FRIDAY, AUG. 18, 1899.

WHY should we condemn Col. Bryan because he pays taxes on a magnificent family carriage? Better give the devil his due, and if it is proven that the Col. pays taxes on the carriage give him a medal for honesty.

Gov. Chandler of Georgia lately issued a proclamation against crime in his state. His constituents evidently accepted it as a joke, for they immediately committed four murders, two assaults on women, a duel, a riot on a train and more attempts at lynching.

THE few "old aunties" who want to trade off the Philippines for the island of Jamaica should remember that if Great Britain can establish a stable government in the Philippines we ought to be able to accomplish as much. Americans are the equals of Englishmen in intellect. History gives us the honor of possessing superior military skill over Great Britain. Why, then, should we hesitate to do that which she would be only too glad to undertake.

THE United States enters the Philippines with conditions favoring it infinitely more than Egyptian conditions favored England when she stepped in to rescue the country of the Nile from the savage hordes and forces of barbarism, who had destroyed all that former years of civilization had accomplished. Under British administration Egypt has made most rapid progress. The United States can do as great work in the Philippines as England has done for the natives of Egypt, and, in so doing can benefit itself to a vastly greater extent.

RETURNING volunteers complain because Gen. Otis held them back—restrained their impetuous natures when they were anxious to smite the enemy. For cautiously guarding his army he has been dubbed "an old granny" by those patriots who remained safe at home. From the latter class the assaults are intended to discredit the administration in the conduct of the war. However, under the orders of Otis our troops in the Philippines have met no reverse or check, and with a full knowledge of the situation in the islands gained by actual fighting, the approaching campaign will be prosecuted with telling effect.

TREAT Great Britain's military officers with courtesy, but don't, with all their protestations of friendship, place too much confidence in the wily Briton. Just now the dim shadow of war is hovering over the Alaska boundary question. The Canadian forts are being reinforced and supplied with new ordnance. Then, along comes one of the British army's big guns, Col. Lee, who is met at Astoria and shown through the fortifications at the mouth of the Columbia, by order of our courteous secretary of war. The information gained by the inspection of our seaward defenses could be used against us in the event of war. Therefore, treat visiting warriors with courtesy flavored with caution, remembering that the friend of today may be the foe in the nation's next encounter.

INCOMPETENT officers could not send back to their homes after a busy campaign in the jungles, three regiments in as good condition as were the Oregon, Pennsylvania and Nebraska. These regiments had the hardest part in the Philippines, and the fact that their combined mortality was less than 130, will enable them to disprove the statements of yellow journals that the war is a failure. The regiments have seen hard service, in the line of a soldier's duties, which the most of them doubtless counted upon when they entered the service. But their general health and fine appearance after their work is finished will show how well Otis has guarded their health, secured them the vantage ground in fighting and preserved them from disaster.

THERE are expansionists and expansionists, according to their geographical environments. The people of Boston are pleased with our acquisition of Porto Rico, and their cooped-up intellects are wondering why no one thought of adding this fertile strip to our possessions before. The lower Atlantic and Gulf states can discern the greatest blessing imaginable in the United States possessing Cuba. San Domingo, also, if she desires, might come under the sheltering wing of our eagle. Hawaii broke in almost before they realized the enormity of the situation. As for claiming the Philippines—well, that is different. The gateway to the orient opens on the Pacific coast, and the little anti-expansion fish are jealous of our increasing trade relations.

The Chicago woman who recently offered a reward of $300 for her lost pet poodle, and who has no claimants for the prize, is now inclined to fear the wiener wurst.

It is suggested by a cynic that Italy shows more interest in the safety of her subjects in the United States than she does in the safety of those in Abyssinia, perhaps for the reason that there is more money in the former.

From Chicago comes the announcement that more pianos have been shipped west and southwest in the past three months than in five years before. This looks as though the people of the west were able to indulge in luxuries, and it tells a somewhat different story from that with which the country became so familiar during the dark days of Cleveland.

ONE man agrees with Havemeyer, and that is Colonel Bryan, who is a confessed trust buster. Just how a policy could be formed to meet the views of the head of one of the most audacious of the robber class of trusts and Mr. Bryan is not quite clear. Perhaps there is something in Havemeyer's philosophy Mr. Bryan does not quite understand.—Tacoma Ledger.

To ascertain whether the Pacific coast is sinking into or rising out of the ocean is the mission of Prof. G. K. Gilbert, of the United States geological survey, who arrived in Seattle lately. Prof. Gilbert will study the coast line as far south as San Diego, Cal. The data to be obtained for the protection of coast property and will be of value to large engineering enterprises.

"It is a great price we are paying for the Philippines," remarks one of the Boston tribe of Tagals. Here we discover the misconception of a low order of mind. In sending men to Manila and pouring out treasure to support the war, we are not paying for the Philippines—we are supporting our own character for recognition of duty, constancy in devotion to duty, and courage to stand up under onerous responsibilities. It is for ourselves—for national honor—that we are doing the work in the Philippines.—Oregonian.

RECENTLY the Mormon authorities at Salt Lake have increased their missionary force in the south. After the United States government some years ago notified foreign governments that it would resist the importation to this country of polygamists or of converts to Mormonism, the Utah Mormons made a greater effort in the southern states, in the territories and in Mexico. There was agitation against them at once in Mexico, and the United States government asserted its authority in the territories. Now it appears that the hostility against Mormonism has taken violent form in Georgia, Kentucky and Tennessee. No doubt the recent revelations as to the practice of polygamy in Utah in violation of law have much to do with this fresh outbreak.

One of the latest anti-expansion rumors is that a republican anti-expansion ticket will be put in the field next year, headed by Geo. Boutwell, who was once secretary of the treasury. As the anti-expansionist propaganda in the republican party consists of only a few followers of Boutwell, the proposed ticket will not be dangerous to republican success. It is probably a plan of the anti to frighten the present administration from its course. According to this gossip, the new ticket is to be called the "continental republican," and though it is not believed that it will be possible to get ex-Speaker Reed's consent to head the ticket, he is counted on as one of its most effective supporters.

A Mother Tells How She Saved Her Little Daughter's Life.

I am the mother of eight children and have had a great deal of experience with medicines. Last summer my little daughter had the dysentery in its worst form. We thought she would die. I tried everything I could think of, but nothing seemed to do her any good. I saw by an advertisement in our paper that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was highly recommended, and sent and got a bottle at once. It proved to be one of the very best medicines we ever had in the house. It saved my little daughter's life. I am anxious for every mother to know what an excellent remedy it is. Had I known it at first it would have saved me a great deal of anxiety and my little daughter much suffering. Yours truly, Mrs. Geo. F. Burdick, Liberty, K. I. For sale by Howarth & Co.

In the respect of a high order of intelligence, upright character, courage and patriotism, they have had no superiors in any army in the world. They have deserved well of their state, well of their country. It now remains for the people of Oregon, in our subsequent conduct toward these boys, in assisting to lighten their burdens and smooth their pathway through life, to show that we are worthy of these heroes, and worthy of the courage and sacrifice displayed in our behalf.

In this conflict as in every deserving enterprise, Old Yamhill has been well to the front. You have reason to be proud of your soldier boys. Let the monument in your public square be erected so high and so promptly that it will attest, not only their valor, but that you appreciate and honor, and are worthy of their glorious achievements.

—THOS. H. TONGUE.

General "Joe" Wheeler, while attending the Omaha Greater American exposition the other day, met in the ranks of the Third Nebraska regiment a man who acted as his orderly during three years of the rebellion. They had not met since 1865.

The Amen! of marriage is always a baby. With out it, wedlock is a summer field that never blooms, a flower that never buds, a night without stars, a sermon without a benediction, a life without prayer without an Amen.

There never was a husband worthy of the name, who did not aspire to be the father and the grandfather of healthy, capable children to hand down his name and the fortune accumulated by the sweat of his brow, from generation to generation. There never was a wife fit to bear that noble title, who did not wish to wear womanhood's most glorious crown, the sceptre of motherhood. Thousands of wedded couples, otherwise happy, fall short of wedlock's greatest happiness because they are childless. In the majority of cases, this is because the wife, through ignorance or neglect, suffers from weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine. For women who suffer in this way there is one great medicine that does not fail to accomplish its purpose. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on the delicate organs concerned and makes them strong, healthy, vigorous, virile and elastic. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and tones the shattered nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. It quickens and vitalizes the distinctly feminine organism. It banishes the maladies of the expectant months and makes baby's introduction to the world easy and almost painless. It insures the little new-comer's health and nourishment in plenty. It is the best supportive tonic for nursing mothers.

Mrs. Jennie Parks, of Marshall, Spokane Co., W. Va., writes: "I am glad to tell of the good results of your great medicine—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was benefited by your medicine in confinement. It gives me strength. I have no tired feeling and my baby is the picture of health. I feel better than I have in ten years."

In cases of constipation Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used as an adjunct to the "Favorite Prescription," they are extremely simple, perfectly natural and insure prompt and permanent relief.

A Mother's Plain Words

"I suppose you will be astonished when I tell you that six years ago I was in a most dangerous condition with bronchitis and lung trouble, because you can see how well and strong I am now. The attack at that time caused terrible pain in my chest and lungs. I could hardly move, and to stoop caused intense suffering. Someone advised Ack-er's English Remedy, and I thought I would try it, although I confess that down in my heart I had little faith in it. The first bottle gave great relief, and the second bottle made me the healthy woman I am today. My husband's lungs are weak also, and he cured himself with the same grand old remedy. Our boy and girl have both been saved by it from death by croup. I know this is so, for when they were attacked in the night I had a bottle in the closet, and by acting quickly that fatal malady was easily overcome. We always give it to the children when they have a cough or cold, and we would not be without it for anything. My sister will tell you also, if you ask her, that it is a medicine that can always be depended upon for all the troubles of the breathing organs. I tell all our neighbors about Ack-er's English Remedy whenever I get a chance, and there are plenty of people around Mechanicsville, N. Y., where I live, who would no more think of going to bed at night without a bottle of it in the house than they would of leaving their doors wide open. As I look at it, parents are criminally responsible when they allow their children to lie under their very eyes with croup, because here is a certain remedy that will conquer the terrible monster every time."

(Signed) Mrs. FLOYD FOWLER.
