that this great thinking power once set in motion, our goal will be well nigh reached. Hence, dear friends you may expect to hear from the W. C. T. U. very often, we do not design simply to entertain you for an evening, nor to amuse you in the least, but we do ask you to listen to the truths as they are uttered by the respected and beloved citizens of our own town, and perhaps occasionally by a stranger, begging that you will honestly consider their import, and that your actions may be governed by the truth of the argument produced.

L. C. H.
The W. C. T. U. meets next Friday Nov. 30, at 2:30 P. M., at the residence of Mrs. L. Root. These meetings are enjoyable and profitable. We cordially invite ladies who are not members, to meet with us and become acquainted with our method of work.
