DAYTON.

Jan. 29, 1884.

Dayton claims the boss roller skater of the county.

We had a two-inch fall of snow last Thursday.

The Lafayette and Dayton bands have consolidated.

Messrs. Burnell and Larsen, of Portland, were here on business last week.

B. E. Harris, Esq., left for Tacoma, W. T., on business last Thursday.

A daughter was born to the wife of G. E. Detering last Wednesday night.

Mr. O. Hatfield, of Portland, is here visiting friends.

Miss Minnie Call is in Portland, visiting with her friends.

Sim McCaussey, Esq., of The Dalles, is visiting his parents near here.

Mr. Frank Hill, of Portland, is here on a visit to relatives and friends.

Carpenters are busily engaged repairing Mr. A. M. Peery's dwelling house.

The liquor license in this place has been reduced from $250 per year to $150 per year.

Work on the new church here is progressing rapidly.

The sad news of the death of Dr. Mills, in California, was received here last Sunday. No particulars.

The Lafayette band paid the band here a pleasant visit last Wednesday night, when it was decided to consolidate. Two members from here went to Lafayette for the purpose of practicing last night.

Dr. B. Frank, of Alameda, Cal., has located here for the purpose of practicing his profession.

At a regular meeting of the I. O. G. T. last Saturday night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Geo. Barnholtzer, W. C. T.; Frankie Powell, W. V. T.; E. G. Coffin, W. S.; Henry Bettratin, W. F. S.; Anna Cain, W. T.; L. C. Turner, W. M.; T. Fletcher, W. O. G.; Ed. Naucke, W. I. G.; Lillie Smith, W. C.

LLOYD.

LAFAYETTE.

Jan. 29, 1884.

Many farmers have felt very uneasy during the late cold snap, as they feared a repetition of last winter's disaster. Even the present favorable weather does not make them feel altogether safe. But if we can pass the first week in February without anything worse, the chances will then be all in our favor.

J. M. Sampson, youngest son of Sarah Sampson, near Lafayette, died last night, of scarlet fever.

James McCain went up the river the other day a ducking, and he got it. While pushing his boat through some drift he slipped and got a whole cold duck, all to himself, and he said "shoot the duck; take me in the boat, boys."

Dwight Holman was in town last week. Hon. C. H. Birch was yesterday. F. A. Cook of Amity, dropped in and so did Sam Coulter, of the same place.

John Hulery found the gun he lost in the Yamhill river, while on the annual hunt last month.

There is to be a Leap Year party on the 7th of February. Ladies choose, you know, and as all our young fellows will be invited, we will have a chance to find out whose huckleberry we are. But why have it on the 7th, and slight St. Valentine?

Money is very scarce, and many of last year's bills remain unpaid. The Portland papers attribute the stringency to the banks withdrawing their cash. But I think they are mistaken in this. True, the banks may refuse to loan, but on the other hand the farmers are unwilling to borrow, and country merchants are trying to tide them over the hardest part of the year, and perhaps when the banks have found that the farmers can do without them they will be sorry for their present action. I hear it frequently said by farmers who were in the habit of borrowing every year, that it would be a good thing, for now they would be forced to do what should have been done before: economize until they could do without borrowing.

The Lafayette and Dayton bands have consolidated, and make a good troop of musicians.

What can have come over the Judge? He told me in his last issue that it is free trade and not the thieving, plundering, robbing tariff that made west dear. Oh, Judge! Judge!! what a flop and how thin!

Perhaps if the temperance people could be made to understand that a man is a social animal, and that his nature compels him to seek his fellows, they might then, by following up the clue, find a better way to treat the evil of intemperance than by legislation. But they will not look at it in that way. Wrapped up in their own self-interest, with doors barred and hearts chilled, and dead by intense selfishness, they see and know nothing of human failing or the claims of humanity; see the only sign of which, by mere chance, they are true, and cry out against the evil their selfishness forces men into. And mark the cry: it always means the same. "My neighbor is a drunkard, but I am not; I am better than my neighbor;"—self-glorying hypocrisy, most of it.

THE HIGHLANDS.

Jan. 28, 1884.

The cold weather damaged the grain but little.

The ground is white with snow and still it's coming down.

Polard has quite a lot of nice oak fence posts split out.

Whaleas have completed a good fence around their fall grain.

We hear that Frisoe makes butter of the best quality and his hens beats anything around here. ("Widders" take notice.)

We'd tell you about Daddy Newell, but haven't seen him for a "coon's age." John, the second best man in the family, is rid of those—comforters and rejoices.

Berry has left us for the present, he says, but thinks when he makes another move it will be when the roads are good.

We can hardly resist dropping an idea on the temperance question once in a while. In fact we do not want to resist unless the editor thinks such mention is superfluous among local news items, but as the editor has not objected to such liberties heretofore we venture the following: Some claim that legislation in regard to the food or drink of the people is illegitimate and unjust. Now, any organization or society formed of members of the human family or of the brute creation, for the mutual benefit of its members is based upon the principle that each member is willing to sacrifice some liberty in return for the benefits received. We, as a government, acknowledge this principle and believe in a government for the people and by the people and if the people say the liquor shops, the butcher shops, the blacksmith shops or any thing else is an evil of such proportions as to poison society to its very center and to corrupt to a great extent every department of government, the people have not only a right but a duty to perform in ridding themselves of the nuisance. Have the voters of Yamhill county, republicans and democrats, the grit to say "none but temperance men shall represent us in the next legislature?"

We have not written "48 times" during the last year, but in our occasional letters we have endeavored to do justice to all and don't know that anybody claims that we did not, but if there are such persons—why bless their souls, we wish they'd found something smarter to do. Owing to our present attitude and attitude, we cannot write often but semi-once-in-a-while. We hope that one of our brother Highlanders will represent this, our common country, in the best county news paper in Oregon, viz, the Reporter; if not, we would thank cousin "Pat" of Sheridan, to take this section into his care. As only our front names differ, we think this is not asking too much.

HIG. H. LANDER.

NORTH YAMHILL.

Jan. 28, 1884.

Miss Ella Youm, of Bellevue, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Kate Dempsey.

Mrs. B. M. Morgan will spend the week at Carlton, visiting at the house of D. I. Pearce.

Rev. Clyde, the Presbyterian minister, has moved to this place and will preach every 4th Sunday, morning and evening.

Fred Hammersmith has returned home from Salem, where he has been attending school.

Mr. Johnson, of Chehalis, was in town one day last week.

The singing school, organized here by Prof. Hale, is in progress and meets every Monday evening.

An unknown man supposed to have been about 30 years old, was found dead near Loughlin's Gap, yesterday. Justice Caldwell of Carlton held an inquest, but nothing could be learned as to the name of native, residence or how he met his death. He was found by some school children, beside the railroad track.

Dr. Hammersmith cut his hand quite severely on Tuesday while whittling a stick.

He fainted and lay unconscious about an hour and a-half. On Wednesday he was able to go to his home in Moore's Valley, and we learn he is getting along as well as could be expected.

A Post of the Grand Army of the Republic was organized at this place last Saturday evening, Jan. 26th, by Adj. Gen. J. C. Cooper, assisted by several comrades from other posts. The new Post is known as G. R. Warren Post No. 51, Department of Oregon, and its officers are: P. C. J. P. Middleton; S. V. C. T. G. Stevenson; J. V. C. J. L. Laughlin; O. M. H. Leathman; Adj. E. Rogers; Chap. N. S. Allen; O. D. J. C. Clark; O. G. H. P. Webster; S. M. G. C. Belt; Q. M. S. W. M. Hall. The next meeting of the Post will be next Saturday at one o'clock. After the Post was duly organized they gave the Band an oyster supper, at the Royal hotel, and the town received another serenade, for which we say thank you boys: come again.

Onessa.

SHERIDAN.

Jan. 28, 1884.

Cloudy weather.

The main question: "How's your wheat?"

Farmers getting along finely with their plowing.

Severe colds are annoying the people of this section.

Grouse have commenced hooting. Look out for an early spring.

Open Temperance Meeting at the M. E. Church, on the 28th, at 7 o'clock p. m.

A little son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Graves died one day last week, aged about 3 years.

"Are you going to the mines in the spring?"

Look out for Sam with his dagger on the road.

Dance over at De Dougherty's on the 25th, which was enjoyable and money in Ike's pocket.

James Fendall and Lee Bogue, who went to the Sound, last fall, have returned to Sheridan for a month or two.

Walt Graves can make the best tea pot and quart cup. You must keep your word with that young lady, Walt.

A large number of young folks gave Miss Cora Bogue a surprise party on the 25th, and all went home well pleased with the affair.

The fire company have the old bell that belonged to the M. E. Church, and put it up between Gas Anderson's and the new store—Good boys.

Charles Whitmer has received his commission as postmaster of this place. Charles is our tireless and hard-worked man and is fair in his dealings.

Shooting match in town last Saturday. Eli won the day. Hurrah for the old man! Go home, Mill Creek, shoot away $7 worth of lead and come back again.

PAT LANDER.

NEWBERG.

Jan. 28, 1884.

It looks a little winterish out to day. Stock begin to search for the straw stack.

About two inches of snow fell in these parts last Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Olds passed through this place yesterday on their way home from a weeks visit in various parts of Yamhill.

Al. Moore has returned and gone to work on his farm, grubbing etc.

Grant Wiley has gone to Bellevue.

Those that had scarlet fever at my last writing are all recovering, but there are several new cases. James Newman has had a slight touch of it; Nate Wiley has been confined to the house most of the time during the past two weeks but is improving slowly. Mrs. O. Winters has also a slight touch of it.

We feel sorry for our sister town—Middleton, as she has just busted one sa'oon and now there is being another put up; we presume there are some there that think like "Junius"—that the town cannot thrive without a sa'oon.

Now Mr. Editor if you will give me space in your valuable paper I will say a few words on the temperance question, as we have the Banner Lodge L. O. G. T. of the county and a great many solid temperance workers, or we might truly say Prohibitionists, at this place. I don't want to say this boastfully that we have beat all other parties in the county but I do want to say it boastfully that we have triumphed over the sa'oon and intemperance, and I think that if any one attempts to start a sa'oon in this place that they will have a hard row to hoe. Ten years ago, Chehalis Valley cost the county as much or more than any other part of the county, and now it is the county the least at that time we had sa'oons, but now we have none. Land that was worth from $5 to $6 at that time is now worth from $20 to $25 per acre. Then, everybody attended sa'oons and horse-races on the Sabbath and now they go to the temperance meetings, Sabbath school and Church.

We are glad to see so many earnest temperance workers in this county, and also extend our thanks to the Ed. of the Reporter for the space that they have given so liberally in their valuable paper for the interest of the Temperance work.
