Joe Buttz of Hebo visited in Whiteson this week.

Mrs. Forest started for Tillamook last Saturday. She intends making her home with her daughter who lives there.

Levi Bennett was so proud of his new barn that he went forth immediately and bought shingles to put a new roof on his house.

Miss Ethel Booth of Woods visited her cousin Miss Belle Booth last Saturday and Sunday. She is attending school in Amity this winter.

Our Sunday school is growing in interest and is doing a good work. We have a good superintendent assisted by an excellent corps of teachers.

Uncle Dick Phillips, Jimmie Cruikshank and Mr. Hostenline of this place will harvest about 8000 bushels potatoes this year. There are a number of smaller patches that will swell the aggregate to about 12,000 bushels. No danger of starving in Whiteson this winter.

Frank Franklin of Oretown, son of Jerome Franklin of this place, was in Whiteson a few days since with a load of fish; after selling them out he invested the proceeds in two barrels of cider for the benefit of the Little Nestucca folks. Salmon and cider don't rhyme very well but they are both good all the same.

An unusual accident happened to Archie Graham's pony the other day. It with another horse was running on the commons when they got into a dispute as to which one had the best right to the pomace dump of the cider factory. In the argument that followed the larger horse kicked the pony and broke its leg. The poor thing was shot to end its misery.

Those who believe chronic diarrhoea to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhoea since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. Last fall I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhoea. It is pleasant to take and never fails to effect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by S. Howorth & Co.

CURRENT NOTE AND COMMENT.

Europe is flooded with advertisements of the Klondike region, and a great rush to Alaska may be looked for in the spring. The first railroad to the diggings will be the biggest gold mine.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson says that within ten years this country will be exporting sugar. It is a bold prediction, as foreign sugar costs us $100,000,000 a year, but events move fast in these times.

At the fall of Fort Fisher in January, 1865, the United States owned a more powerful navy than that of England. We need no such navy now, but there is no economy in keeping one too small for the rank of the country.

The late Chas. A. Dana freshened his life with two or three good fads. One was horticulture, and the other a search for poetic gems. His collection of selected poetry is said to be the best book of the kind yet published in this country.

Henry George says he cares nothing for the republic as it is, but will worship the republic that is coming. The coming republic, as it pictures itself to Henry George, is a republic in which Henry George shall be the head boss, with undisputed power to exploit all his social and economical vagaries.

The eminent gentlemen who a few months ago fretted themselves into hysterics about the amount of money in circulation, have not mentioned the fact that, while under President Cleveland the per capita circulation in the country fell to $21.10, it has increased under President McKinley to $22.89.

The way the "money power" of Europe is sending over gold, increasing the reserve in the United States treasury and running up the per capita of money in circulation, is cause enough for alarm. The "power" has its deadly eye on our surplus wheat, corn and cotton, and it knows the yankee weakness for British gold.

According to advance reports from Washington the annual report of the commissioner of pensions will show that there were over 13,000 more pensioners on the roll at the close of the last fiscal year than there were at the end of that preceding. The increase is understood to be owing to the fact that the commissioner took up and disposed of a number of old claims for arrears of pensions which he found on file when he took charge of the office. Others of those claims remain to be passed upon, and it is intimated that the number likely to be allowed will at least meet the reductions on the rolls which may be occasioned by death during the year. The commissioner expects, however, that after the year 1898 the number will begin to drop, and that once it does, it will decline rapidly.
