FRIDAY, JULY 19, 1895.

THAT fine opening for a fruit dryer still exists at McMinnville.

MR. AETNA, Vesuvius and Joseph Cook are all in active state of eruption at the same time.

THE late victory of conservatives in England is believed to pave the way for a speedy international monetary conference.

THERE is one disadvantage in starting a family late in life. The Grover Cleveland girls will drive past the White house in fifteen years and say: "There is where we used to live!"

SINCE the birth of that new baby it is hinted that Mr. Cleveland is likely to destroy the parity of the sexes. Free coinage destroys parity. Well, anyway, girls are "apples of gold in pictures of silver."

THE number of passports issued this year by the department of state shows that more Americans have gone abroad this year than have gone in any one year heretofore, excepting in 1889 and 1891. This is another proof of better times.

IN the matter of the "United States" vs "United States," the Boston Herald has handed down a decision in favor of the defendant. It prefers what it considers correct grammar to what most people consider proper patriotism.

NEW YORK is closing the saloons on Sunday, Illinois and Missouri the barber shops, and Colorado the bake shops. In fact, Sunday closing in one form or another appears to be cutting a wide swath just now, and is pretty nearly up to the standard of an epidemic.

FALE, the German weather prophet, has changed his date for the end of the world from 1896 to November 13th, 1899, owing to unexpected obstacles. The end of the democratic party, however, is still fixed for November 3d, 1896, without a change of date.

THERE is prospect for a fair price for prunes this year, based on the reports of short crops in Bosnia, Austria and Germany. Taking the world's prune crop as a whole, it will be rather short, and the market is said to be well cleaned of the Hungarian product. This favors fair prices for the new crop.

REV. ROBERT COLLYER officiated at a marriage ceremony in New York recently in which the word "obey" was omitted by common consent. Discussing the matter afterwards, Dr. Collyer said that he did not think the omission amounted to much, as women never would obey, despite their promises. "The very best woman in the world promised to obey me," he added, "but she never has."

GEORGE M. PULLMAN says there has been no advance in wages at his car shops, and he ought to know. The hours of work have been lengthened, with added compensation therefor, and a greater number of men are employed. The Pullman shops are running full blast, and the people of the model town are said to be contented, which is a great improvement on the situation a year ago.

THE Southern Pacific has reduced the fare on its special train between Salem and Portland to three cents a mile. Why not make this the starter for a reduction all around? More money would be made than at the present rate of four cents, by the increase in travel, and the trainmen wouldn't get near so lonely. The reduction in this case was made to confine the travel mostly to the special train.

THE building of good roads is one of the sure ways for a man to leave an enduring monument behind him. Such supervisors as W. T. Hash, S. C. Pearson, A. Bowman, Mr. Newby, and doubtless others we know not of, have been putting work on roads that will outlast their time, and when we reach the day when the horse shall go, the same roadbed will be there for the electric lines. Gravel is the material used, and is the best thing available for the purpose.

IT is estimated that not less than 315,000 employes in manufacturing establishments and other enterprises throughout the country have been given an advance in wages since the latter part of March. In most cases these advances were granted without being asked for. These known instances do not include many more cases not publicly announced, and it is probable that, counting in those directly dependent upon the employes affected, fully a million and a half of people are in much better circumstances today than they were three months ago. These voluntary increases in wages are a gratifying demonstration of the general revival of confidence and of business activity since the republican victory which the country is enjoying and point with certainty to the coming of still better times for all in the immediate future.

LET US WORK FOR IT. A Chance for Yamhill to Add Fresh Laurels.

The state board of agriculture will offer at the state fair in September a premium of $200 for the best exhibit of agricultural and horticultural products by any county of the state, and a premium of $100 for the second best exhibit. The proposition was discussed by a few of McMinnville's most enterprising citizens recently, and the opinion prevailed that the effort should be made, and that the work of collecting grain and grasses could not begin too soon, other products to follow in their season.

This county now stands as the banner fruit, grain and hop-growing county of the state. We took eight of the twenty-one Oregon awards at the world's Columbian exposition, and last year walked off with the highest fruit awards at the state fair. It is therefore a question whether we propose to maintain our reputation and high standing. There is no question as to our ability to do so, except a disposition to supinely rest on past laurels. We boast of past successes, and rightly so. But all signs point to an opening era of greater prosperity, especially in the line of this country's settlement and development of new industries, than we have had during any period when these achievements were attained. Hence the necessity for greater effort now, that greater benefits may accrue.

Our local real estate men are imbued with more zeal and confidence than ever before, and believe that the time is most opportune for effective work. There must be an influx of new blood and capital in the near future in Oregon, and especially the Willamette valley. To hold her exalted place and climb higher is the duty of "old Yamhill." The paltry $200 is nothing, but the fact of winning over 31 other good counties will carry an immeasurable influence with the home-seeker and investor. The expense of making this collection need not be great. Good citizens stand ready to contribute a reasonable amount and real estate men are ready to aid the good work with their assistance.

Other counties will be after this honor. Marion and Jackson are already in the field. Let it be the pride of every citizen of Yamhill to foster the movement, and let every farmer, his son, wife or daughter, who thinks he or she has or will have a creditable exhibit to make, not neglect to make it. Any real estate dealer will receive products brought in and see that they are listed, and this office will do the same.

ELECTROCUTION MADE PLAIN.

To many the terms volts and amperes convey but an indistinct idea of the potency of the agent used to induce death, and the haziness of this idea has been materially increased by horror mongers who have exploited themselves recently through the press, the most noticeable feature of their lucubrations being the absence of the elements knowledge or disinterestedness.

If the reader will regard the voltage as the speed or velocity of the current and the amperage as the mass or volume of this same current, he will glean through this imperfect parallel some idea of what is meant. It is strange that those who have discussed this matter in the daily papers either wittingly or unwittingly avoid mention of the amperage, without which no estimate can be formed of the potency of the current or its energy. A locomotive and it can be made to travel at the same rate of speed, say 20 miles per hour. That speed would, in the case of electricity, be the voltage. Should a person come in collision with the bee little damage would ensue, though the obverse would be the fact in the case of the locomotive. Wherein lies the difference, both having the same speed or voltage? It lies in the volume of the mass or body of each. This would be the amperage in the case of electricity, and if we multiply the speed or velocity by the weight or volume of the mass or body, we get the striking force, or what is termed in the case of electricity a watt, which is defined as the unit of energy or working power. Fearing the foregoing very simple fact simile may not be sufficiently lucid, we can measure this energy by a better and more accurate method. Taking the current employed on Dr. Buchanan, 1760 volts, 83 amperes. If we multiply the former by the latter, we have 1760x83=equal 146,600 watts. Now it has been demonstrated by electricians that 746 watts equal one horse power. If we divide 146,600 watts by 746 watts, we get the potency of the current employed to kill Dr. Buchanan as equal to 20 horse power. Such power suddenly liberated in a human body can have but one result—to kill. It did kill, the death being sudden and painless.

A. N. Towne, second vice-president and general manager of the Southern Pacific, died suddenly at his residence in San Francisco on the 16th. His fortune is estimated at $700,000.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The Fourteenth International Christian Endeavor convention closed at Boston on Monday. About 50,000 men and women from all over the world were present as delegates.

Attorney-General Crane of Texas says the statute of that state against prize fighting is valid, and it is the duty of the sheriff of Dallas county to see that the law is enforced against the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight.

Judge McKenna, in the United States district court, has granted the government permission to appeal the Stanford case to the United States court of appeals for this circuit. He specified in his order that the appeal must be filed before August 15. The suit for $15,000,000 will then be practically decided.

The Associated pioneers of the territorial days of California have issued a call to the late General John C. Fremont's friends for funds to erect a suitable monument over that soldier's grave. The general is buried in Rockland cemetery on the Hudson. The cost of the monument will be confined to $10,000.

The Chicago clergy is emphatic in its disapproval of the announced intention of Mrs. Leland Stanford, widow of the California senator, of disposing of 1,000,000 gallons of brandy from her vineyard for the benefit of the Stanford university. Several of the leading ministers have been interviewed, and all save one denounce the idea.

All records of Chicago marriages were broken on the 15th by Rev. W. A. Hunsburger, who united 17 love-lorn couples from the big city, who came with the crowds on the excursion steamers. The Rev. Mr. Hunsburger, however, will not make known the names of the people who were made happy, as he alleges publicity is a handicap to the marriage industry.

Emanuel Baptist church, San Francisco, the scene of the gruesome murders that horrified the world, was opened for worship Sunday for the first time since the bodies of Minnie Williams and Blanche Lamont were found in it. Nearly all of the old congregation were in attendance at the morning service, which was conducted by the Rev. J. George Gibson, the regular pastor.

Maria Barbara, who murdered her lover, Dominico Coido, because he abandoned her, was found guilty of murder in the first degree and will, if the verdict is allowed to stand, be the first woman to reach the death chair in the state of New York. She is the first woman in this state condemned to death since the passing of the law making electrocution the death penalty. The case will be taken to the court of appeals, and if that court does not order a new trial the governor will be appealed to to commute the sentence to imprisonment.

Rev. Joseph Cook of Boston was on the program at the celebration of the Fourth in Honolulu. He had chosen for his subject "The Republic's Trophies." He said nothing of the Fourth of July. He repeated that when the crown fell, it was pulverized. He congratulated all that there was no color line or slavery on the islands. The speaker then went into a dissertation on "Southern Republics," as upheld by "what they call northern principles." Coming quickly to Hawaii, Mr. Cook entered upon almost a direct criticism of the Cleveland administration, arraigning it for misrepresentation, and saying that he would make some corrections. Here Mr. Willis protested, on the ground that the occasion was not one for a political speech. He was greeted with storms of applause. Mr. Cook, considerably confused, asked for a bill of particulars, and declared he was not accustomed to either a straight-jacket or a gag. Mr. Willis replied that the contracted sentiment from a Boston environment was not broad enough for an American celebration in Hawaii. Mr. Cook said Boston had a great deal to do with achieving American independence, and that all were proud of it. The lecturer quickly concluded his address with a few remarks on annexation. He bade good-bye to Mr. Willis and Rev. Dr. McArthur, and left the hall amid silence, clearly mad through and through.

"We would urge everyone to read the advertisement of Simmons Liver Regulator. We have never before said one word in favor of any patent medicine advertisement in our columns, but having given Simmons Liver Regulator a fair trial, we do not hesitate to say that for dyspepsia and general debility it cannot be excelled."—Fred M. Childs, editor News, Kenton, Ohio.

TRIED AND FOUND WANTING.

On June 28 ended the tenth month of the work of the new tariff law. And its record is indeed a sorry one. Although it went into operation with the whole country waiting to buy goods which it was expected to bring in lower rates, it shows for ten months smaller treasury receipts than did the McKinley law in the corresponding ten months of last year, and infinitely less than did the McKinley law in its first ten months. As a "record breaker" the Wilson law stands triumphant, but it is a record of badness, of an enormous deficiency. And this, too, in the face of smaller expenditures by the treasury than in the same period for many years.

Not for years have the expenditures been so low as during the months in which the Wilson law has been in operation, yet it presents as the net result of the ten months a deficit of $52,027,131, besides omitting to make the usual payment of $48,000,000 on the sinking fund. No month in the history of the treasury for a quarter of a century has shown such small receipts as did many of the months since the new law went into effect. Had it been compelled to meet the demands made upon the treasury under former tariff laws, the deficiency would have been many millions greater.—Toledo Blade.

The Keystone of the Arch

In the edifice of health is vigor, which means not merely muscular energy, but an active discharge of the various functions of the body, such as digestion, secretion of the bile, the action of the bowels, the circulation of the blood. Nothing more actively and thoroughly contributes to the united performance of these functions than the renowned tonic and regulator, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The result of its use is a speedy gain in strength, together with the agreeable consciousness that the tenure of life is being strengthened—that one is laying up a store of vitality against the unavoidable dranghts which old age makes upon the system. The fortifying influence of the Bitters constitute it a safeguard against malaria, rheumatism and kidney trouble. Appetite and sleep improve through its use, and it protects the system from the effects of cold and damp.

DANGER OF A LAWSUIT.

A number of prune growers in Oregon are building evaporators this year upon a plan which may possibly involve them in a lawsuit. The parties who are following this plan of construction are not aware that it has been patented, but such is the case.

The Stutsman evaporator, which was, we believe, on exhibition at the Columbian exposition, is constructed in such a manner that the trays slant upward towards the center of the evaporating chamber. The hot air comes up at each side on the outside of the trays and the air which passes over each tray passes out through the air shaft which runs up the center. The Stutsman evaporator which closely resemble those of the Carson evaporator. It does not have, however, the graduated openings for the escape of the air nor the same method of controlling the circulation of air by the use of dampers at the top of the ventilating shafts. Its essential features are in fact, exactly the same as those of the plan on which a number of Oregon fruit growers are building evaporators with the supposition that they are using an unpatented plan of construction. While they may never have any trouble about the matter yet it is never safe to use a patented article without license and it generally costs a good deal more to settle after using than to secure a license before beginning.

More Stage Hobbery. OREGON CITY, July 16.—The stage returning from Willhoft Springs today brought full particulars of the robbery on the Howard hill yesterday. The stage was about half way down the hill, when two masked men stepped from the brush at the left, and commanded the driver to halt and throw up his hands. The passenger's hands were up promptly, but the driver, Henry Mattoon, did not get the team stopped until the command "shell out your cash—throw it right down there in the road" came from the robbers. The passenger, who was a Mr. Levy, of Portland, again acted promptly, and threw his purse, containing $35, in the road. The driver says he told the highwaymen he had no money, and they took his work for it. But they compelled the passenger to turn his pockets wrong side out, before they would allow the stage to pass on. During the whole proceeding, one of the robbers kept the driver covered with a revolver. Mattoon must have been greatly frightened, for he passed through Molalla, which is just at the foot of the hill, without giving any report of the robbery. It is thought that prompt action in giving the alarm might have resulted in the capture of the bandits, for the robbery was committed not more than 300 yards from a farmhouse. There are rather strong suspicions as to who the robbers are, but no steps have yet been
