The hotel Yamhill has been closed temporarily. Sanders, the former lessee, having become discouraged at the outlook for making ends meet, throwing up the sponge and calling quits. So far as Sanders is concerned, it is fair to say that he ran a good house, the best the town has had for several years, but he lacked something of having the cordial support of the business community and possessed little of the faculty of winning it. High rents and dull times did the rest.

The preaching thus far has been of the doctrinal order, appealing to the understanding rather than the emotional sensibilities of the listeners, and probably the foundation is being laid for good results manifest later on. The sermons are above the average in power to attract and interest.

HAUNTED!

A haunted house in these practical and unromantic days is something of a rarity, but an individual haunted with the idea that his ailment is incurable is a personage frequently met with. Disbelief in the ability of medicine to cure is only a mild form of monomania, although in some cases repeated failures to obtain relief from many different sources would almost seem to justify the doubt. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has demonstrated its ability to overcome dyspepsia, constipation, liver and kidney trouble, malarial complaints and nervousness, and its recorded achievements in the curative line ought to lead to warrant its trial by any one troubled with either of the above ailments, even although his previous efforts to obtain remedial aid have been fruitless. Used with persistence, the Bitters will conquer the most obstinate cases.

The Best Plaster.

Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it on over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a flannel bandage dampened with Pain Balm. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. Howarth.

ONE of the most fearful and exciting races of the year is soon to take place over the New York Central track. Engine 909, which has made a record of 112 miles an hour, is to try her speed with an English engine for the championship of the rail. The swiftness of about two miles a minute, which makes telegraph poles seem to the engineer no larger than hoe handles, is the utmost that human nerve rocked by eight-foot drive-wheels can endure, and beyond the desire to gamble on the result, the object of the contest can be of no great importance.
