The Store that Advertises

Is the Store that is known, and the Store that is known is the Store that trade goes to, and the Store that trade goes to is the Store that does the business, and the Store that does the business is the Store that can't afford to cheat.

Hence, when we tell you that we never misrepresent our groceries, it is not alone because we do not believe in lying, but we can't afford to. We are told, and are thus given a right to reiterate it, that the customer who steadily buys his groceries of us, comes out ahead of the fellow who buys of our competitors.

This is Our Supreme Aim:

A legitimate profit to us, a satisfied customer when he leaves our store. Suppose you try W. & W.'s store long enough in 1899 that we may make you a customer far into the 20th century.

Respectfully,

Wallace & Walker.

Some Notable Windows.

The Cows memorial windows, three in number, have been placed in position in the new Christian church, Mr. D. L. Povey of Portland, the manufacturer, being present the past week to superintend the work. The aggregate cost of the windows was $900, and they are the contribution and pride of Mrs. Lucy Cows. The largest window is in the north end of the building. Its center piece bears a likeness of the Christ, beneath which is inscribed

In memory of
JOHN WHITE COWLS
Born Nov. 3, 1823, Died Nov. 21, 1896.

Below this inscription is an open bible, bearing the words, "I know that my redeemer liveth." On each side window is the figure of an angel in the attitude of prayer, one with the inscription, "God is Just," the other, "God is Love." The garniture of the center window is clusters of grapes, while that of the side windows is lilies.

The window on the west of the auditorium is dedicated to Mrs. Cows. The center bears a woman, standing with bible in hand. Below is

In memory of
LUCRETIA MARTIN COWLS
Born Sept. 23, 1827, Died Feb. 4, 1892.

Still below this is "Abide in Faith." One side window bears an anchor, the other a cross and crown.

The choir window is in memory of the only child of Judge and Mrs. Lucretia Cows. It bears a likeness of Christ holding scroll with the inscription, "Suffer little children to come unto me." Below this is

In memory of
MARY COWLS
Born Aug. 4, 1865, Died Feb. 7, 1868.

This window is inlaid with vari-colored pebbles picked up by the child while playing on the ocean beach.

At the top of the rolling doors between the auditorium and the lecture room are three windows, one bearing the name of "Frank Abram Powell, Pastor," another "Bernice and Wanda Nelson," and a third, "In memory of Mrs. N. A. Hembree, by W. L. Hembree." The east windows of the auditorium are four in number, gifts respectively of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wallace, Henry Schenk, the builder, Chas. Burgarf, the architect, and Mr. and Mrs. Todd. The first bears the emblem of a sheaf of wheat, the next two, a harp, and the fourth a dove.

In the lecture room at the south and east are memorial windows, the south being that of the C. E.'s. It contains the following: "I press toward the mark, Y. P. S. C. E. For Christ and the church." On the east end Mrs. A. J. Warren has a window in memory of her mother, Mrs. Malinda Butler, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Nelson have one in memory of their daughter, Alice. The center window is the gift of class No. 9, and is inscribed, "From a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith in Christ Jesus."

The new church will probably be dedicated during the month of March, in connection with a series of meetings. The seats are now being varnished, and a new carpet is expected to arrive in a few days for the auditorium. One unfortunate thing about this church is, that the absence of white glass in the windows renders the auditorium very dark, even on a clear day, and something will have to be done to remedy it.

POLYGAMY is being revived in Utah, this former tenet of the Mormon faith being as popular as it ever was. Mormons evade the United States' laws by going on the high seas to have their plural marriage ceremonies performed. Large Mormon colonies in Canada and Mexico are being used as mere cloaks to further polygamy, the Utah "saints" going to these places, taking with them young women who returned to live in their homes.

Obituary.

How true: The old must die and the young may die. "Therefore, be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh." Once more the white-winged angel of death has visited our neighborhood and plucked the sweet little babe who was beloved by all. To see him was to love him. Son of Mr. Charles and Mary E. Taylor. Little Ambery died Feb. 18th, 1899, being 8 months and 7 days old. While we realize that his departure is a great loss to father, mother, brothers and sisters, being their first bereavement, we must bow in humble submission to the will of Him who is too wise to err and too good to be unkind, for we feel assured that the little jewel has changed the sorrows and sufferings of earth for the repose and happiness of heaven. We extend to the bereaved family our deepest sympathy, and hope that goodness and mercy may sustain them in their great affliction. Wm. M. M. Moore's valley, Feb. 21st. 1899.

COMING WEST.

A Large Party in Georgia Has Heard of Oregon's Greatness.

H. C. Edgerton, agent at Trion Factory, Ga., for the Chattanooga, Rome & Southern R. R. Co., has written a local citizen here saying that there are several parties in that town who expect to come to Oregon this summer or early in the fall, and desire information in regard to land and the best place to locate. The party seems to be looking for government land to homestead. The letter has been referred to The Reporter. We would say to Mr. Edgerton concerning vacant public land in Oregon, that the choicest of it is occupied. The total area of public land in the state unappropriated, unreserved, surveyed and unsurveyed aggregates 35,897,896 acres, out of a total of 61,626,218 acres in the state. To a resident of a comparatively level state in the east this would sound like a big opportunity for settlement. But it must be remembered that the vacant land is for the most part sage brush desert or snow covered and barren mountain land. It isn't this character, it is heavily timbered and precipitous, and not well calculated for farming. Of this thirty-five million acres over 28,000 acres lie in this county and belong to the heavily timbered class. Perhaps the residents of the turpentine land of Georgia would be reasonably satisfied to locate in the midst of dense forests and begin the laborious work of clearing a farm, but it should be undertaken with the expectation that it would occupy the best of a lifetime. One thing is true about all this unoccupied land in Oregon, where a farmer can get a foothold he has a soil of unsurpassed richness. If it be timbered mountain land and he can clear it, the land will be highly productive. The same is true of the desert land if it can be irrigated. The best way to come to Oregon is with a little stake sufficient to buy a farm, large or small, which is already improved and ready to bring returns for the investment. These can always be had at a reasonable figure, say from $10 to $100 per acre. That utterance of scripture, "The poor ye have always with you," applies to Oregon as other states, and when we go fishing for immigration we always make it a point to advise the new comer to bring money with him. This will enhance the prosperity of the country by making business for the poor we already have. The great need of this country is institutions to work up raw products that can be grown here, and thus employ the people and make business. Among these are woolen factories, fruit canneries and driers, creameries, flooring and lumber mills, tanneries and packing houses. No county in the state offers greater inducements for capital seeking profitable investment than Yamhill county.

THE SCHOOLS.

COOK BUILDING.

Washington's birthday was observed at our school in a neat manner Tuesday afternoon. The 3d, 4th, 5th and 6th grades assembled in Prof. Scott's room which had been very prettily decorated, and quite an extensive program was given. Miss Kingery, with the 1st and 2d grades of the Columbus school came up and assembled in Miss Williams' room and the following program was rendered: Song, "Our Flag," school recitation, "I'm the Little Red Stamp," Willard Jones; flag play, school; Washington exercises, four boys; recitation, "Washington's Hatchet," Ruth Barzee; drill, "Red, White and Blue;" exercise, "Our Flag," four girls; recitation, "Our Great Heroes," Lester Seibert; "The Crowning of Our Heroes," four pupils; exercise, school; Lincoln exercises, seven pupils; "What our Colors Mean," three pupils; an acrostic; quotations and singing; "How Washington Looked," Walter Gaunt; "A Hundred Years too Soon;" song, "Raise the Banner;" recitation, "Our Flag," Earl Wardle; "How Betsey Made the Flag;" chorus, "Three Cheers;" "We won't Forget," Bertie Weaver; "Three Emblems;" recitation, George Prentiss; song, "Come, Children;" "Which General?"
