How many graves are there in Masonic cemetery? George Kaufman, by request, has counted them, and finds there are 444, including 13 in the potter's field. As the cemetery is about a quarter of a century old, this would be a yearly average of about 18, but as a number of them represent reinburments, the average would be even less than this.

There is a balance of about $400 in the treasury to the credit of the county bicycle fund. A good many riders are asking why some of this can't be expended on the bumps that have grown in the paths since they were built. One man in a short time could smooth over a big lot of path. They are quite rough in places, especially between here and Dayton.

Mr. A. M. Waddell brought to this office on Tuesday a selected sample of his French White wheat. The heads are about six inches long and contain from 60 to 75 big fat grains. With 60 grains to the head and a reasonably good stand, farmers count on a yield of at least 40 bushels to the acre. Mr. Waddell began cutting one of his fields that morning, and says he rather expects about 28 bushels to the acre. This variety of wheat will weigh about 142 pounds to the sack.

Robert McDonald returned from a visit to the Mammoth Boss mine in northern California on Monday. The owners of this mine are daily looking for the development of something big, and stock is likely to go up. They are now in a 3-foot vein which is believed to be a feeder to the main ledge. It yields $45 to the ton, but the company are looking for something bigger. The shaft is over 500 feet long, and it is figured that only a few feet less yet to be blasted out to reach the main ledge. W. D. McDonald, who's also interested, is down there at the present time.

The Chemawa ball boys defeated the Multnomahs in Portland Saturday by a score of 4 to 3. At Independence the same day was a game between the Independence team and a nine of railway officers and employees. The town team won by 13 to 12. The receipts went to the soldiers' monument fund.

That was a close call to a damaging fire Saturday afternoon just after the close of the matinee at the opera house. A ladder fell against a lighted lamp and the ignited oil ran down under the stage. An alarm of fire was turned in, but by active work the show people had the blaze extinguished before the fire boys were on the scene.

Miss Eda Mills, through the recommendation of Dr. Vanscoy, formerly of the Portland university, has been elected to the position of piano instructor in Wesleyan university at Helena, Mont., and will enter upon her duties in September. Miss Mills is a very worthy young lady, whose many friends will learn with pleasure of this advancement in her profession.

While picking cherries from the top of a tall Royal Anne tree Monday evening, Fred Cooper sustained a fall of about 30 feet, the limb on which he was standing breaking, and coming down on top of him. He was severely bruised on the shoulder, side and leg, and for a time was rendered insensible. After a few days, when Fred gets about again, he will probably draw a picture, showing how it all happened.

Mrs. H. L. Heath and son Bertie returned Tuesday morning from their visit to San Francisco. The boys are reported as looking quite well for the most part, and mighty anxious to get home. They are surprised at the inadequate idea the home folks have of the magnitude of the undertaking before the government to suppress the insurrectionary Filipinos. They say they have not been told the whole truth of the situation. At the present rate of fighting it will take years and years to get the natives under subjection. They blame Gen. Oils for this. Capt. Heath is bringing with him a Filipino boy, Manuel Robles, aged 13 years, bright as a new dollar, but the homeliest Filipino on the islands, according to Chaplain Gilbert. The little native has been in demand in San Francisco to lead the cake walks, and an effort has been made to secure him as an attraction at the Omaha exposition. There is probability of his being kidnapped before the Captain can get him home. When the soldiers marched through San Francisco, Manuel looked up at the tall tower of the Call building, and then at the crowds of people, and remarked, "Filipino no use to fight 'Mericans!" The soldiers will be mustered out on the 7th of August, and will start home at once, expecting to get here about the 10th or 12th. Tom Warren is recovering from a spell of malarial fever, Willie Ungerman is looking bad for him, who used to be so rosy, and Frank Thompson's face is not disguised as badly as one would expect. They will come home laden heavily with souvenirs of war.

H. P. Webster and family accompanied by Mrs. Mary E. Wood and son Clarence, have returned from the coast, where they spent a pleasant week at McPhillips' camping ground. These people, with many others, agree that Mr. McPhillips has the most delightful camping place near Woods.

Harvest is beginning in earnest this week. The fall grain is filling out well, and the cool weather has been favorable to the uniform and complete heading out of the grain. There is no trouble with the aphid, and the grain stalks are of a beautiful golden yellow shade, which indicates a healthy condition. The hay crop is also immense, especially the cheat. Clover hay has been so plentiful that in some places it has sold for $3 a ton in the field.

Albert J. Brazee, A. F. Prescott and E. P. Crowne have been appointed captains in the volunteer army from this state. Brazee is a Portland boy who went to Manila as lieutenant and battalion adjutant of the Second Oregon volunteers. Prescott is from La Grande and went to Manila as captain of Co. D. Crowne was formerly adjutant of the regiment and is from Portland.

The Shaw Dramatic Co. closed last week very successfully. For years no show company has had the appreciation of the McMinnville people as they secured it, the attendance growing larger every night. The Wednesday night performance, "From Sire to Son," seemed to be regarded as the best of the week by most people. The company is in Forest Grove this week. Next week they go to The Dalles, thence to North Yakima, and about the middle of August will fill an engagement at the Marquam Grand. They say they will again visit McMinnville in about six months.
