

THE REPORTER.

McMINNVILLE MARCH 11

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The bridges on the east side line of the narrow gauge system, will be repaired this spring or summer.

A three hundred and eighty-pound shark was caught at Tacoma last week. It was found in the waters of the bay.

Passengers going east should take the Oregon Short Line. By so doing one night on the road is saved and two disagreeable changes avoided in the middle of the night.

An elegant steamer is to be put on Yaquina bay soon, to ply between Newport and other points. Crowds who intend to visit the bay this year will find that a great accommodation.

L. Samuelson of the West Shore, Oregon's popular politician, deserves all the words of commendation which his enterprise is now receiving from the press.

The Oregonian is a paper of a high order of merit. It is a paper of a high order of merit. It is a paper of a high order of merit.

Albany is luck. Capitalists tell the people here that if a site is furnished, a factory will be introduced to establish a factory. That's what a water power and a little business sagacity will accomplish.

Work on the cinnabar mine, twelve miles west of here, is progressing nicely. This is the same mine that was discovered by Mr. Lamson in 1856.

A fascinating chance for scientists and other searchers after knowledge is offered by Mr. J. W. Buel of St. Louis, in his scheme for exploring the island of New Guinea.

On the 18th Senator Mitchell introduced a bill having for its object the recognition of the rights of those settlers who purchased lands from the Northern Pacific railroad company within what was known as the limits of the terminal location of that road at Wallula, affected by Commissioner Sparks' decision.

A. M. Starr, familiarly known as Add. Starr, for many long years in Portland, one of our first and well remembered Oregonian acquaintances; is now running a flouring mill at Westport near Vallejo, California.

The business of making bogus gold coin for the profit is shown by official reports to be uncertain to the makers. Gold coin counterfeiters upon a 10 per cent margin shows the counterfeiter has become an economist, studying bullion values.

John Milloy's little girls have been very sick with scarlet fever. Carrie, the eldest, was not expected to live, but is now considered out of danger.

At the annual school meeting R. P. Ungerman was elected director, and John Thompson re-elected clerk. A tax was voted which will, in addition to the public money, support a six months free school next fall and winter.

A large bouquet of wild flowers was picked in Mr. Burbank's field a few days ago, the first we have seen this season.

The Odd Fellows hall given last Friday evening was well attended, a number being present from Carlton, North Yamhill and other places.

Everybody seemed to have a splendid time, and all did ample justice to the excellent supper provided by the wives of the Odd Fellows.

On Saturday evening a sociable was held at the hall of the "three linkers," the members, their wives and a number of invited friends being present.

Supper was spread, coffee served and an enjoyable time was had by all.

Born to the wife of D. B. Putman, a 12 pound boy, March 3d.

The Good Templars gave a shingle supper on the 4th, which was good.

At our school meeting Cyrus Smith was elected director and Wyatt Harris clerk.

Town council at their last meeting passed the Lafayette ordinance in regard to liquor license, excepting section 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, the Sunday school missionaries are here at work. They are both good speakers.

R. W. Lancelfield has purchased the Stephen's stock ranch on the Willamina, which he will stock with cattle.

In the Briedwell school district they voted a 1/2 mill tax and applied the same to repairing the house and grounds. It will be the nicest district school in the county.

On passing up into the Williams addition to the town of Amity, we observe new sidewalks along many blocks the same being made voluntarily, which speaks well for the citizens.

An orphan girl about ten years old, by the name of Nellie Borrick, was burned so badly one day last week that she died in about twelve hours.

three hundred yards. The clothes were burned completely burned off of her. She suffered very little and seemed to die without pain.

W. F. Sleppy was elected director at the school meeting, and H. Z. Foster clerk. A. S. Bible, J. A. Cain and W. A. Graves, were elected a committee to ascertain if the academy or Foster's hall could be purchased; and if so at what price.

And also the price of a suitable location and the cost of building a new school house. The meeting was harmonious and the prospect of Sheridan having a schoolhouse is encouraging.

A meeting is called for March 15th to elect two directors, and hear the report of said committee and transact other business. S. DAX.

W. H. H. Cary is moving into his new hotel on Nestucco avenue. It is rumored in this vicinity that a part of the Siletz reservation will be soon thrown open to settlement.

Churchman Bros. will in a short time start their saw mill here, and will dig out first class lumber as cheap as the best.

The Oregonian is a paper of a high order of merit. It is a paper of a high order of merit. It is a paper of a high order of merit.

J. McYear passed through town the other day with a complete outfit for housekeeping. Mr. McYear lives on Nestucco above the falls, and had the misfortune to lose his house, and every thing in it, by fire a couple of weeks ago.

Work on the cinnabar mine, twelve miles west of here, is progressing nicely. This is the same mine that was discovered by Mr. Lamson in 1856.

Mr. Lamson, while hunting, came to the place and noticing a peculiar kind of rock, broke off quite a chunk of it, and took it home where it remained for eight or ten years, when a gentleman named Beals stopped at Mr. L's for the night and noticed this ore.

He finally took a piece of it to San Francisco and had it assayed; it was found to be seventy-five per cent. quicksilver.

Mr. Beals then came back to Lamson's and asked the old gentleman if he could find where he got the ore. Mr. Lamson replied that he could go directly to it, and so they started for the mountains; the country on their journey looking perfectly natural to Mr. Lamson, but when they arrived at the spot where he picked up the ore, it was found that nearly the whole mountain had slid down.

When Mr. Lamson was there first, he noticed some very large alder trees and said if he could find those trees he could locate the lode, but those trees were never found by Mr. L, but a short time ago some parties washed out a large alder log that had been buried a great distance under ground, and the supposition is that this is one of the trees that Mr. Lamson saw, and this being the case they must certainly be near the goal.

A large bouquet of wild flowers was picked in Mr. Burbank's field a few days ago, the first we have seen this season.

John Milloy's little girls have been very sick with scarlet fever. Carrie, the eldest, was not expected to live, but is now considered out of danger.

The other two are also improving.

At the annual school meeting R. P. Ungerman was elected director, and John Thompson re-elected clerk. A tax was voted which will, in addition to the public money, support a six months free school next fall and winter.

A number of citizens wanted a large enough tax to support a free school nine months, but the majority of the tax payers voted it down.
