An Edict Issued from Madrid-A More Active Campaign Must Therefore Be Inaugurated.

New York, Aug. 9 .- A dispatch to the Heraid from Havana says: It is rumored that General Weyler's departure for Matanzas was due to orders direct from Madrid, sending him to the front. Weyler made preparations to take the field some days ago, but according to a statement made by an officer at the palace, he delayed his departure in order to mature a plan to entrap General Castillo.

The captain-general is severely criticised for not having taken the field earlier. For three weeks now bands of insurgents have been swarming into Matanzas and even Havana. have raided small towns and made demonstrations before large towns. They have raided landed expeditions and had time to organize. Yet General Weyler contented himself with remaining on the defensive and only retaliating on the insurgents by issuing decrees that considerably aggravated the sufferings of the unfortunate reconcentrados. It was only when the insurgents boldly attacked the suburbs of Havana that public opinion forced him

Public opinion with regard to Weyler's poilcy is beginning to manifest itself. Business is at a standstill, and the merchants throw the blame upon the government. They say General Weyler's edicts practically restrict them from doing business with the interior. The wholesale arrests that have been lately made and the terror of the people on the outskirts of the city help to swell the feeling of uneasiness and discontent with the way the campaign is carried on.

Insurgents recently entered Esperanza, a railroad town of 3,000 persons. There they met with some resistance, and there was considerable fighting in the streets. According to official accounts the insuregnts left 20 killed when they finally retired. The commander of the town was seriously wounded. He admits that the insurgents robbed several stores. Bolondron, another small town about eight leagues from Matanzas, was also raided and many stores and buildings were destroved.

In Havana province on Sunday last insurgents attacked Santiago de las Vegas, five leagues from the capital. A band was playing in the park at the time and most of the citizens were out promenading. A panic was threatened. but the Spanish officers kept their heads and took prompt steps to repel the insurgents. There was brisk firing in the streets for a time, but eventually the insurgents were forced to retreat. Several on both sides were killed. The ir urgents remained close up all night to keep a fire on the forts.

Four hundred insurgents under General Castillo attacked La Chora, a town three miles nearer Havana, on the same night, but kept up a fire on the forts all night. He also used dynamite with great effect, throwing bombs into the town and destroying several public buildings. Three bombs were fired from dynamite guns which were landed by a recent expedition. The Spaniards did not venture out of the town.

The authorities determined on the following morning to be revenged on some one, and arrested the family of Morales Bottelas, because the daughter of the house was the affianced of Castille's late chief of staff. Mr. and Mrs. Morales, their daughter and two children were taken outside the town. ordered to kneel down and were fired upon by a squad of Spanish soldiers. Morales, his wife and one child were killed at the first volley. The daughter and her 7-year-old brother were wounded and left on the ground. They Claims to Be Schlatter. Canton, O., Aug. 9.-A man who says he is the original Schlatter has been creating excitement here. T. C. Snyde, formerly a state senator, walking about the streets, was injured 12 years ago so he has not walked without a crutch or cane since that time. Without solicitation from any one Mr. Snyder visited Schlatter. He has now laid aside his crutches and the cane. His recovery is the talk of the city and Mr. Snyder is jubilant over the aid that has been given him.

Another alleged cure is that of John Krause. He had a leg broken and the member when healed would not allow him to walk without aid. After Schlatter had treated him he was enabled to get up and walk.

SENOR CANOVAS SHOT.

Spanish Premier Assassinated by an Italian Anarchist.

Madrid, Aug. 10. - Senor Canovas del Weyler Must Make an Effort Castillo, the prime minister of Spain, was assassinated today at Santa Agueda by an anarchist. The murderer fired three shots, two of which struck the premier in the head and the other in MORE RAIDS BY INSURGENTS the chest. The wounded man lingered unconscious for two hours, and died at 8 o'clock this afternoon. His wife was but a short distance away when he fell.

Santa Agueda is noted for its baths. The place is between San Sebastian, the summer residence of the Spanish court, and Vittoria, the capital of the province of Alava, about 30 miles south of Billio.

The premier went there last Thursday to take a three weeks' course of the baths, after which he expected to return to San Sebastian to see United States Minister Woodford, when that gentleman should be officially received by the queen regent.

The assassin was immediately arrest-He is a Neopolitan, and gives the name of Rinialdi, but it is believed his real name is Angele Angelo Golli.

The murderer declared he killed Canovas in accomplishment of a "just vengeance" and as the outcome of a conspiracy. He is believed to have arrived at Santa Agueda the same day as the premier, and was frequently seen lurkng in the passage of the bathing establishment in a suspicious manner.

The remains of Senor Canovas will be brought here tomorrow.

The health of Senor Canovas had improved greatly of late. He had been eading a quiet life, although he attended to the business of state.

At the moment of the assassination he was waiting in the gallery of the bathing establishment for his wife, who was to join him for lunch. Suddenly the assassin, who had the appearance of an ordinary visitor, approached and fired at him point blank, one bullet passing through the body and coming out behind the left shoulder, and the other two lodging in the head. He fell instantly, and only recovered consciousness long enough to speak a few words. Several medical men and his wife were unremitting in their attentions to the sufferer, but his wounds were mortal, and he died in two hours. Extreme unction was administered amid a scene of mingled sorrow and indignation. The assassin narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of the waiters and at- September. tendants who rushed forward. tives and civil guards immediately secured him. He was very pale, trembled very much and evidently feared that he would be killed on the spot. He will be first arraigned before the local magistrates at Vergara.

JACK HAMBLET ARRESTED.

Will Be Tried in Long Creek for the Murder of Benjamin Gammany. Long Creek, Or., Aug. 10.-Jack Hamblet, arrested in Boise City, Idaho, last week, and for whom requisition papers have been applied by Sheriff Livingstone, of this county, will be tried for the murder of Benjamin Gammany, whom he killed in an altercation at a dance at Rock Creek on the morning of February 23, 1894. The circumstances of the killing are as follows: Jack Hamblet, who lived in the mountain, and was considered a quarrelsome and dangerous character, was called to order during the night of the dance by Gammany, who was floor manager. Hamblet resented the interference, and, using abusive language, the two men came to blows. Gammany, who was considerably the smaller, was getting the best of the fight, when Hamblet drew his pistol. The pietol was taken from him and the men separated. Everything was again comparatively peaceable until about 3 o'clock in the morning, when Hamblet renewed the quarrel by asking Gammany to step outside with him. Gammany complied, and no sooner had the two men reached the outside when Hamblet turned and fired. The shot struck Gammany's left wrist, and, ranging to the elbow, entered the body. With his death wound, body bent, and hands crossed on his breast, Gammany ran back into the room. Hamblet followed him, and, reaching over his shoulder, sent another ball into his brain.

Then, defying any one to arrest him. Hamblet mounted his horse and rode away. Armed parties started after him, but he got into the mountain fastness, and eluded all efforts to capture him. Before leaving the dance hall Hamblet made the remark that Gammany was his fourth man.

Clondyke Thronged With Disappointed Golp Hunters.

San Francisco, Aug. 9 .- Speaking of the Clondyke output of gold, the chief clerk of the mint said: 'All the gold brought to this city from the Alaskan mines will not exceed $800,000, and all that has been taken out this year and sent to the other mints of the country will not exceed $2,000,000. The gold from that part of the country is generally from 700 to 800 fine and some of it rates 900. the average being worth from $15.55 to $17 an ounce. 11

J. C. Butler, of the Pullman Car Company, is in receipt of a letter from R. P. Taytor, a financial broker of Seattle. A few days ago Taylor received word from some men whom he sent to the Clondyke region last spring, in which they inform him that every claim within 150 miles of Dawson City has been taken up, and that men are rushing all over the country looking for locatitons. He says that starvation and hardship stares many of them in the face.

Captain Niebaum, of the Alaska Commercial Company, who has made careful study of the situation, fears there will be a great deal of suffering in the mining regions this spring. He thinks the people going are far in excess of the supplies that have been forwarded.

A letter from Hart Humber, a prospector, dated Dawson City, June 18, just received, shows that the gold seeker needs plenty of capital. After reaching Dawson and paying the heavy duty on his outfit, besides 30 cents a pound for getting it over Chilkoot pass, he will have to pay 25 cents a pound to get his stuff from Dawson to the diggings.

The rush to the Clondyke gold fields is affecting the mineowners of the ing, and I place myself at the orders of mother lode in the vicinity of Sonora, Jackson and Sutter Creek, and if it continues will cause the closing down of the mines in Calaveras, Amador and Tuolumne counties, or their operation with depleted forces.

In the past week 200 men have left Amador county alone for the gold fields in the north and others are preparing to follow. Some of them were hired by mineowners in Alaska, but many of them went on their own resources. The other counties have also sent expert miners in large numbers.

An Expedition From Brooklyn.

New York, Aug. 9. - A half dozen ambitious Brooklynites are organizing an expedition to Alaska to search for some of the Clondyke gold. David P. TO LAY THE DUST.

Novel Scheme of a New Jersey Railway Engineer.

New York, Aug. 9 .- A dispatch to the Herald from May's Landing, N. J., says: The recent discovery of Chief Engineer Nicholas, of the West Jersey & Seashore railway, that crude oil applied to the ground along the railway tracks would effectually lay the dust, has proven after thorough tests to work far better than was first expected. Both lines of track leading from Camden to Atlantic City are being thoroughly saturated for a distance of six feet on both sides of the track.

The oil is applied on much the same plan as streets are sprinkled. A water and recently an oil train with sprinkling apparatus sprinkled more than 20 miles. The work will be completed in a few days. A Michigan Tragedy.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 9.-Last April A. H. Dailey, of Jennison, sent a letter to Mayor Swift, saying he wanted a wife. The letter got into the newspapers, and as a result Dailey received 500 answers. From among the offers he selected Mrs. Hattie M. Newton, a Chicago widow and they were married. They quarreled and finally separated. Dailey gave his wife three days to return. The time was up at midnight last night and she refused to return. Dailey forced his way into her bedchamber and shot her with a musket. Dailey was arrested, and on his way to jail was allowed to go into a saloon to drink. He slipped strychnine into his beer and fell over dead in a few minutes. The woman will

WEEKLY MARKET LETTER.

Downing, Hopkins & Company's Review of Trade.

The short sellers of wheat have but a single argument left to support their views viz: The admitted fact that the wheat crop of this country will be at least 100,000,000 bushels larger than that of last year. The current news during the week has been extremely bullish and developments have materially strengthened the position of speculative buyers. Probably the most important annoucement was Beerbohm's estimate placing the European shortage compared with last year at 224,000,000 bushels. This has been emphasized and confirmed by the active cash de-The Oregon Press Association will mand and enormous sales for export. An additional aid in enhancing values has been furnished by the farmers stacking their wheat at a greater extent than usual. Should the coal miners' strike continue a fortnight longer it will prove a powerful, although unnatural, factor in enhancing values, and in all probability result in a more serious congestion of the market for September delivery than has prevailed for July contracts. The promise of an abundant wheat crop in America, the absence of competition in supplying the requirements of importing countries, and the consequent increased export demand for American wheat, all tend to benefit the American farmer. on all reactions and the general tendency is toward a still higher range of

The American visible this week shows a decrease of 164,000 bushels, and now totals 17,650,000 bushels against 46,-429,000 a year ago. There is much to be said regarding both sides of the corn market, but after all is said it is still a fact that values are extremely low-due panie and overproduction. The growing crop is not yet assured, and with the enhancing values ruling for wheat compared with producing years, the increasing activity in general trade, corn must participate to a greater or less extent in the general improvements, according as the crop promise to be above or below that of last year. In any event, present values promise to be well maintained, and there is little if any inducement for speculative short selling. Should the growing crop meet with any mishap much higher values will quickly obtain.

SEVEN WIVES CLAIM HIM.

A Polygamous Bookkeeper in a Chicago Jail.

Chicago, Aug. 9 .- A warrant charging bigamy has been served on David Ellsworth Bates in his cell at the police station. It was sworn out by James L. McCarthy, who said he was the father of Mrs. Bates No. 3. The police say Mr. Bates married at least seven women, all of whom are living, and only one of them divorced. This makes the lean and sallow-faced little bookkeeper a polygamist extraordinary.

The following women have so far filed with the police their claims to Bates as husband:

Mrs. Bates, formerly Miss Julia Mc-Carthy, married in Chicago three years ago, recognized by the prisoner as his true wife, and dwelling at 840 West Sixty-first street.

Mrs. Bates, formerly Miss Nettie Swaim, married February 25, 1897, in Chicago, and residing at 6402 Bishop street. Mrs. Bates, formerly Miss Anna E.

Herbert, Plainwell, Mich., a sister of his brother's wife, married September 11, 1889, and now in Michigan. Mrs. Bates, formerly Miss Nellie Howard, of Kalamazoo, Mich., married in 1885, and divorced two years later. Mrs. Bates, formerly Miss Ida Cader-, wood, of Galena, Ill., who dwelt at 5401 Dearborn street, where she gave birth to a baby. Her home is not known to the police.

Mrs. Bates, whose identity is a mystery, but known to have dwelt at Forty-third and Wallace streets, where a child was born. A Wisconsin sheriff says Bates is really Austin O. Croven, who is under indictment at Waupauca, Wis., for the abduction of pretty 15-year-old Olive Vosburg some months ago. Her photograph was found in his coat. It is suggested by the police that this girl may have been his wife.

G. B. Henton Reaches Seattle With $1,000 in Gold Nuggets.

Seattle, Aug. 9 .- G. B. Henton arrived in this city tonight with over $1,000 worth of gold nuggests, the result of ten days' work on Williams creek placer claim on the Swauk district, Kittitas county. One nugget was worth $260, another $120; others $50 and $60 and down to very small pieces. He has been working the claims since January, and since that time has taken out $5,000. The Swauk placers are old and well known, but have been worked only in a crude way. One man who owns a claim there has been working it quietly for six years, during which time he has made about $50,000. Mr. Henton sunk a shaft 103 feet to bedrock before he made his find. He says the Clendyke has no attractions for him.

Fishing Season to Close.

Astoria, Or., Aug. 9 .- The fishing season closes Tuesday. It is utterly impossible as yet to make an estimate of the pack, but it will probably be in the neighborhood of 500,000 cases. It is known that the fishermen's union cannery packed 30,000 cases. Of the other packers, some have made the usual packs, while others have failen below last year's output. The fishermen on the upper river have done comparatively nothing, the catches being very light. An up-river fisherman says the men have barely made expenses. On the lower river the men have done better, and all cleaned up good wages. The high men on the lower river have 19 tons to their credit, valued at about $1,500. The seiners have made light catches, but the traps have done very well. Fish are plentiful in the river at present.
