McMINNVILLE, OREGON, JAN. 10, 1884.

FALLEN VILLARD.

For months past Wall street has been the theater of fierce war of interests and Villard has been attacked or defended as parties were interested, says the Northwest News. It seems that he has not been insensible to aspersion and has taken the "things" of misfortune seriously to heart. Indications now show a universal sympathy for him in his hour of failure. Transcontinental has been the ruin of many a paper fortune. It is interesting to note how changes of the market have affected many who thought they were rich and safe in the possession of their riches. What could Solomon have had in his mind when he said: "Riches take to themselves wings and fly away!" is it possible that among the items of his time there was a stock exchange? How else could he have pictured the uncertainty of wealth as he did? How else could he have uttered that oracular expression, "There is nothing new under the sun?" The times have changed somewhat, but the ages bring down to us the convict on that there has been a great deal of similarity between man's history in different epochs.

The world sympathizes with Mr. Villard as it becomes apparentthat he used all his personal wealth, and sank it too, in the effort to sustain the Northern Pacific stocks. It touches the common heart to know that a man dipped into his own pocket to save his friends, that he sank amillion and beggared himself, rather than let those who had small means lose, by following his judgment. As for people here, we have hard times as a consequence of these troubles, but Villard has done so much for this region, that we feel sympathy with his troubles and losses. The world does not show an instance, in all the history of speculation and finance, where genuine enterprise has resulted in such unmixed disaster. The Law schemes of old were merely fictions. this South Sea scheme was a mere bubble, and burst, as it had to, and spread ruin, but this stock collapse we now witness, is not at all necessary, by which we mean that even if the schemes were a little premature, time would justify them, and not a very long time either. The bears made the most of their oppertunity, and they tore down the house when they only intended to shake out the tenants in possession.

Villard and his friends lately had in their hands $25,000,000, the greater part of which has been lost to them. Their stock was not only nominally worth that, but would sell for it. When they celebrated the opening of the road, and Mr. Villard did princely honors to his friends, it was not possible to imagine what has followed. The twenty-five millions these gentlemen held has literally melted, dissolved into air and they look around in wonderment and ask what has happened. In all their successes great railroad magnates have seldom held actual property, but have only held stocks and bonds. Mr. Villard held some recently, but most of his wealth was in paper that depended on the success of his enterprises. He came to Oregon ten years or so ago, and went afterwards to Kansas to look after railroad properties in which his German friends were interested. His success won their confidence. He took a fancy to Kansas Pacific stock, and placed his earnings in it. When he came here, four years ago, to buy out the Oregon Steam Navagation Company, he held a great deal of that stock that cost, as he told a prominant merchant here, from two to twenty cents on the dollar. When he left New York that stock was worth twenty cents, and when he got to Portland it had gone up to eighty cents. This, we are told, made him worth two millions, and, as he said to friend here, encouraged him to go on with his Oregon enterprises. What he has done we all know, though we cannot know what turns he made to enrich himself. He was supposed to be high up among the millionaires and concluded to indulge his taste for art and magnificense by building a palace in New York. This was a weakness, but human nature is weak; we can put up with it if it is not vicious. Coincidences are ordained of fate. The first blow fell as the excursion was celebrating the last spike. Those who watched the proceedings at the great pavilion in the Rocky mountains can remember that Mr. Villard was very nervous all the time. The last blow—the very collapse—came as the new house was opened for use. Fate writes out its diera, but never published them. We know what happens when it happens, and mothsaying is a dull art boiz out of fashion. He who, early in October, had predicted what we see today, would not have been safe even among his friends.

What ever the future may have in store for Henry Villard, his life has not been a failure. He has moved mountains and cast them into the sea. The world has felt the impetus his life has given it. It may not be that he caused the strange convulsions of nature at Alaska and Java, but he has done better, he has hurried the motions of the iron horse, and has hastened the development of a great region. For him mountains have moved their homes. Great ships ant the ocean, and trains move by land that would not if he had not impelled them. Lately we saw him, in princely form, assert himself as the master of uncounted millions, and it is pleasent to know that when he was most princely he claimed no prerogative above true manhood, and was accessible to all. Few men attained his eminence without incurring more enmity. The bears growled at him, because they could profit by his downfall, and now that he is down, men look at the romance of his great and rapid career, and wish him well thro' with the ordeal. Surely Solomon had Villard and his friends in mind when he wrote his version of the blind pools and said: "Riches take to themselves wings and fly away."

Dr. Lasker, an eminent German and one who accompanied the party of tourists to the coast, on the completion of the Northern Pacific, died in New York City, of heart disease, last Saturday.

Died, at the residence of his parents in Gopher valley, Dec. 27th, 1883, Thomas Aylward. Deceased seemed one of our "hale and hearty" young men and was always brimful of fun and, for his chances, possessed rather unusual intelligence. His illness was first noticed on Christmas morning, but just what it was has not been ascertained. His friends think he must have taken some poisonous drug that lurked in the convivial glass.

SUMMONS.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Yamhill County.

JOHN FOUCH
vs
THOMAS BARNEY, ANDREW GIBSON, HARRIETTE BARNES, MILFORD BARNES, MRS. MILFORD BARNES, JOE GIBSON, JAKE DEVIER, WILLIAM SEVER and T. L. JOHNS, Administrator of the estate of Mary Poteh, deceased, and THE OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY. } Suit in equity.

TO the above-named Defendants:

In the name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit, on or before the first day of the next regular term of this Court, to-wit: the fourth Monday in March A. D. 1884.

And if you fail to so appear and answer, as above required, for want thereof the Plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in his complaint, which is in substance that certain lands described in said complaint be decreed to belong to the Plaintiff, and that Defendants be required to convey the same to the Plaintiff, and such other and further relief as to the Court may seem equitable and just, and for costs and disbursements of this suit.

This Summons is published by order of Hon. Raleigh Stott, Judge of the Fourth Judicial District, made on the 17th day of December A. D. 1883, in the absence from the State of Hon. E. P. Boise, Judge of the Third Judicial District.

FACTS ARE FACTS AND SPEAK LOUDER THAN WORDS.

LOOK HERE!—Sit down and read this, and common sense will tell you that any merchant who advertizes with a spirit of malice,

Cannot be Trusted.

It is "nonsense and humbugging to blow and try to blind people about good goods." I claim to have as any other storekeeper, and not any better. They all come from the SAME FACTORIES, and every merchant has to keep different qualities of goods to suit his trade. For instance: if a man wishes to purchase a suit of clothes for $12 he doesn't want a suit of clothes for $35, and so vice versa.

AS GOOD GOODS

Why, it is Ridiculous to say

I keep good goods, and therefore can't sell them as

CHEAP AS MY NEIGHBORS

as every child that goes to school knows better than that.

ALL GOODS that I advertise in our Local Paper, the "Oregon Register', and "Dayton Free Press" are Always to be Found in Stock and not "just out of them." TOO THIN! Furthermore, I will say that I am buying my goods

Strictly for Cash, at Bedrock Figures, and Discount my Bills;

therefore, I can make a REASONABLE PROFIT and still sell goods for LESS MONEY than those storekeepers do that are buying on time and leave the wholesale houses and manufacturers wait from 12 to 24 months for their money. In the first place, they can't expect to buy as cheap as the man who buys FOR CASH, and in the second place the wholesale houses will

Charge Interet after four or six Months

whenever the account becomes due. I will add that I devote my Whole Attention to the Dry Goods and Clothing trade, and everything pertaining to it, and leave all other outside business alone.

These are all Facts that I am Willing to Prove.

I don't propose ro have my goods lie on the shelves for years. Whatever old goods remain over by the 1st of January will be thrown into THIRD STREET LAKE, instead of letting moths get a hold of them, as has been the case in other stores, here.

Remember that H. Fisher

keeps a

First-Class Dry Goods and Clothing House, and is receiving goods every day and has always a FINE ASSORTMENT OF GOODS in stock. Farmers of Yamhill County, I am prepared to do an Extensive Credit Business this year in my line, and all those that are responsible for the debts they contract will find it to their advantage to buy their DRY GOODS AND CLOTHING of H. FISHER, as you will SAVE from 25 to 40 per cent. in purchasing your goods.

MONEY SAVED IS MONEY MADE.

You will find every week my GOODS AND PRICES ADVERTISED.

Very Respectfully Yours,

HUGO FISHER.

What we Believe!

There is no question about it:

B. F. HARTMAN'S

Is the place to buy GOOD GOODS. No humbugging or blowing about best quality of goods of any kind for less than half what they can be made for. That is simply nonsense, and is only done to get you in their stores to find them "just out" of the goods advertised at less than half value, or to show you an article too worthless for any use, with the hope of selling you their goods at big prices. Talk is cheap, and so are all kinds of goods, and when you want to buy

Good, Durable Goods,

You cannot do better than to buy them of

B. F. HARTMAN.

Ladies will find all kinds of Latest style Cloaks, Dolmans, Ulsters and Wraps, Dress Goods, Silk Lace, Mull, Bobonett, Darn-Nit Ties, and everything pertaining to Ladies' Wardrobe.

All kinds of Dry Goods, and any and everything in Gents' Furnishing Goods.

Also, Groceries, Glass and Queensware, Hardware and is SOLE AGENT for

Star Mixed Paints,

the best on the coast.

Also, Farming Implements of all kinds, all for the lowest prices.

Also, remember 10 per cent. discount is given for cash.

Call and see him.
