A business visit to Hillsboro the first of the week revealed to the writer that here at home we can take some comfort perhaps in the fact that we are not being surpassed in a business way, if indeed we are as dull, as some of our neighbors. About the busiest man there was our friend and former citizen, John Knight, whose reputation as a dispenser of justice was made long since. Close times increase dishonesty and crime everywhere, and Washington county has her quota. The preliminary adjudications all came before Knight. Socially, the town was astir with the preparation of "The Dearest Skule," which embraced in its personnel the leading citizens, among them Messrs. Knight and our friend Gault of the Independent. The railroad station at this point is being enlarged.

IN THE REALM OF LEARNING.

Graduation Exercises of the City Schools.

The four parents of children in the city schools and those who had none, alike looked with pride upon the closing exercises of the school year last week. The junior element held forth on Thursday afternoon and evening, and their performances were almost all highly creditable. One feature however will probably need revision in the future. We have grown so large in our school population that one evening will not suffice to give every pupil a chance on the program, hence it becomes of wearying length.

Friday evening was occupied by the graduates and the address to them by State Rep. Irwin.
Clara Dentel spoke of the education of women. This century, she thought, the golden era for woman. Her education is a necessity and the nation that neglects it, insures its own barbarism. China, Japan and Hindoostan need this lesson. Woman's capacity for banking is good, with less tendency to decamp with the funds than her erring brother, besides which she has proved her ability to preach.

Brosia Pennington said there was something better in the future for the student who realized the necessity of industry coupled with intelligent thought and reason. There is more in thought than talent, and energy and courage are necessary to success.
Cassia Berry, in reciting the century's progress, began with the Mayflower and dwelt upon the growth of railroads, electrical inventions, the nation's position as leader in machinery, her magnanimity in receiving foreigners, and her growth in popular education.

Hallie Baker spoke of the time in everyone's life when it becomes necessary to take his turn at the mill. Some are actuated by motives to win at any cost, while others shrink when the turn is hard, but the plaudits of friends stimulate them to work on.

The class prophecies by Miss Nellie Gilson were very ingeniously presented, and gave evidence of a lively imagination.
"Life among the lowly" by Grace Millon was a review of the growth of the influence of Uncle Tom's Cabin in giving a broader view of the evils of slavery. Irene Rummel told how 119 years ago a nation was born that has since startled other worlds. This is not a long period in the history of nations, yet Rome was scarcely known outside of her own territory. As the nation is richly endowed by nature, so her people are taking hold on the same grand plan, as evidenced by the growth of cities, the Atlantic cable, Pacific railroad, addition of territory and stimulated emigration, strides in the arts, sciences schools and churches.

Edith Hogg spoke of the new generation. It had been characterized by the swift moving of science, and the death of tyrannies and dogmas. Calhoun and Webster were great men of their time but Lincoln was the foremost of his generation. The path of progress is a perilous way, but with justice between man and man as the great aim of civilization vice will disappear, and the world, learning to love the good, will press on to greater heights.

An exceptionally fine address was given to the graduates by a state superintendent. Its theme was the power of knowledge to bring out of the brooding of the lower forces the correlation of the forces that move the world. "Humanity is one in the economy of God," and this was encouragement to the girls of the class. He urged them to push forward in knowledge and guide their lives by the moral forces.

The program was interspersed with solos by Misses Pagenkopf and Baker, and class songs by the graduates, all of which were smoothly rendered.

While in Stockton, Cal., some time ago, Thos. F. Langan, of Los Banos, that state, was taken very severely with cramps and diarrhoea. He changed to meet Mr. C. M. Carter, who was similarly afflicted. He says: "I told him of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and we went to the Holden drug store and procured a bottle of it. It gave Mr. Carter prompt relief and I can vouch for its having cured me." For sale by S. Howorth & Co., druggists.

A Large Waist
is not generally considered a necessary adjunct to the grace, beauty or symmetry of the womanly form. While the body, however, is a great waste made necessary according to the condition of things continually in process and requiring the perfect action of all bodily functions to absorb or expel the refuse. When there is irregularity or inaction, ladies who value a clean, pure, healthy body will use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—the only remedy for woman which being once used in always in favor.

To those about to become mothers, it is a priceless boon, for it lessens the pains and perils of childbirth, shortens labor, promotes an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child and shortens the period of confinement.

A Terrible Victim.
Pain is always a terrible victim, and often domiciles itself with one for life. This affliction is preventable, in cases of rheumatism, by a timely resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which cures the encroachments of this obstinate and dangerous malady at the outset. The term "dangerous" is used advisedly, for rheumatism is always liable to attack the vital organs and terminate life. No testimony is more conclusive and concurrent than that of physicians who testify to the excellent effect of the Bitters in this disease. Persons incur a wetting in rainy or snowy weather, and who are exposed to draughts, should use the Bitters as a preventive of ill effects. Malaria, dyspepsia, liver and kidney trouble, nervousness and debility are also among the ailments to which this popular medicine is adapted. For the infirmities, soreness and stiffness of the aged it is highly beneficial.

Any one who has ever had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism will rejoice with Mr. J. A. Stumm, 220 Boyle Heights, Los Angeles, over his fortunate escape from a stage of that distressing ailment. Mr. Stumm is foreman of Merriam's confectionery establishment. Some months ago, on leaving the heated work room to run across the street on an errand, he was caught out in the rain. The result was that when ready to go home that night he was unable to walk, owing to inflammatory rheumatism. He was taken home, and on arrival was placed in front of a good fire and thoroughly rubbed with Chamberlain's Pain Balm. During the evening and night he was repeatedly bathed with this liniment, and by morning was relieved of all rheumatic pains. He now takes especial pleasure in praising Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. For sale by S. Howorth & Co., druggists.

COLLEGE NOTES.
President Brownson has been in eastern Oregon during the past week.
Lyman Latourrette of Oregon City spent Sunday at his home in this place. The pleasant face of Arthur McPhillips was seen in the college Tuesday morning. Arthur is working up the students' reunion for commencement.

The students are forming an athletic association with the intention of working for a well equipped gymnasium in the near future. This is a commendable move.
Mrs. Wollenden received a visit last Monday and Tuesday from her brother-in-law and sister, Rev. and Mrs. Bush. Mr. Bush favors the students with an interesting short talk in the chapel Tuesday morning.

At its last meeting the Philreian society voted to make the meeting next Saturday night its last regular meeting for this year. The name of A. M. Sanders appears on the program for an address. The question for debate is "Resolved, That curiosity will lead a man farther than necessity will drive him."

The Passing of the Horse.
A prominent electric company has collected some startling figures, which show the almost incalculable influence of the introduction of the electric car, taken merely on its own basis of replacing the horse for traction purposes. It is estimated that electric cars have already displaced 1,100,000 horses, and this estimate is manifestly far below the actual number. The feeding of these horses would entail the consumption of 500,000 bushels of corn or oats a day. The animals are now back on grass, and the enormous decrease in corn and oats consumption caused by their withdrawal is sufficient to appreciably affect the prices of these grains. In round figures it amounts to 180,000,000 bushels a year. There is another view of this subject, the significance of which will be probably more apparent a few years hence than it is even now. The loss of commercial demand for these coarse grains in the cities means an enormous decrease in the tonnage of the railroad freight traffic. This failure is already put at a minimum of 250,000 carloads. But it is not only in public traffic that the day of the horse is waning. In some cities the electric car lines have been so judiciously distributed, and give such excellent service, that many private families have given up their carriages, and use the electric cars instead. In many places the business of the livermen is practically ruined by the electric car, and, as at Niagara Falls, the formerly arrogant and extortionate hackman has become a comparatively civil and tempering individual. The electric car and the bicycle have sounded the knell of the horse as a commercial factor.

FROM THE COUNTY PRESS.

Newberg Graphic.

The Lutheran church spoken of a couple of weeks ago is to be built in the Russian-German neighborhood out southeast of town. The lumber was hauled the first of the week.

The Graphic neglected to mention the fact last week that the Grand Army boys had raised a beautiful flag pole at the corner of First and Main streets from which will float the stars and stripes.

Our citizens will be sorry to learn that Rev. Mark Noble has handed in his resignation as pastor of the Baptist church, the resignation to take effect in July. Rev. Noble has a happy faculty of making friends wherever he goes, and during his stay in Newberg he has made many friends among young and old who will be sorry to see him leave.

Oliver and Croford have rented the building on the corner of First and Center streets, formerly occupied by Morris, Miles & Co., for their basket and box factory and have some of the machinery already in. Mr. Croford went to the city Wednesday to get some material for the works.

J. C. Kirk has sold his farm to B. F. Durfy, of the real estate firm of Durfy & McCarly of Portland, the consideration being $3500.

On Thursday last week when the steamer Modoc was on the down trip, the second cook, a Chinaman, who attempted to dip a bucket of water from the river while the boat was running, by means of a bucket attached to a rope, fell overboard and was drowned. The body was not recovered.

Prof. C. E. Lewis was all "run down" a few weeks ago from the effects of the grip and it seemed difficult for him to get a grip on good health again, but he has been exercising on a wheel lately and in eight days he has gained six pounds. His friends are now advising him to buy two wheels but, he is afraid of the board bill.

Marshall Macy has a big belt for sale. He had it made expressly for use in a case where a strong man up the valley was to be handled. The boys in the shop where the belt was made tried it on Macy and when they had him well secured they dragged him out on the walk and in the melee tore his trousers. Cost of belt $1.50, mending trousers 50 cents, total $2.00. And then the McMinnville authorities beat Macy out of the case and took it up there, so he got no fees. He thinks the belt will just about fit Judge Magers and he will try it on him the next time the judge is in town if he don't divy on the costs in the case.

One day this week Will Raleigh went down the Yamhill fishing. Just around the bend from where he was angling, he heard a flock of wildgeons chattering in the duck language. Reeling out about one hundred feet of line, he baited his fly with a big fish worm and allowed it to float around the bend. A jerk at the line told him his rise had succeeded. By slowly reeling in the line each time, and repeating the scheme, Mr. Raleigh captured 34 ducks, all as fat as butter. The last duck becoming lonely swam around the bend to investigate, and from his ambush in the willows William knocked it over a rock, but unfortunately it drifted down stream and was lost. Besides the ducks Mr. Raleigh caught a nice mess of fish.
