WEEKLY CROP BULLETIN.

PORTLAND, ORE., JUNE 20th, 1898.
The crop prospects are better to-day than they were a week ago, when it was reported that they were the best ever seen in Oregon. General rains have fallen over the state during the past week. While some hay was slightly injured by being cut and rained upon, and cherries in localities were slightly injured by the rain, yet the rains were of benefit to late hay, fruit, berries, hops and grain. The crop conditions and prospects to-day are perfect. Unless unprecedented weather conditions prevail, which are not probable, Oregon's crops this year will be greater in quantity and finer in quality than any heretofore gathered.

Weather.—The week has been cool and showery. The temperature averaged 62 degrees, which is 7 degrees lower than for the preceding week and 4 degrees higher than for the same week last year. The highest temperature was 73 degrees, on Friday; the lowest 52 degrees, Monday. The total rainfall for the week ranged from three-quarters of an inch to one inch. The winds were generally southerly. The sunshine was deficient in amount.

Crops.—Haying has been commenced, especially in the southern counties. The grass is ready to cut throughout this portion of the state, but is delayed, owing to the rains. A small amount of hay has been injured somewhat by being rained upon. As soon as the weather becomes fair, haying will be general. The rains have caused some cherries, especially on the lower branches, to rot; the injury is not sufficient to cause a financial loss, as there are more cherries than can be marketed or for which there are facilities for canning. The rains likewise caused some strawberries to rot. While the rains have produced the foregoing, the good they did more than compensates. The spring-sown wheat and oats now promise yields as good, or better than the fall-sown. That the grain crop will be unusually large, there can be no question. Corn is in need of warmer weather. The berry crop is unusually large. Except peaches in portions of the Willamette Valley, fruit is a large crop in every section.

There is no improvement in hops; those that are up have excellent growth. The missing hills will reduce the total yield from one-third to one-half. Flax for fiber is thirty-six inches high; it will be ready to be pulled the latter part of this month. Reports indicate that flax culture is more successful in Oregon than the most sanguine hoped for. Wheat sown on land which last year was used for growing flax, is better than in adjoining fields. Sugar beets are making a fine growth and now promise better returns than they did last year, when the experiment was so successful. Pasturage is good and stock is in prime condition.

A Big Celebration.

Committees on the celebration of the Fourth are actively at work preparing a program of attractions that cannot fail to make a day of great interest and amusement. The celebration will be held in Oak Park, which will be cleaned up for the occasion. The street leading thereto will be sprinkled if need be. Among the features of the parade will be the biggest and best liberty car filled with the prettiest girls ever seen, a young ladies' short skirt sword drill, a battleship manned by boys and in actual operation, a float by the Woodmen and several other lodges, and trades displays of various kinds. The Treble Clef club of ladies will sing, besides solos by Miss Jennie Snyder and Mr. Fred Boardman. Prof. Boardman will give an able address. The Carlton and McMinnville bands are both expected to be present. There will be bicycle, hose and foot races in the afternoon. The Lafayette hose team and perhaps that of Newberg will compete with the home boys. The evening will be illuminated with fireworks. Make it a point to come to McMinnville July 4th.

The managers of the Omaha exposition are grumbling because the newspapers of the country do not advertise the exposition free. So many demands are made on the newspapers for free advertising, that they are compelled to draw the line somewhere. The exposition is now open, and concerts are being given daily by Thomas' orchestra and the marine band, but the attendance is not what it should be. The managers should spend a little money for legitimate advertising with the newspapers. The managers would rather see the exposition fail than spend a little money for advertising. Some people think that advertising is worthless unless it is free.

Last week Mrs. Evenden took Miss Virginia Spencer of our city to Herr Schott in Portland, to obtain his opinion of her voice. Herr Schott is giving a series of recitals for the musical club in Portland. He has been the finest Wagnerian singer in the world, and has a voice of remarkable power and sweetness. In an interesting conversation with the ladies, Herr Schott said that Miss Spencer's voice was wonderful and of beautiful quality, that she had been well trained, especially as to breathing, and that she would eventually have a compass of four octaves, with a bright musical future for her. This is gratifying to Miss Spencer's many friends in our city.
