FRIDAY, NOV. 29, 1895.

The populists have not yet told us whether Coxey actually ran for governor of Ohio or not.

SALEM had better get a move on about subscribing the woolen mill stock or some other enterprising town will put in a bid.

A true citizen is known at home or abroad by his pride in his own town, and the energetic qualities displayed in promoting its interests.

PORTLAND is not the only city it seems where the horse meat industry flourishes. A Chicago evening paper contains ten advertisements of horses wanted for killing.

The twenty per cent discounts local merchants are offering at present leave little inducement for people to trade with transient fakes, who bring in shoddy and shopworn goods, and proclaim great bargains in "sheep clothing."

SENATOR John Sherman says he is opposed to extending the limits of the United States by annexing new territory. The senator is out of harmony with the spirit of the country.

CONGRESS will meet next Tuesday. Curiosity centers not so largely in what it will do as what the president will find to say in his forthcoming message.

If Mr. Hermann succeeds in getting the chairmanship of the river and harbor bill it will end the fight for his seat in congress. The boys who are after it would not like to see him pulled off from a perch of such acknowledged usefulness.

DEMOCRATS may find a little temporary relief for their grief over the loss of Maryland by abusing Gorman, but it is ingratitude of the worst sort.

TRIPLE MURDER CONFESSED. A dispatch of the 25th from Albany says that Lloyd Montgomery, the murderer of his father, mother and Daniel McKercher, near Brownsville Tuesday last, has been unable to endure the weight of the terrible crimes upon his mind, and this evening made a full confession, admitting that he killed all three of them.

OREGON NEWS AND NOTES.

A distillery has recently been started in Eugene.

Washington county's total population is 15,365.

Governor Lord remitted the $250 of Dr. Ausplund's fine that remained unpaid.

The city election of Independence occurs on December 2d. Three tickets will be in the field.

Sheep are selling at 50 cents a head more at this time in Umatilla county than they were a year ago.

The Salem Journal charges that the Indian pupils at the Chemawa school are not provided with food enough.

A poor Grand Ronde Indian was in Dallas the other day to get the necessary papers to make his wife quit whipping him.

Two hundred and eighty men are engaged on the Astoria railroad grading, slashing and otherwise clearing the right of way.

The total enrollment at the agricultural college has reached the unprecedented figure of 348. The largest attendance hitherto was 265.

Edward Brabham, a young man near Springfield, went out for a hunt on the 25th. Later his body was found near a fence with a great hole in the left breast.

In Marshfield, a bogus telegram was circulated after the election to the effect that Coxey had carried Ohio by 5,000, and a good laugh was indulged in at the expense of the populists, many of whom thought it was true.

A three-year old son of James Frazier at Milton was burned to death on the 24th inst. The child got up at 7 o'clock, and venturing too near the fire when his mother was not looking, his nightgown took fire.

Before the flames could be extinguished he had been badly burned, and died from his injuries a few hours afterward.

The Torrens System.

At the recent election, Cook county, Ill., adopted the Torrens system of registration of land titles, under an act of the last state legislature authorizing counties to make such a change.

The excelsior building in Chicago burned last week, destroying no less than thirteen valuable manufacturing plants. The total loss is not less than $629,000.

A small ice machine for the household, which in fifteen minutes will furnish a small cake of pure ice, is being very generally introduced abroad.

Mr. Veech, proprietor of the hotel, has been seriously ill with the neuralgia of the stomach, but is recovering.

Mr. Arenburg has moved into his new home.

Mr. Chas. Fuqua made a flying trip to southern Oregon, returning last week.

Wm. Dehoven of Sheridan was visiting friends here last week.
