HON. J. W. MAXWELL is the republican nominee for representative of Tillamook county.

W. H. HARVEY, author of "Coin's Financial School" was operated on in Chicago lately for appendicitis, and is critically ill.

SENATOR Geo. C. Brownell has challenged W. S. U'Ren to a campaign of political debate in Clackamas county.

The populists of Linn county, who refuse to be gobbled up by the democrats, hold a county convention at Lebanon today.

COUNTY warrants in Josephine county sell freely at from 95 to 98 cents, while during June, '96, just before Bryan was nominated, they went begging at 85 cents.

C. O. LEE, the chief of police of Albany, Oregon, is a second cousin of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, the late protector of American interests at Havana.

THE Sioux Indians and some of the Wisconsin tribes want to fight the Spaniards. This suggests a good scheme: Why not send all the Indians to the front, and have more good Indians?

SENATOR Samuel R. Hughes, the oldest merchant continuously in business in Forest Grove, and a highly respected and honored citizen, died of apoplexy last week, at the age of 63 years. He was an Oregon pioneer of 1857.

It is announced from an authoritative source that the election of the fusion legislative ticket means simply the election of Penoyer for United States senator. There is a deep-seated suspicion among the people that this is true.

WHEN W. J. Bryan's book, "The First Battle," was put on the market it brought $1.50. Twenty volumes were sold at auction at Mexico, Mo., the other day at two bits apiece, and the auctioneer had to use eloquence to dispose of them.

THE republicans of Washington county voted vive voce at their convention last week, which was a new departure, and one that gave satisfaction. The plan leaves the will of a constituency open to inspection, and saves a great deal of time and labor in counting the ballot. It is recognized as the fairest plan in a great many of the eastern states.

U'REN of Clackamas is a thrifty man. This conclusion is reached after hearing a resident of Clackamas, who attended court here last week, say that U'Ren had paid off $12,000 worth of mortgages within the past fifteen months. A man who can do that with the $80 received from the legislative boodle is a thrifty man.—Hillsboro Independent.

WHEN we think of soldiers the grizzled faces of veterans are likely to come before us. Nevertheless it is mere boys who chiefly bear the brunt of battle. Age was pushed aside in the civil war. Grant and Sherman were not yet 40 when they came to positions of command, and Sheridan and Hancock and many others of the famous leaders of both armies were only turned 30 when fame overtook them.

PER down a great big mark for the state of Oregon in the matter of furnishing relief for the starving Cubans. The committee of relief at New York city says that this state heads the list, and that they cannot find words to express their admiration for the generosity of our citizens. The first train sent by Oregon was composed of ten cars, and the second, which recently started, contained six. Whatever may be said of Oregon's sleepiness, muddiness and webfootedness, the fact remains that we are not wholly selfish nor oblivious of the sufferings of our fellows, though removed by hundreds of miles.

THE North Yamhill editors do not seem to believe The Reporter's statement that the demo-popo state convention ignored a number of candidates from this county. These men show that they are not on the "inside" in their own party. You may be very well satisfied down at North Yamhill, but wait till the county convention breaks the full slate you have made up for county officers, and you will be in need of a little sympathy yourself.

It is reported that in case of war troops will be concentrated at Chickamauga park. The property is government property. It could be utilized as a great camp of instruction without expense to the government. It is as accessible as any point, and troops could be forwarded to points on the Atlantic and the gulf coast. It may not be well suited to battle maneuvers by brigade, division and corps, but it is undeniable that divisions, corps and armies maneuvered there once upon a time in a way to make the place historic.

PRESIDENT McKinley's message to congress on Tuesday was quite generally disappointing and unsatisfactory. All previous action by the president in the affair with Spain was such as to challenge admiration from conservative minds, but the fact that he ignored the idea of independence of Cuba, and treats as an incident the treacherous outrage against the Maine, neither satisfies the people nor sustains the high standard of national honor established by all former history of the United States. No nation of anywhere near equal rank would have dallied with the question so long. The enormity of the insult and indignity to the United States when the Maine was destroyed has not been fully realized. When the history of this country for the year 1898 is written, it will be the wonder of sister nations that we, so boastful of our resources and prowess, should have held out so long against demanding indemnity for one of the greatest crimes of all the centuries. But there are many things which have justified the president in a conservative course. The early clamor for war was jingoism, pure and simple. It was mouthed by congressmen and party adherents for political capital against the party in power. The distance between this country and Spain operated as a cause for tardiness. The long investigation of the Maine disaster, and the failure of the court of inquiry to locate the responsibility, naturally led a dignified executive to rest the case with the sense of justice of the presumably offending nation, and it is probably still the president's idea that this will be a matter for future arbitration. Wherein the message was unsatisfactory, congress has speedily filled the breach, and by joint resolution has empowered and directed the president to employ the forces of the government to release Cuba from Spanish control. In short, we are entering upon war, for which the nation is far better prepared than if the jingoes had had their way six weeks ago. War is no joke. It means death to thousands who appreciate life, and an expense that never ends. The little Florida war, which lasted seven years and in which only 58 persons were killed, has cost the government in pensions nearly a million dollars for each life. As a result of that war, 6,661 persons are said to be still on the pension rolls and drawing $800,000 a year. Let us hope that the crisis now upon us will be of short duration, before distress and debt shall overwhelm the nation. It is necessary to maintain American honor and American interests, and it is going to be prosecuted till wretched old Spain shall cry enough.

THE house on Wednesday passed the following resolution by a vote of 322 to 19: Resolved, That the president is hereby authorized and directed to intervene at once to stop the war in Cuba, to the end and with the purpose of securing permanent peace and order there, and establishing by free action of the people there a stable and independent government of their own in the island of Cuba; and the president is hereby authorized and empowered to use the land and naval forces of the United States to execute the purpose of this resolution.

MOODY FOR CONGRESS.

After a spirited contest over a double chairmanship and a divided convention, through the intervention of C. W. Fulton of Astoria on behalf of the Mitchellites, the convention for the second district came together in harmony at Astoria on Wednesday. The motion to adopt the report of the committee on credentials, of the regular convention, left the Multnomah factions out of the vote, and resulted 47 votes for adoption and 33 against. Following this, Malcolm A. Moody of The Dalles, son of ex-Governor Moody, was nominated for congress by acclamation, the name of Congressman Ellis not being presented. Mr. Moody accepted in the following terms: "Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention—I deeply appreciate the honor conferred upon me by this nomination. I do not understand that I have been chosen by any sect of men or faction. I accept this nomination from the republican party regularly organized in their district congressional convention. My republicanism has never been questioned. The principles set forth in the St. Louis platform are my principles, and if elected, I pledge my most earnest efforts to serve the state and party faithfully."

No news from the state convention as we go to press. Geer will probably be nominated by acclamation, and T. B. Handley is making a hot contest for the prosecuting attorneyship against our O. H. Irvine.

"I had been in very poor health for several years, and two summers I was so weak I was obliged to lie in bed 3 months at a time. I was all run down, had

Unconscious Spells lasting for an hour at a time. The doctors thought the trouble came from my heart. I used to say that if I could only be up around, I should be so thankful, and that it would seem like a miracle if I should be well. The neighbors all know of the poor health I had been in, and how much better I am now. I had asthma for many years, and some nights

I Could Not Sleep my breathing was attended with so much difficulty. Sometimes I would have to sit bolt upright in bed. As my general health grew poorer, my asthma grew worse.
