AMITY.

Elder Lindsey, pastor of the Christian church at McMinnville, is preaching at the Christian church here this week.

Ed Cockran, while chopping in the timber south of town one day last week, had the misfortune to cut one of his feet quite badly.

Farmers hereabout are improving the good weather by plowing and sowing wheat.

The Degree of Honor will give a public drill and supper on the evening of the 14th. This bids fair to be one of the most pleasant events of the winter, as the ladies are doing lots of training and other work in order to make it a success.

Frank Thomas and F. Robinson have bought quite a large band of sheep, and will try and see if there is not more money to be made some other way than by raising wheat.

As spring approaches the hobo also makes his appearance, and the average citizen as usual, prepares to feed him.

Those on the sick list, so far as heard from, are all improving.

GOPIER.

J. Cronin was a McMinnville visitor Saturday.

E. H. Taylor and Frank Stow made business trips to Sheridan Saturday.

Miss Mollie Thompson is visiting with relatives in McMinnville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Agee spent a few days last week with friends in McMinnville, returning to their home Sunday.

J. Eborall and wife spent Sunday with Mrs. Eborall's uncle, Mr. Cockerham, who lives near Willamina.

Marion Taylor was visiting in McMinnville for a few days last week.

Luke Booth and wife of upper Willamina visited Saturday and Sunday with the family of D. Evans.

Jake Sliger is moving his family and belongings to a place in the mountains, along the Willamina.

We are pleased to report that both Mrs. S. Evenden and Mrs. Lambright are still improving.

Quite a number of hunters were seen going to the mountains Sunday. It is supposed they were after bear or panther, as a panther has been prowling around the foot hills lately.

NORTH YAMHILL.

J. W. Bones of Sheridan was in our city the last of the week, looking after his "health."

Lester Daniels made our town a flying visit Saturday last.

Mrs. J. C. McKern has been on the sick list for the last few days, but is reported as being on the mend.

Sam Laughlin came in on the evening train Saturday, having just arrived from Dawson City, where he reports everything as being in a flourishing condition.

The body of Richard E. Perry, our soldier boy who died in Manila, arrived home Saturday evening, Feb. 10th, and was buried Wednesday last with the soldier's burial.

Lola Perkins, the fourth daughter of N. H. Perkins and wife, died at her home in this city Wednesday evening, Feb. 7, aged 17 years, 7 months and 26 days, and was buried in the I. O. O. F. cemetery Friday. Rev. Leach preached the funeral. Lola was a good girl and will be missed by her many friends. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community.

Glen Henderson, deputy sheriff, was in our city the last of the week.

Snow fell to the depth of about one inch Tuesday evening.

Quite a number of McMinnville people were in our city Wednesday, to attend the funeral of R. E. Perry.

NEWBERG.

Mrs. Clem Blum of McMinnville is in town visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. C. J. Bishop of Portland visited over Sunday at W. W. Nelson's near town.

The young people of the Epworth league will hold a basket social at Crater's hall on Thursday evening.

Judge R. P. Bird was in town on Sunday, to examine Mrs. Will Heston for insanity. She was conveyed to Salem on Monday; the second time she has been committed to the asylum.

Several social events have taken place during the past week, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Kenyon, prior to their departure for their new home in California. They leave on Thursday next. Among the events was a tea given for Mrs. Kenyon by Mrs. Verona Nelson at her suburban home. The invited guests were Mrs. G. P. Kenyon, Mrs. J. C. Sawyer, Mrs. Dr. Rossiter, Mrs. J. C. Porter, Mrs. M. McDonald, Mrs. C. H. Barrie, Mrs. C. E. Smith, Mrs. J. W. Barrie of Newberg, and Grandma Kenyon of Butteville.

Miss Annie E. Gunning, Tyre, Mich., says, "I suffered a long time from dyspepsia; lost flesh and became very weak. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure completely cured me." It digests what you eat and cures all forms of stomach trouble. It never fails to give immediate relief in the worst cases. Rogers Bros.

Harry Watkins of Boise, Idaho, has been in Portland the past week. His smiling countenance has not yet been visible in McMinnville.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

A tax of $1.25 was levied on each bicycle in the county except those for sale in hands of dealers, and sheriff was ordered to procure necessary receipts and tags.

Supervisors were appointed for road districts as follows:

Columbus School Notes.

Friday closes the fifth month of school. The boys seemed to enjoy themselves Wednesday. They were playing in the snow.

Colds seem to be an epidemic in our building. Nearly everyone is "barking" and several of the pupils are absent on that account.

The 9th and 10th grades have taken up Civil Government. This is a very interesting as well as an important study.

Mr. Okerson was a visitor in the High school and made a short speech. He is agent for a book, but as the rules do not allow any of the time from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. to be taken up by agents, he did not take many orders in our building.

Director Irvine was a visitor Wednesday morning. He made a few remarks about his old school days, about the advantages that we now have, and said that both the schools in this district were in good condition. Come again.

Licenses to Marry.

Feb. 12—Edward Coates, 21, and Lela I. Hewitt, 18, of Wheatland.

Mr. J. Sheer, Sedalia, Mo., saved his child's life by One Minute Cough Cure. Doctors had given her up to die with croup. It's an infallible cure for coughs, colds, grippe, pneumonia, bronchitis and throat and lung troubles. Relieves at once. Rogers Bros.

Laughlin Brothers Have Struck It Rich.

After three years of mining on the Klondike, Samuel L. Laughlin, of North Yamhill, says he is glad he went there, as he has "made more money than he could have made in three lifetimes at home." He arrived from Dawson, on the 8th inst., where he left January 12, coming out over the ice by dog team, and reaching Skagway in 12 days. The Oregonian thus speaks of Mr. Laughlin's experiences and quotes that gentleman:

Mr. Laughlin, in company with two brothers, all North Yamhill boys, left Portland in the first rush, summer of 1897, and were fortunate in getting hold of some good claims on a tributary of Bonanza creek, 14 miles southeast of Dawson, and they have 26 miners at work at present, drifting in the frozen gravel, which is being piled on the dump, awaiting the summer thaw, when the gold will be sluiced out. The depth of shafts on their claims ranges from 10 to 100 feet, owing to the distance to bedrock, along which drifts or tunnels are run, as indications point to the richest deposits. The old-style system of thawing by fires built in the drifts is found to be satisfactory, and no thawing machines have yet been used. The frozen gravel is hard as flint, and will not yield to the pick and shovel until thawed out. Miners' wages at present are $6 a day and board, eight hours being a fair day's work. This is quite a fall from $15 a day originally paid, and is considered very poor compensation, suggestive of hard times. The rush to Nome will, therefore, continue, as the cape has a good name in Dawson, and many claims will be abandoned on the Klondike in favor of the new Eldorado this summer. Mr. Laughlin likes the climate and the diggings of the northwest territory better than he does the laws, which he says are almost unbearable. The government figures to grab about 75 per cent of the wealth produced, and the corrupt officials make matters worse by the manner of enforcement of the laws. "We pay 10 per cent royalty, $10 a year miners' license, $15 for recording a claim, and $17.50 for re-recording. Besides this, the government retains every 10 alternate claims for itself, so that a miner is helping the Ottawa government accumulate wealth every turn he makes." He finds the Canadians narrow-minded and very jealous of Americans. This feeling is due to the fact that Americans rushed in there and made the country, and at the same time got hold of it. Some seem to have charms for the successful Klondiker, too, as Mr. Laughlin is arranging to ship a cargo of cattle and horses to the cape by the first steamer available. "That's the only place for a young man," he says, alluding to the frozen north. "What can a young man do here? There is a fortune in that country for the man who will work and take care of himself, though, of course, he has risks to run in getting there, and also a rough life after he arrives, but a never venture, never win." In speaking of the way municipal justice is administered in Dawson, he says men are brought before the court, charged with having been drunk. "Do you plead guilty or not guilty?" asks the judge. "Guilty, your honor." "Fifty dollars and costs," says the judge. "Another culprit pleads 'Not guilty.'" "Fifty dollars and costs," says the judge. The incident is related to show how Klondike officials all have an eye to thrift, from gold commissioner down.

Lincoln Day Observance.

The ladies of Phil Sheridan Circle G. A. R. observed Lincoln day Monday evening at the Baptist church. There was a good attendance, largely made up of children from the public schools. The McMinnville band was present and discoursed music throughout the program. Rev. Joseph Hoberg led in prayer. A portrait of Lincoln was crowned with an evergreen wreath by school children. Mrs. C. W. Talmage sang a patriotic solo. Rev. H. T. Atkinson addressed the people on "Lincoln, the Man," and was followed by Rev. Geo. W. Fender on "Lincoln, the Statesman." Rev. R. W. King spoke on Lincoln's religion, and made him out an orthodox christian. One of the prettiest parts of the program was a flag salute by children while singing "America."

An Editor's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

During the early part of October, 1896, I contracted a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feared that consumption had appeared in an incipient state. I was constantly coughing and trying to expel something which I could not. I became alarmed, and after giving the local doctor a trial bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and the result was immediate improvement, and after I had used three bottles my lungs were restored to their healthy state.—B. February 18th, at 3 p. m., in the Methodist church, Mrs. Helen Harford will hold a special meeting for the children.

Yesterday morning was the coldest weather of the winter. Rev. Joseph Hoberg's thermometer registered 20° degrees on an open porch.

A Frances Willard memorial service will be held in the Methodist church on Sunday, Feb. 18th, at 7:30. Mrs. Helen Harford, state president of the W. C. T. U., will speak. Special music and recitations have been prepared. The public is cordially invited.

S. Howorth took his departure Wednesday afternoon for Portland, to be present at the marriage of his friend Ralph Cryler to a lady named Burdick residing at St. Johns. Messrs. Howorth and Cryler were boys together at Niagara Falls twenty years ago, and during all their wanderings since, their friendship has remained firm.

There have been various rumors that Judge Magers was going to Corvallis, Ashland, and other points to engage in business. He informs a Reporter man that he does not know that he will leave Yamhill county at all. The Judge has grown up here, and has warm attachment for Yamhill's environments and her people, and it would be like pulling heartstrings to leave.

It seems like presumption to dispute such a veteran gardener as S. H. Maris, who says he doesn't see how we can possibly have strawberries this year, but we've a notion to offer to wager him a new hat that we will. He bases his prediction on the fact that the plants have repeatedly bloomed during the mild winter, and have bloomed themselves out. We base our belief on the fact that we want them, and can hardly conceive of Oregon failing on strawberries.

On Thursday evening of last week an unknown man was run over and killed by the southbound passenger on the west side at a point one mile east of Forest Grove. The body was discovered the next morning, when life yet existed, though the head was badly cut, and death ensued in a short time. The man followed the occupation of repairing chairs, and recently wired all the chairs in the court house in this county. He had told different persons that he had a brother by the name of Brown on the Oak Hill stock farm of C. E. Ladd near North Yamhill, whom he had not seen for 13 years, and that he was on his way to see him. The foreman on the farm, however, says that he was not his brother. The coroner's jury exonerated the train crew from any blame, as no one saw the man at the time of the accident.

The arrest of W. W. Smith, H. D. Burdette and A. M. Waddel for trespassing upon bicycle paths was not carried to trial this week, all parties pleading guilty and paying a fine of $10 and costs. These gentlemen are among Yamhill's best citizens, and so far as we know each trespassed inadvertently, and each by his action has said that he wanted the law upheld. This was right. Gentle reader, if you have traveled the roads this winter and saw that smooth path on one side within easy reach, you know that you have either traveled it or been greatly tempted to. Mr. Waddel in this connection makes a good suggestion. He says it would be only fair to the traveler to post an occasional reminder along the path to suggest to people that what seems to be a side road in winter is really a summer bicycle path. He appreciates all the benefits of the path, and particularly in the summer time, when it keeps the scorcher out of the way of fractious horses, having also had experience along that line. These arrests were made on complaint of George Easterly, who is employed for that purpose. Look out for him. The law must be upheld.
