Fruit prospects are good. Goat shearing is about over. General average four pounds.

Steamer loaded here at the warehouse with grain last week.

Report says Mr. Frank Melotte is going to Nome by first steamer.

The bicycle paths on this route are among the things of the past—no good.

The roads from here to Salem were in fair condition prior to the rains of the last few days.

Our Y. M. C. A. has made surprising strides as an organization. On Sabbath last the members met in their new quarters. Dr. Watts led the meeting, giving us one of his rousing appeals on temperance. All were satisfied in a well-spent hour.

As a result of the late revivals here five have been received into the Presbyterian church by baptism, and forty-five into the United Evangelical church. Rev. A. A. Winter, pastor, will baptize quite a number there on next Sunday at 11 o'clock.

An Alaska gold saving company has been organized in the far north, with C. W. Watts, formerly of this county, as secretary and general manager—to operate the "Oregon Tom Gold Separator" at Cape Nome. It is claimed to be the best gold saving machine from sand that there is. The company has fifty of these machines in course of construction for use at Nome this year. Millions in it.

AMITY.

Mr. Chas. Weston is sick with pneumonia.

The infant daughter of Dr. Woods died last Monday and was buried Tuesday.

Miss Emma Todd, who has been sick for the past two weeks, is reported better.

Mrs. Stoltz left for Iowa last Thursday, being called to the bedside of her father, who is seriously sick.

The Christian church has been thoroughly renovated the past week and now presents a very neat appearance.

Mr. Fred Smith purchased a nice piano for his family. He came to town last Friday and took the instrument home. It is needless to say that Mr. Smith purchased the best.

A concert at the hall last Wednesday night was a pleasant affair, and went a long way in convincing the people that Amity has many proficient and entertaining musicians among her young people.

Farmers as a rule think it had enough to have their sheep killed by dogs, but when it comes to crows killing lambs, it seems trouble comes sometimes in queer ways. Several farmers report the loss of lambs in this way.

GOPHER.

The change in the weather does not prove satisfactory to all.

Messrs. Bert Huffman and Clyde Fawney of the Highlands were guests at E. H. Taylor's Sunday.

Richard Churchman, Sr., of Sheridan was visiting with I. Daniel last week. He returned to the city Monday.

Several of our citizens attended the funeral of Mr. C. Gregory, which took place on Saturday near Bellevue.

R. A. Stow and family came out from Bellevue Saturday and visited with the family of I. Lambright until Monday.

Miss Olive Lambright came home Friday and visited with her parents until Tuesday, when she returned to Monmouth.

Milton and Marvin Potter, Andrew Flynn, J. Stow and C. Vanderpool have been kept busy shearing goats in this region.

A mistake was made last week when the name of the teacher in the lower school was given. It is Miss Gertrude Inns instead of Miss Chuns.

CARBOLINEUM AVENARIUS.

Best Friend of the Hop Grower and The Farmer.

The farmers all over the country count amongst their heaviest expenses to run the farm, the lumber bill. All are undoubtedly interested to learn of a medium to reduce the same at least to half its former cost. This medium is Carbolineum Avenarius, a wood preserving paint based on 25 years' experience. Many are of the opinion that paint, tar and linseed oil will preserve the wood against rot and decay. These coatings only form an airtight cover, but do not destroy the albumin parts of the wood, which always start the rot. The coatings with above mentioned materials prevent the evaporation of the wood and the consequence is dry rot. Carbolineum Avenarius, on the contrary, penetrates deeply into the wood and destroys all present decay matters. The Carbolineum Avenarius is applied with a brush and imparts a nut brown color to the wood. It is used on the farms for painting barns, granaries, shingles, silos, posts, bridges, chicken coops, etc., and all woodwork above and below the ground. For hop poles it is especially valuable, as one setting of poles treated with Carbolineum Avenarius will be practically indestructible and will stand for a natural lifetime without being replaced. Carbolineum Avenarius is also the most radical remedy against chicken lice. One coat applied to the inside of the chicken coop will keep it clean from vermin. Kerosening and whitewashing, which has to be repeated every month, is done away with and expenses for sulphur and insect powder are saved. Whoever desires further information about Carbolineum Avenarius should write to O. O. Honson, Agent, McMinnville, Or.

It takes but a minute to overcome tickling in the throat and to stop a cough by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. This remedy quickly cures all forms of throat and lung troubles. Harmless and pleasant to take. It prevents consumption. A famous specific for grippe and its after effects. Rogers Bros.

An Old Criminal in a New Crime.

George K. A. Ferris, who shot John Wardle on the Braithwait farm north of this city about 16 years ago, is the same fellow who killed another man about two weeks ago in the state of Washington, and who is now in jail at Goldendale awaiting trial for murder. W. M. Wardle of this city saw the account of the last crime in the Oregonian, and he was led to write the sheriff who has the prisoner in charge, to ascertain if he was the same criminal who shot his father. He is satisfied from the description that it is the same man. Ferris shot Wardle because the latter refused to sign a deed to some land, now owned by E. M. Greeley, until Ferris would pay back $200 Wardle had loaned him. Ferris drew his gun and said he would put Wardle where he wouldn't need his signature, and shot him in the center of the breast, the bullet passing clear through Wardle's body. Wardle was sick with the wound for over a year. He is now 86 years old, and at times can feel pain due to the wound of sixteen years ago. The sheriff writes that Ferris is likely to pay the penalty for his latest crime. He claims self-defense, but it is known that he rode thirty miles to kill an unarmed man.

For his first crime Ferris was placed in jail at Lafayette, but effected his escape before he was tried. He has since served ten years in the Washington penitentiary for horse stealing.

MONEY IN CHICKENS.

Southern Pacific is Fostering Another Industry.

In addition to the development of the dairy business in the Willamette valley, the Southern Pacific, through its general freight and passenger agent, C. H. Markham, is now interesting itself in the possibilities of the poultry industry. Mr. Markham is of the opinion that this branch of farming is one which can be made most profitable, and thinks that it will pay farmers generally to take it up, either in connection with other branches of farming, or as a business by itself. On this matter, he said to an Oregonian man recently:

"Speaking of diversified farming, the raising of chickens for market is one which ought to receive attention at the hands of our farmers. During the year 1899 there was shipped from Kansas and Nebraska to California over this company's lines 224 carloads of poultry. The handling of these shipments requires cars of special construction, for which a heavy rental is charged in addition to the freight rate. The loss in transit is considerable, as is also the cost of feeding and expenses of a man in charge.

"The rate from Kansas and Nebraska to California is $1.75 per 100 pounds, or $350 per car. The average number of chickens to a car is about 4000, weighing about four pounds each, but the freight charge is based on a minimum of 20,000 pounds. The cost of laying shipments down in California, therefore, is not less than 3 cents per pound, equal to 12 cents for each chicken, or $1.44 per dozen.

"Chickens are selling in Portland today for from $4.50 to $5 per dozen, and I am informed that a coop of choice ones sold this morning for $5.50. This would seem to indicate that our home market is not being adequately supplied.

"The freight from Oregon to San Francisco is not one-half what it is from Kansas and Nebraska, and as a matter of fact express service can be obtained for as low as $1.50 per 100 pounds.

"Climatic conditions are very much in favor of Oregon, and there is no reason why Oregon chickens should not replace those from Kansas and Nebraska in the California market. As is well known, chickens do not thrive in California, there being some adverse climatic condition. We will always have at our very doors a market for our surplus poultry."

A Pleasant Wedding.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCourt in this city, at 8:30 p. m. Sunday, March 25th, occurred the marriage of Mr. Samuel T. Gaunt and Miss Ollie McCamish, Elder Arnold Lindsey officiating. Miss Daisy Henderson of Forest Grove played a wedding march. Charles Young and Miss Hallie Reynolds were groomsmen and bridesmaid. After the ceremony a splendid supper followed. The presents were numerous and handsome. Mr. Elvin Underwood presented a gift of $50 on a previous promise that the wedding should occur on his birthday.

The bride was attired in a dress of white organdie, with high satin collar, trimmed with lace and insertion, of late Paris fashion, without train, and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lindsey, Mesdames Mead, of Grants Pass; Alexander, of Portland; Downs, of Hillsboro; Long, of Portland; Misses Nettie and Helen McCourt, Daisy Henderson, Jennie Anderson, Hallie Reynolds, Messrs. Will McCourt, R. Jacobson, D. M. Naylor, Geo. Snyder, Chas. Young, Thos. Warren, Elvin Underwood, Dell Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaunt occupy the T. B. Kay house on Fifth street.

Junior Social.

A very pleasant social was tendered Lucretia Strong Tuesday evening at the C. P. church by the Junior Endeavorers. The program consisted of songs and recitations, after which the Juniors presented her with a Junior Endeavor badge, to which she responded in a few appropriate words. A social hour was spent in playing games, after which all joined in singing "God be with you 'till we Meet Again." Lucretia has a wide circle of friends here and she will be greatly missed, but what is our loss is Carlton's gain.
