

sui the

pa) 8:2

Wil

an-los

tel

ley, two

Mu

mu stat Yaz

ter. borb

fron Hai like

Aroni.

32

on P

Mor

How 284 ; Flets 115,

Dick

Ins: Fran

the " Bugle." Roseburg, Oregon, sold 78 coffins hospital in the spring.

of Olympia, W. T.

city engine house, at Seattle.

en a position on the East Oregonian.

roaming about the lower ranges of the Cascudes.

Gov. Newell has appointed his daughter territorial librarian and his son executive clerk.

mountains, in Baker county, Oregon, report the snowfall very great.

jail at Walla Walla still refuse to participate in a chain Gang.

lem, Or., Talk, are dying of a disease supposed to be lung fever, near Mehama.

ly of the average Melican railway conductor. One of them skipped out from Ashland, Oregon, loaded down with $500.

A young man named McDonald, employed is the Tumwater, W. T., sash and door factory, had his hand badly cut to pieces by a circular saw last week.

tree which had been left standing in the Episcopal church, at Seattle. caught fire and for a time the structure was greatly endangered.

For several days past the high tides have washed the caps of Olympia wharves, bringing the hurricane decks of common steamers far above the roofs of the warehouses.

The Baker City Reveille of the 3rd says: The dwelling house of J. Lowrey, situated near Wingville, Eastern Oregon, was borned together with all it contained, last Monday night.

sen in the Tacoma mill, resulted in the insanity of one of the employes, a Fin named Johnson, who was dis covered making an attempt to burn the mill on Wednesday last.

White river is now bank full, and in some places the country about is flooded, says the Seattle Post. In fact, the water is so high that the mail agent had to abandon his horse and travel by rail or steamer. No damage from the high water has so far been reported.

publican. Owenby is supposed to have belonged to the James gang, while the Nez Perce News caps the climax by describing him as " a good look ing man about 6 feet 10 inches high. Before long we may expect to hear

Kidd.

Mr. M. W. Willis is getting enthusiastic in the improvement of his country seat, near the beautiful lake in Washington territory, that bears his name. He will soon have an inexhaustible supply of German carp in the bright waters of his lake. For the present he has carefully screened them is a convenient cove, where they will remain until such time as they will be able to protect themselves from the larger fish.

from the Chinese on Fourth street. says the Olympia Transcrip. A not ice was served on them yesterday by Police Officer Brown that they must 'hang up the fiddle and the bow." It may appear barbarous and cruel on the part of our authorities to h nder the progress of the fine arts, but their nightly screechings did not come up to the standard of cultivated ears, and hence the order.

Olympia, will soon have the largest cranberry farm on this coast, For about two years these men have been diligently at work improving their marsh near Oyster bay, and stocking it with the best varieties of plants from the East. This industry is destined to figure largely in the conmerce of the Northwest, and the en terprising projectors above mention ed are deserving of all praise.

One night last week some scound rel put poison in the grain of Chas, Brazee, son-in law of Mr. Joseph Eaton, of Wasco, says the Dalles Sun which being fed to his horseskilled four--all that he had, and one that belonged to Mr. Eaton. It also kill ed two ealves and all his hens, about fifty in number. The neighbors held a meeting and investigated the matter, and came to the conclusion that the grain fed was poisoned. Mr. Summers, a veterinary surgeon. Mr. Cla k Dunlay, Mr. W. H. Bridge and others were present at the examination. We receive this information from Mr. Parrot, who lives at this place.