FRIDAY, SEPT. 30, 1898.

SOME of the democratic papers say it was sheer luck that won in the recent war. Even that is better than to be mixed up with a party that is neither capable nor lucky.

Mrs. Mary E. Lease has become a spiritualist, and recently closed an engagement with the Indiana Association of Spiritualists to deliver lectures throughout the State. No one will be surprised.

RACE prejudice evidently does not exist in the Oregon legislature. The house elected a colored man, A. D. Griffin of Portland, sergeant-at-arms. He is said to be a son-in-law of B. K. Bruce, who was register of the treasury under Garfield.

A short acquaintance with the article has made the citizens of Havana quite friendly to American money, which now passes without question at gold rates. Wherever civilization obtains a foothold there is no discount on a currency with the United States behind it.

ALL the thin, emaciated looking soldiers returning from the front, who happen to pass through Kansas City, are pounced upon and interviewed by the Star. Those who are fat and brown by the Journal. These two papers are taking opposite sides in the Alger question.—Atchison Globe.

THE opponents of Secretary Alger will find a vindication of their theory in the following incident: An Atchison volunteer, home on a furlough, had to wait two hours for his supper yesterday, because his mother was out gadding. As the boy is still in the service of his country, the mother will be investigated.

President Maso of the so-called Cuban Republic, calls the American people "our ally of yesterday, our host of today and our friend always." This characterization is all right. The American people have shown a friendship for the Cubans without any precedent in the history of the world. They have expended hundreds of lives and hundreds of millions of dollars to give freedom to the Cubans, and they did this, too, without any immediate expectation of gain to themselves. They promised to let the Cubans set up an independent government if the majority of the Cuban people desire it. This promise will be kept. But there is no good reason to suppose that a majority of Cubans want a separate government. When the voting takes place it will undoubtedly be shown that most of the Cubans want to become part of the nation which freed them, and which is able and willing to give them the stability and the progress which they could not gain by a government of their own. Cuba, by the free voice of its people, will annex itself to the American republic.—Globe-Democrat.

EX-SENATOR MITCHELL has written a letter for publication, contradicting a newspaper correspondent's statement that he is a candidate. Coming just at this time, when no one is thinking seriously of forcing the senatorship upon him, it reads a little like a reminder of Barkis' abiding willingness and a desire not to be forgotten. We think the ex-senator is in error when he says he voted with his party in congress, or in conformity with the demands of the Oregon republican platform, on all questions of national importance. If our memory is not at fault, he, together with a handful of free silver democrats, voted with the party of the south against the honest elections bill in 1890. He is correct, so far as his vote on free coinage is concerned. The Oregon republican platform of 1890 declared for free coinage, but that clause of the platform has its place in history as the "crime of 1890," for which John H. Mitchell was primarily responsible.

Harvey Berry of Wheatland has bought property on college side and is moving to town.

THE special session of the legislature organized Monday, without any considerable amount of friction. Joseph Simon was chosen, resident of the senate and E. V. Carter of Jackson county speaker of the house. The governor's message was read the following day. The document is in no sense a striking one, merely calling attention to the work that may be accomplished in clearing the way for efficient work at the general session. By common consent the election of United States senator comes to the front as matter of first importance. The vote in joint session will be reached next Tuesday. The situation in regard to senator is quite the reverse of that two years ago, inasmuch as the "push" seems to have shifted from the defunct Mitchell camp to that of the Simon-Scott-Corbett combination. In other respects it is similar. The rank and file of the party then did not want Mitchell; if they are at present anxious to send Mr. Corbett to the senate they have a quiet way of manifesting the desire. We think we voice the sentiment of most republicans in this locality when we say that while we would much prefer to see Mr. Corbett elected U. S. senator, to any man whose position on the money question is the least equivocal, we would heartily rejoice to see the mantle fall upon shoulders a little younger in years, with the prospect and hope of a future ahead, through service to the interests of the state. There are plenty of such men, but the "push" is running a great game of bluff in putting Corbett forth as the one legitimate and only possible candidate of the party, worship at whose shrine is the only test of loyalty to principle, and using the ghost of Mitchell and free silver to frighten nervous members into his support. Sensible people are aware that the cause of sound money has nothing to fear at the hands of the Oregon legislature, and hence this waving of the Mitchell scarecrow is getting to be worse than an old story. While the financial question is of paramount importance there will be some other matters before congress in which the republicans of Oregon are interested. The democrats and populists in every state where elections are being held this fall, are basing their campaign upon arraignment and denunciation of the republican administration for its conduct of the war. No effort will be spared, inside or outside of congress, to pervert and distort the results of the great victory or to harass the president in the final settlement of the issues of the war. Republicans of Oregon must have a representative in the senate who is in sympathy with the administration on this vital point. In view of the course pursued by his newspaper organ, it is pertinent to inquire if Mr. Corbett fills the bill in that particular.

IS THIS FAIR ?

The Oregonian of Sunday last in a leading article on the first page, discussing the coming senatorial election, contained some statements in reference to Congressman Tongue, which that gentleman denies. On Monday he sent to the Oregonian the following letter:

The Oregonian of yesterday in a leading article upon the coming senatorial election contained references to myself wholly unwarranted. Referring to the action of the United States senate in declining to admit Mr. Corbett upon the appointment of Mr. Lord, you make the following statement:

"Ex-Senator Mitchell left no stone unturned to prevent Mr. Corbett being seated and there is no reason to doubt that Representatives Tongue and Ellis did what they could in the same direction."

So far as the foregoing is intended to imply or intimate that I took any part or endeavored to use any influence with any senator to prevent the admission of Mr. Corbett or to influence votes upon the matter it is without any foundation whatever. I did not communicate with a single senator concerning the merits of Mr. Corbett's right to admission nor for the purpose of influencing his vote either way. Mr. Corbett's right to be admitted depended upon the construction of the constitution and the precedents established by the United States senate. If any one not a member of that body and who had not studied the questions involved nor read the authorities had attempted to instruct United States senators in the discharge of their sworn duty, it would have been a piece of unusual impertinence and probably rebuked as it would have deserved to be.

In the same editorial you say: "An unpleasant story is floating around, which can hardly be believed, but which it may be well enough to notice by way of warning. A plan is said to have been hatched by which the organization of the legislature on its opening day is to be prevented by tactics yet to be agreed upon. A conference held last week between Mitchell, Ellis, Tongue, Fulton, John Hall and one other is said to have evolved this plan of campaign."

So far as this paragraph refers to myself it is untrue in every particular. I have not met nor conferred upon any question with the gentlemen named. Who the 'one other' is it is impossible to say, but I have not met personally nor held any communication with a part of the gentlemen named since returning to Oregon. Have not conferred with any one upon any plan to prevent the organization of the legislature on the opening day or at any other time. Have heard no such plan. Nothing of the kind has been suggested. I have heard of no conference between anybody upon such a subject and certainly have taken part in none. Should the legislature adjourn upon the first day of its meeting and defer the work until its regular session, the state could possibly survive the calamity. Oregon has not usually suffered from a dearth of legislation. But I certainly hope to see this legislature either at the special or regular session act with reasonable promptness in the election of United States senator. I hope to see it elect some gentleman who is competent to discharge the duties of that important position with dignity and honor, who will be a credit to the state, who will attain the position by clean methods and whose election will not be regarded as a factional triumph, but will secure to the republican party of Oregon some degree of that harmony and peace of which it is so much in need. That done, "Let us have peace."

Richard E. Perry died at Manila on August 25th, of typhoid fever, being the first soldier from Yamhill county to die at Manila. He enlisted from North Yamhill, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Perry. The first information received by them of the death of their son was through letters from Capt. Heath and others received on the 24th inst. The parents have the sincere sympathy of all in the loss of their boy while serving his country so nobly.

Snow Balling. About one young woman in ten nowadays would dare to run out bare headed and bare handed and frolic and snow ball in midwinter. They have to be muffled up like hot-house flowers before they dare venture out in severe weather, and even then would shudder at the thought of rolling in the snow as their grandmothers did.

The trouble lies in the fact that too few women enjoy perfect health and strength of the special womanly organism. A woman who is not well and strong locally cannot enjoy good general health. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs concerned in wifehood and motherhood. It is the most perfect and scientific remedy ever devised for the peculiar ailments of women. It restores womanly power, strength and virility. It tones and builds up the nerves which have been shattered by suffering and disease. It corrects all irregularities and derangements and stops exhausting drains. It restores weak, nervous invalids to perfect health. It is intended for this one class of disorders and is good for no other. It is the discovery of Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. No other known medicine can take its place.

"I have been troubled with female weakness that my physician called catarrh of the womb," writes Miss Tean Conner, of Canby, Clatsop Co., Pa. "I doctored for it and did not get better. At last I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I got better right along and when I had taken four bottles was cured. I recommended the Favorite Prescription to a friend of mine. She has been using it and thinks it is wonderful."

Constipation is a little illness that if neglected builds a big one. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe.
