FRIDAY, DEC. 3, 1897.

OUR good populist friend of Tillamook, P. W. Todd, sends us two silver certificates of one dollar, with the joking remark that "this is populist money, and you may not be able to use it out there." Prince, you are entirely "off" in the claim that this is populist money. If it were, there is no question but your apprehension would be well grounded. These certificates state on their face that "There has been deposited in the treasury of the United States one silver dollar, payable to the bearer on demand." They are not money at all, but we can use them out here in this neck of woods, because the national faith is behind the 412 1/2 grains of silver they represent, which the government has stamped as a silver dollar and paid out to its dependents, employes and creditors as good money. True populist money is fiat money. We have never seen any, but from what we are able to gather from populist orators and writers, it would be simply a piece of paper printed across the face "This is a dollar by authority of law," and then there might be printed on the back a statement of penalties for refusing to give a bushel of wheat in exchange or accept it in payment for a bushel of wheat already owed. That kind of money would make the American eagle come down off his perch.

THE Rev. Thomas Boyd of Portland in his Thanksgiving sermon made some allusions to the rottenness of the city government, and in the course of his remarks said: "It is not a question of gold standard or silver standard, but a question as to whether we have a population of 16 gamblers and harlots and one honest pure youth." Doubtless the good parson intended to administer his rebuke in non-partisan doses, but the great humbug, Pennoyer, who presides over the destinies of the municipality and is something of a silver crank, wrote one of his characteristic letters to the parson and had it published in the newspapers. In it he said: "History is repeating itself. In the time of Elijah there were 450 prophets in Israel, and every one was a prophet of Baal. Now, nearly all the professed ministers of God are worshippers of the gold standard, and their efforts to effect a religious and moral regeneration of the people, while they are laboring at the same time for their moral degradation and physical slavery, will be as impotent as were the prayers of Baal's prophets to bring down the fire of heaven to consume the bullocks which they had laid upon the altar." The mayor of Portland makes an important admission that was stoutly denied by the Bryanites during the last November campaign, viz., that about nine-tenths of the ministers of the gospel in the northern states, and with them the bulk of the christian people, are upholders of republicanism and the gold standard. The people of Oregon have notions of their own as to who are the local prophets of Baal and who is old Baal himself.

THE report of Hon. Benton Killin of Portland, U. S. commissioner, who was sent to Alaska to investigate the agricultural resources of the coast region and ascertain whether it was advisable to establish an agricultural experiment station, has been published. It is adverse to such a project. The investigation appears to have been thorough and intelligently pursued, and the report abounds in interesting facts concerning that part of Uncle Sam's domain. The conclusion reached from reading the report is that fishing, lumbering and mining are the great native resources, which will in time support a hardy civilization of considerable magnitude, from whom the nation will draw seamen for the merchant marine and navy, but agriculture will be a matter of subsidiary interest.

Whatever may be the operation of the new (Dingley) tariff, the restoration of conditions brought about by its passage put into operation millions of dollars which had heretofore been lying idle, and that gave employment to hundreds of thousands of hands. * * * Reporter.

Let us inquire into the truthfulness of the above unwarranted statement by examining the last official report of Comptroller Eckels. Fifteen of Chicago's national banks show deposits amounting to $140,000,000 and loans and discounts aggregating only $52,000,000, an excess of deposits of $88,000,000. A year ago these same banks had deposits of only $57,000,000, while their loans and discounts were $65,000,000, leaving an excess of only $21,000,000. It will be plainly seen that there is, at this time, $57,000,000 more money in hiding in these few banks than there was a year ago. Thus it is seen that the statement of The Reporter is not supported by the facts. It is nothing but a pleasure to us, in the fulfillment of our duty to the people, to be so often called to correct statements, made through either vicious falsehood or inexcusable ignorance of the facts.—North Yamhill Record.

The editor of the Record is a very smart man. He very plainly says so himself, and doubtless if the eye of Comptroller Eckels should fall upon the foregoing bright comment, he would summon the Record man to a clerkship—either that or he would enjoy a hearty laugh.

The statement made by The Reporter is one of fact, patent to every intelligent and fair-minded person. The figures given by the Record simply illustrate and corroborate it. They show that the deposits in these banks have increased $53,000,000, over 60 per cent in the past year, and their loans and discounts $166,000,000. A vital mistake is made in considering the excess of deposits as money in hiding, whereas, it is money that has been brought out of hiding by the increased volume of business being transacted throughout the country. People engaged in business do not deposit their money in stockings or iron chests, but place it in banks, where it is kept in active circulation by the system of checks and drafts. It sometimes occurs during periods of stringency that the circulation of the country becomes congested at the financial centers, notably New York, and certain reserve banks show large excess of deposits that are virtually idle money, but there is a corresponding decrease in the aggregate of bank deposits. That such is not the case at the present time is demonstrated by the November report of the comptroller just received. This report shows that on December 17th, 1896, the 3661 national banks had individual deposits aggregating $1,639,688,397. October 5th, 1897, only 3610 banks were carrying deposits amounting to $1,853,349,128, an increase of $213,660,735. The loans and discounts on the same dates were respectively: Dec. 17th, 1896, $1,883,407,457; Oct. 5th, 1897, $2,051,009,438—an increase of $167,601,981. National banks are not permitted to loan over 85 per cent of their deposits, and very few if any aim to reach that limit, though the increase of loans and discounts in the past ten months has borne nearly that ratio to the increase of deposits.

The fifteen republican majority in the Ohio legislature on joint ballot which the revised count reveals shows that the Buckeye state did well in the recent canvass. It was in the contest for the legislature that McLean put in his most skillful work. Every republican was confident that his party would have a long lead on governor, but no republican supposed that the majority in the legislature would be as great as it is now known to be. Taking into the account the rascality in many shapes which the republicans had to combat, and keeping in mind the tendency of the party vote in that state to shrink in the year immediately succeeding a presidential election in which the republicans were victorious, the victory of 1897 is seen to be one of the most notable in Ohio's history.—Globe-Democrat.

The final analysis of the vote in Kansas shows conclusively that it has returned to the republican fold once more after a long spell of devious wandering. In 1886 the state elected a democratic governor, but at the next presidential election gave the phenomenal republican majority of 82,000. She is getting ready to eclipse that record in 1900. Though defeated last year by a plurality of 13,166, the Kansas republicans this fall carried the state by a plurality of over 9000. Thirty-three counties have changed from a fusion to a republican majority, and the republican gains are general, footing up over 22,000.

CURRENT NOTE AND COMMENT.

Maryland has given a republican majority in three successive elections. The solid south is broken beyond mending.

China appeals to the czar for protection from German aggression. A combination between Russia and China would include more than a third of the earth's inhabitants.

Some of the papers argue that the populist party is dead because it counts for little in the election returns of the year. The populists rejoice that they have converted the democratic party and that answers their purpose.

President Eliot of Harvard, talking about football says: "Everybody cannot play football. It is only the strong and well-built man who can expect to play the game with any degree of success. Therefore I do not favor football for everybody. It is, of course, a valuable exercise to those who, as I say, are able to play it."

The government has just given an order for 50 ten-inch disappearing guns and 10 twelve-inch mortars, and has enjoined haste. This may be taken as an indication that the president does not purpose that the country shall be caught napping in case that Spain proves intractable on the Cuban question.

Within the past twenty years, according to Mulhall, the population of the United States has risen from 45,000,000 to 71,000,000 souls—an increase of 78 per cent. In the same time the value of our exports has risen 175 per cent—that is, three times as fast as the population. And still the democratic party howls that the markets of the world are closed to us because of the protective tariff.

lasting for an hour at a time. The doctors thought the trouble came from my heart. I used to say that if I could only be up around, I should be so thankful, and that it would seem like a miracle if I should be well. The neighbors all know of the poor health I had been in, and how much better I am now. I had asthma for many years, and some nights my breathing was attended with so much difficulty. Sometimes I would have to sit bolt upright in bed. As my general health grew poorer, my asthma grew worse. I had kidney and other troubles and seemed to be generally 'out of sorts.' I heard so much of Hood's Sarsaparilla that I decided to try it, and I experienced great benefit from it. I have recommended it to many people, and I cannot say too much in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have not been in bed for over a year on account of illness." Mrs. S. WATSON, 433 S. No matter how much of a business woman a woman may be, when the little love-god makes up his mind to shoot, there is no protection against his arrow. Yet many a young woman whose affections are already engaged, hesitates to assume the obligations of wifehood and motherhood, because she feels unfitted for them by some physical weakness or disease.

The special ailments to which the feminine organism is liable, not only unfit a woman for happy wifehood and motherhood, but incapacitate her for any sphere of action. No woman can discharge the daily duties of any position with comfort or satisfaction who is constantly weighed down by headaches, backaches and dragging, weakening drains.

Troubles of this nature are not by any means a necessity of womanhood. They are positively and completely cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It imparts genuine health and strength to the womanly organs. It was devised for this one purpose by an eminent specialist in this particular field of practice.

"For several years I suffered with prolapsus of the uterus," writes Miss A. Lee Schuster, of Box 12, Rodney, Jefferson Co., Miss. "Our family physician treated me for kidney trouble, and everything else but the right thing. I grew worse and worse. My body was emaciated, hands and feet clammy and cold, stomach weak, with great palpitation of the heart. I dreaded for night to come for I would suffer with nausea all night and so I continued until some kind unknown friend sent me your book with a marked page. I began taking your 'Favorite Prescription,' contrary to my family's wishes, and I began to improve right away. I have taken three bottles and now I am very nearly well and am very happy, and thank you."
