Hon. Nathan Pierce, for a number of years a conspicuous figure in the politics of Umatilla county and of Oregon, and in 1894 the populist nominee for governor, died of heart disease in San Francisco July 26th. His opponents for governor were Lord, Republican, and Galloway, Democrat.

Don't think you can cure that slight attack of dyspepsia by dieting, or that it will cure itself. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will cure it; it "digests what you eat" and restores the digestive organs to health. Rogers Bros.

The court house ring has never been satisfied since their defeat at base ball by the professors, doctors and lawyers, and so another game has been arranged for Saturday (to-morrow) afternoon at the college grounds. Admission to all, 10c. Proceeds go to reception fund. The winners of this game will challenge any non-professional nine of business men in the county.

If bound for the mountains or coast, remember Elsie Wright has new tents for sale or rent.

Prof. Wm. Scott was a visitor at the Chautauqua assembly most of the session last week. He went down to play ball with the Y. M. C. A.'s of Portland, but was not permitted to play, on the score of non-professionalism. He says DeWitt Miller's lecture was far better than Sam Jones', in his judgment. He describes Sam as always preceding his shafts of invective by hiding his face with his hands and chuckling in his sleeve.

The "Prison Missionary" is the name of a monthly four-page paper, published at the Oregon state penitentiary. On the editorial page, L. J. Sprague, proprietor and sole manager states: "God willing: Will be published monthly by prisoner No. 2409, in cell 133, Oregon penitentiary." A bible quotation follows the heading on the first page, which is devoted to poetry. The body of the matter is about the Christian religion, and the editor exhorts his fellow prisoners to follow Christ, and when they get their freedom, to lead a new life.

Jesse Turner and G. D. Winton, two young men of this city, were breaking a colt to drive to a cart last Saturday, and when out six miles towards Dayton the animal got beyond their control. Winton jumped and saved himself, but Turner had the lines and held to them with true grit for a considerable distance, but was compelled to let go. The horse ran about a mile without damage and was stopped. In the fall Turner's leg was bruised and Dr. Baker on examination found some of the ligaments torn at the knee joint. After the horse was recovered the boys drove the same colt back to town.

Messrs. R. A. Harris, Matt. Redmond and Henry Oliver returned from their deer hunt Saturday evening. They camped on the top of Bald mountain, and during the week each man succeeded in killing a deer, all within a short radius of the camp. One of the deer was shot by both Harris and Oliver, but the former gives the latter credit for the killing. The venison was excellent and the boys generously shared with their friends as far as the supply would reach. During the absence of the hunters a very amusing picture was fixed up and placed in Henabee's window, showing how bears had taken possession of the entire camp. Luckily the boys met no such dire fate.

Other Counties Swell the Figures.

On the showing made by The Reporter last week of free locks at Oregon City, J. C. Cooper of this place has figured that it means 3 1/2 tons of freight for each inhabitant, and has sent the board of engineers the following showing:
The territory interested in the locks at Oregon City are the counties of Benton, Lane, Linn, Marion, Polk and parts of Clackamas and Washington. The state board of agriculture gave the population of these counties in 1898 as follows:
Benton, 7,500; Marion, 33,000; Lane, 22,000; Polk, 11,200; Linn, 19,000; Yamhill, 16,000—total 108,700.

Add to this 10,000 in Clackamas and 5,000 in Washington gives a total of 123,700. This territory is engaged in the same class of pursuits and industries as Yamhill, which, at the ratio of 3 1/2 tons to the inhabitant, will give 432,950 tons as the product affected by the locks at Oregon City, which at 50 cents a ton, aggregates $216,475, as the annual drain from the pockets of the producers and shippers of this section.

Warehouse Notice.
I am now prepared to handle and store grain on as favorable terms as any house in the county. My house is in first-class condition and it will be run by honest and competent men, who will treat you fairly. Reasonable compensation will be charged, as I don't intend to steal your grain or cheat you in weights; nor do I expect to grind and market your grain, while you are paying insurance on it, but purpose having it on hand when called for. I have noticed that people who pretend to do business for nothing usually make someone pay for it. I don't depend on the popularity of an "agent" for patronage, and in proof of the truthfulness of my promises sign my own name to my notices, and don't hide behind the name of an employe. Your patronage is solicited. Call and see me before going elsewhere.

Good Pianos.
When it comes to buying a piano, an article that is to occupy the most prominent position in your household, perhaps for a lifetime, we argue that you take no chances whatever in buying from an old established firm that has made a name and record that can be acquired only by a test of many years. If you buy either a Fischer, Ludwig, Knabe, Hardman or Harrington there is one sure thing, you are getting a good piano. Either of the above names on the front board of your piano signifies that you have not only bought a good high-grade piano, but that you have also bought it from Portland's leading music store,

Notice to Bridge Builders.
Notice is hereby given that the board of commissioners of Yamhill county, Oregon, will receive bids for building and constructing a bridge span, and approach to the same from the north bank, across the South Yamhill river at McMinnville, according to plans and specifications on file with the county clerk. Bids to be opened on the 9th day of August, 1899, at 1 o'clock p. m. The right to reject any or all bids is reserved.
J. H. NELSON, Co. Clerk.

Notice.
We are prepared to furnish cook wagons out complete. Groceries, bread, dishes and vegetables. Make your list and get our prices. We can save you money if given a chance.

Getting Ready for Business.
Mr. N. C. Christenson will again have charge of the Grange warehouse at McMinnville. He is having E. B. Collard, the skilled mechanic, thoroughly overhaul the cleaners, making them every whit as good as new. Other changes are being made in the machinery that will practically double their facilities for handling grain. Elevators are being constructed from the cleaners to carry the screenings to the choppers, and every patron's grist will be dealt with separately and cared for in a systematic and painstaking manner. Wayland Hunsaker is to run the cleaners, Jerome Derby the chopper and John Waugaman the engine. S. I. Hibbs will also be employed. This is a force that will make the wheels hum. A new driveway is being built. The management respectfully solicits the wheat raiser's patronage when he begins to toss the sacks of golden grain.

A visit to the Yamhill locks this week showed that a big amount of work has been expended on that improvement. The west wall is finished and all but about 50 feet of the east wall of the lock. These walls are about 200 feet long and each is 8 feet wide, all solid cement. About three days and nights more will see the east wall completed. Then the gates have to go in, and they are all ready for the joining. Following this will be the dam, which will also be a piece of solid cement, to be built in V shape and constructed well into the bank. It seemed to be the opinion that it will be about the middle of November before the work is finished. Two crews of 50 men each are working like beavers day and night.
