WEEKLY CROP BULLETIN.

PORTLAND, ORE., July 11th, 1898.

Haying has been in progress during the week in all sections of the state. The weather has been ideal and the greater portion of the hay has been cut; by the close of the current week, practically all the hay will be secured. Considerably more hay is being baled for shipment than in former years. The hay crop is larger and better than usual. Harvesting of fall sown wheat has commenced, and the coming week will find the fall-sown grain harvest well advanced, except over the plateau region. Harvesting of oats, barley and rye is in progress in some sections, and will become general the coming week. Spring-sown wheat is making a good and rapid growth. Many correspondents are of the opinion that spring-sown wheat will make as good a crop as the fall-sown. The wheat already harvested has a plump berry, the heads are large and well filled. Wheat aphid is reported from many sections west of the Cascades, but any damage from them is not expected. Cherries continue to be plentiful. Early peaches are ripening rapidly, and missing hills continue, but the hills that have grown are almost making up for those that are missing. Probably an average of one hill in ten is missing, considering all yards. Hop lice have appeared in force and energetic spraying has commenced.

Corn has been greatly benefited by the warm weather. Flax for fiber is yet being pulled and all is most satisfactory, indicating the superior climatic conditions of western Oregon for fiber growth. Sugar beets are making satisfactory progress.

The fanges are still good, but they have commenced to dry up. Early peaches are ripening rapidly. Cherries and berries continue to be plentiful. Harvesting of fall-sown wheat will become general this week. Unusually large crops of all kinds are assured.

Eastern Oregon, Weather.—The mean temperature for the week averaged 71 degrees, which is 8 degrees higher than for the preceding week and 7 degrees higher than for the corresponding week of last year. The highest temperature during the week was 102 degrees, on Sunday, in the Columbia river valley; in this are being shipped in large quantities. The first ripe peaches this year came from about Blalocks, Gilliam county, in the Columbia river valley. The fruit prospects continue to be excellent; all reports indicate that the trees are filled to overbearing, and more hand pruning will have to be done.

The summer weather conditions have set in. From now until autumn, when the first winter type appears, the weather will be more likely fair than rainy; showers produced by the great mass of moisture-laden air moving from the ocean on the southwest and cooling the air over the land, may occasionally occur. These masses of air, called areas of high barometric pressure, move at irregular intervals, usually, however, at intervals of six days. Rain is also probable from thunderstorms; such occur more over the plateau region than elsewhere. Rain from storm areas will not occur until autumn.

Western Oregon, Weather.—The mean temperature for the week averaged 65 degrees, which is 3 degrees higher than for the preceding week and the same as it was for the corresponding week of last year. The highest temperature during the week was 82 degrees, and the lowest 46 degrees. The maximum temperature averaged 78 degrees and the minimum 52 degrees; these are normal summer temperatures. A sprinkle of rain occurred Saturday morning; with this exception the week was dry.

Crops.—The weather was favorable for the hay harvest, for the ripening of grain, and for the development of fruit, vegetables, and all other vegetation. All the correspondents report the crops in good condition and of excellent promise. Even the hop crop, which heretofore has been adversely reported upon, has some compliments paid it; the valley the maximum temperature for the week averaged 90 degrees, while over the plateau region it averaged 83 degrees. On Saturday thunderstorms occurred, giving from 0.02 to 0.10 of an inch of rain.

Crops.—The harvest of fall-sown wheat has commenced, with yields fully up to most sanguine expectations; the berry is unusually large and plump. The warm weather has caused the fall-sown grain to ripen rapidly. The hot, dry weather has not been favorable to the spring-sown and volunteer wheat, though no injury has so far resulted. Oats and barley are ripening rapidly. The hay harvest has been active and excellent crops obtained. The fall-sown grain is now beyond injury; the spring-sown can only be slightly injured, and that from hot northerly winds.

Fruit continues to promise large yields. Early peaches are ripening, and are being shipped. Apples, pears, etc., continue to promise large yields.

There are no adverse reports concerning any product, but all are most favorable, and a successful harvest appears to be assured.

The O. F. U. A.

The regular quarterly meeting of the board of trustees of the Oregon Fire Relief Association was held on Tuesday of this week. The trustees were all present except Dr. O. D. Butler of Independence. The trustees are quite enthusiastic over the rapid progress the association is making and the good work it is doing. The association has 7,590 members in the state, and Yamhill county heads the list with more than 1,000 members. The rooms now occupied by the association are entirely too small to accommodate the clerical force that is necessary, and the rooms in the McMinnville National bank building now occupied by W. J. Strong have been leased and will be occupied by the association as soon as a vault can be built.

Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr. W. M. Bush, clerk of Hotel Dorrance, Providence, R. I. He says: "For several years I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrating me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I felt symptoms of the disease I would fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction." For sale by S. Howarth & Co.
