FRIDAY, SEPT. 15, 1899.

It is said that Portland dealers are not able to fill the China orders for flour which have been booked, for the reason there are no ships to carry it.

A BEGGARS' trust is reported in New York. One man controls forty mendicants, feeds, clothes and cares for them and handles their daily collections.

CAPT. DREYFUS was probably convicted on the ground that a Frenchman has no right to be innocent after being suspected by a superior officer.

THE truth seems to be that the whole country is looking to the Pacific coast as the stage of great impending trade and industrial developments. It is our critical time, and calls for work and enterprise.

A HOP sale of the 1899 crop was consummated in Eugene, on the 7th inst., when William Seavy sold to Horst Bros., twenty-four bales of the Fugles variety for 10 cents per pound. Generally these early hops do not bring as good a price as the later ones.

THE difference of $14.50 per ton in the price of wheat in San Francisco and Portland last week would indicate that something was wrong with the Portland market. Portland has the same advantages of deep water facilities as San Francisco, and such a vast difference in favor of the latter city's wheat market should not exist naturally.

THE clouds over south Africa lightened and darkened as the days go by, and those who hope for "peace with honor" are one day depressed and the next day elated. Certainly toward no other spot in the British world are the eyes of her majesty's subjects so steadily turned during these summer weeks, for it is realized that the choice between peace and war is being made, not in London as some pretend, but by the men who cluster about the veteran Kruger.

SCIENTIFIC men who have been viewing the moon, and Mars and other celestial planets through the telescope and drawing conclusions therefrom, inform a startled world that this world is gradually drying up. This statement may be based upon strict scientific reasoning, and the most just analogies accessible, and the earth, in very truth, may be slowly drying up. But Oregonians, while they hustle to get their magnificent crops in out of the wet, are ready to exclaim, with all due respect to the worthy professors, however, that long after the earth has dried up, Oregon will shine with her accustomed smile between showers.

THE president of the Argentine republic has lately visited Brazil with a large delegation of congressmen and other public men, and there is much talk of alliance and increased intimacies of a commercial and political nature in South America. No attention need be paid to the rumor that these neighborly interchanges are due to jealousy of the growing power of the United States. Nothing could be more natural and proper than that there should be commercial reciprocity and great intimacy between two countries situated like Brazil and the Argentine republic, each of which produces for export many things that the other needs. Whatever tends to make South America peaceable, industrious, progressive, and prosperous will promote in turn the interests of the United States. A more highly developed South America may not want our flour; but it will want increasing quantities of machinery and manufactured wares of the kind that we are now sending in immense quantities to Europe.

WHEN the negro regiments reach the Philippines it will look dark enough for Aguinaldo.

THE attempt on the part of certain leaders of the democracy to create new issues and minimize the silver talk, is disturbing to the free-silver element in Colorado, the only "sure thing" of the northern states for the democracy.

OREGON farmers evidently had considerable wheat left over from last year. During the month of August last, five cargoes of 550,000 bushels, valued at $329,000, were put afloat. In former years August shipments were very light, sometimes none being made.

At this late day and age of the world an Oregon newspaper has an article on "The Fallacy of the Gold Standard." It would be as much to the purpose to write an article on the fallacy of the multiplication table or the fallacy of the leading law of hydrostatics.—Oregonian.

THE Pacific Democrat, published at Portland, has made its appearance, and among the few things which it starts out to advocate, are direct legislation, anti-imperialism, government ownership of railroads, telegraphs, mines, etc., free coinage of gold and silver, and a graduated income tax.

UTAH is still occasionally replenishing her treasury with $100 fines from Mormons who evade the anti-polygamy laws, the latest saint to plead guilty and pay his fine being Heber J. Grant, one of the twelve apostles. The effrontery of the Mormon leaders is something enormous, since one of the polygamous tribes has been allowed to take his harem to Washington.

NEXT Monday at Portland, the question of government purchase of the locks at Oregon City will be determined. Lafayette will send a representative to the meeting of the board, and it is not improbable that all of the towns that are tributary to the highway of the Willamette will be represented there in some manner. McMinnville should not do less than other towns of minor commercial importance, and if our interests in an open river cannot be made known in any other manner, we too, should send a delegate to set forth our reasons why a government ownership of the canal and locks would benefit producers and shippers. The toll of half a dollar per ton charged on the freight that goes through the locks is a considerable item. Should the government acquire the locks by an honest purchase and abate this toll the interior would certainly be much benefited.

LAST Sunday was a gloriously fine day, but fearful of the shadow of a not improbable extreme in the opposite weather condition, many threshing crews and hop-picking parties improved the hours from dawn till dark, endeavoring to house the abundant crops that the soil has yielded, excusing themselves for the violation of the commandment forbidding any labor on the Sabbath day, by calling to mind Christ's parable about the ox falling into the ditch and being helped out on the Sabbath. Those people who were busy at work that day evidently believed that, as the creator and ruler of the universe had appointed the seasons, fixed the immutable laws of evaporation and condensation, and set the air currents in motion, causing rain to fall alike upon the just and the unjust, it was their duty to gather that which their labor had produced, in order to guard themselves and those dependent upon them from suffering and want, should a continued rainfall prevail. And in so doing they believed they were performing a more holy mission than if they were idly waiting for a revolution of nature's laws in their behalf, and not trying to help themselves. Farm labor is not attractive; the hours are long and the work monotonous, but the farmer must improve the hours of the harvest season, and it often happens that he is called upon to aid his neighbor in lifting his burden. A cheerful compliance with the request under adverse circumstances illustrates the brotherhood of man, which is an essential element in our peaceable dwelling together. One of our city ministers last Sunday remembered in his prayer the hop pickers and the threshing machine men, and hoped that, while they were not privileged to worship with the congregations on that day, they would imbibe divine inspiration from the golden sunshine and the clear, blue sky above.

AN Indiana man who was rejected fifteen times as an army recruit built himself up by gymnastics until he passed. He is a chip off the old American block.

THE Santiago editors who are fighting duels over the election of members of the city council will learn after a few more trials not to be annoyed or disappointed by anything that a ballot-box may be guilty of.—Globe-Democrat.

EVERY time the government allows the so-called anti-imperialists to hold a conference, however, the rebels are inspired with fresh confidence in their ability to make the United States government recede from its position. Consequently, General Funston's remark might be improved and strengthened if it were made to read, "The way to end the war in the Philippines is to whip the rebels and muzzle the rebel sympathizers."

NEVER before has Oregon been so well advertised throughout the east as it has been this year. Every excursion train to reach the Pacific coast this season has carried back enthusiastic admirers of the Willamette valley who are sounding its praises from Maine to the Missouri. Oregon farms are being bought by people from all over the east, who desire to make their homes in a land that offers them every advantage financially and socially.

THERE is no reason why the United States government should not assume jurisdiction over the conference of rebel sympathizers to be held in Chicago this month. If treason is preached in the conference the ringleaders should be promptly arrested. Thousands of the best young men of America are now moving to the re-enforcement of their brethren in the Philippines. Every word of sympathy spoken for Aguinaldo and his banditti will mean mischief for these defenders of the flag.

SENATOR Morgan, of Alabama, prophesies that expansion will be the salvation of cotton, and is about to start a crusade in the south to spread the new gospel and set the anti-expansion democrats to thinking. In his prophetic vision, he sees Manila, instead of Liverpool, the great cotton market of the world. He predicts that the time is coming when an American city in the Pacific islands will handle two-thirds of the cotton in the world, and save billions of dollars to the cotton growers of the United States.

THE democratic organs these days have much to say about the drummers and trusts and how they intend voting the democratic ticket next year to get rid of the trusts. That will be one way of getting rid of the trusts, but it would also likely rid the drummers of their employment. Traveling men know very well that a larger number of them are on the road since Mr. McKinley was elected president than before. Times were so dull during the reign of the Wilson tariff law that a large portion of the traveling men were laid off, and those on the road were scarcely able to do any business.

Manila, Sept. 3, 10 p. m.—Many Spanish prisoners are escaping from the Filipinos and bringing into the American lines stories of hard treatment. They agree that the Filipinos are exceedingly short of rations, and that a large section of their troops is reduced to the use of home-made black powder. The natives are trying every scheme to get food and munitions from Manila. Daily arrests are made for attempts to smuggle contraband of war through the American lines. In one case a cargo with a cargo of bamboo poles was overhauled, and the poles were found full of rice.

LIEUTENANT PEARY had his toes frozen off in his last trip in search of the north pole, and now he wants to try another trip. Some people never realize when they have enough.

In one of his speeches to the Grand Army, the president referred to the private soldier, "he who has no insignia of rank but the one blue blouse." The president wore it himself, yet found it no bar to the highest promotion.

This is rapidly coming to be a nation of manufacturers as well as of farmers and shopkeepers, with incidentally some first-class fighting men.

There were stages of the Dreyfus court martial when the French government was afraid that the whole truth would not be revealed and other stages when the fear was that it was.

The delegates to the national trust congress are exhibiting excellent taste and judgment in refusing to give their views to the public until they shall have studied the question they are about to discuss. The trouble is most congresses discuss questions first and study them afterward.

SCARCITY of workmen and high prices for common labor now characterizes the industrial situation throughout the Northwest. Such conditions are not conducive to the agitation of calamity theories. Prosperity is silencing many political demagogues.

THE Dreyfus fiasco is causing a general statement in favor of boycotting the world's fair to be held in Paris in 1900. It has even been proposed to get up an opposition exhibit in some country to be agreed upon by the powers.

CORNELIUS VANDERBILT is dead and someone else will succeed to his vast millions. Death cares no more for wealth than for the dirt and squalor of the pauper; he has a way of calling for all classes, and all seasons appear to be his own.

Not an idle man who really wants work is to be found in the land, and yet there are some who, having forgotten about Coxey and his army of the unemployed, obstinately claim that the advance wave of McKinley prosperity has not struck the country. Fortunately such calamity howlers and cranks are fast lessening in numbers.

In military prisons an offender is sometimes sentenced to carry cannon balls from one place to another and pile them up all day long. That is all. Perhaps it does not seem very terrible but it soon wears his life out. It is practically a death sentence, and he knows it; he would rather be shot. Many a sick man feels the same way about the burden of disease that he is lugging back and forth from day to day. He would as soon be down with a mortal disease. It will come to that sooner or later.

A man's life can be dragged out by dyspepsia and liver complaint. The experience of Mr. J. T. Cardwell, of Fall Creek Depot, Pittsylvania Co., Va., shows how Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery saves people from consumption by waking up their nutritive organism and giving it power to supply pure, healthy blood, which drives out blood poisons and dead tissues and builds up sound, wholesome flesh and muscle.

"I feel it my duty," writes Mr. Cardwell in a letter to Dr. Pierce, "to write you of the lasting benefits derived from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and little 'Pelle's,' which satisfied the skill of one of the best physicians in my State. It ran on and I continually grew worse, until I concluded to write to the 'World's Dispensary Medical Association.' The answer to my inquiry advised me to use 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pelle's' for indigestion and liver complaint; at this time two months had passed. In two or three days after I had commenced the use of your medicine my cough had entirely stopped, my digestion was better, my low spirits driven away and I felt new life and vigor in my whole body.

This marvelous "Discovery" makes nerve force and rugged power. It is far better than oily emulsions; it does not make flabby fat, it does not increase the weight of corpulent people.

The New Shoes For Fall!

How sensible and serviceable they look! Have you seen them yet? We have them.

Styles without end—for both sexes and all ages—are now in stock, and despite all the "trust" and "high-price" talk we will sell these shoes at prices that will be to the penny as low as we sold equal qualities last year.

We deal in nothing but boots and shoes, and want your trade. We propose to give you more for your money than any place in town. Come in and see if we don't mean what we say.

We have something new in Ladies' Rubbers, braced in the back so they won't break down at the heel, and will prevent soiling of the clothing. Ask for them.
