FRIDAY, JUNE 22, 1900.

The newly-organized national negro party claims to be not as black as it has been painted.

Lane county elected Harrison Kincaid county judge by one vote. Salem and Albany elected justices by one vote.

Now that the Boers have had their day, it will be in order for professional sympathizers to resolve in favor of the "Boxers."

Women's rights are "trampled upon" in Arkansas worse than in Oregon. A woman who wears a stuffed bird on her hat is liable to a fine of from $25 to $50 by a law recently passed by the legislature of that state.

The Chinese society of "Boxers" that is creating so much trouble in China and interest in the world at large at the present time, constitutes in reality a great clan of murderers, estimated to contain in its ranks over 11,000,000 semi-barbarians, well organized, well armed, and thoroughly savage in their fanaticism.

When the Piute Indians discover that one of their tribe is old, foolish, decrepit, useless and helpless, they proceed to take him outside, lay his head gently on a rock, and then drop another big rock on the other side. It is about time that process should be applied to China. She is no longer fit to have a name among the nations of the earth.

"There is no organized enemy in the Philippines, and no strategic point unoccupied by our forces," says Gen. Otis, and nothing is left of the war except the prowling bands that are brigands rather than guerrillas. The United States troops are now engaged in defending the inhabitants against murders and robberies committed by their own people.

The organization of labor in the United States has grown equally as fast as the organization of trusts. With a membership of 1,004,000 on January 1, 1900, the American Federation of Labor has since enrolled 304,000 more members, besides issuing 1,500 local charters this year. The past three years have been those of greatest success for the consolidation of labor interests.

Two years ago a democrat state convention in Missouri adopted a resolution in favor of the Nicaragua canal, and declared that "the government should, without delay, put itself in position to inaugurate the work of completion as speedily as possible." Twelve democratic congressmen were elected on that platform, and every one of the twelve opposed the Nicaragua canal bill when it passed the House.

When we multiply our creameries and fruit canneries and driers the real development of the Willamette valley has only just commenced. We will be called upon to feed the people in the mining camps and lumber regions, and in the cities, and besides giving them bread we can put butter and jam within their reach. Our people can produce enough butter and meat products to feed millions, and still not reduce the grain product of Oregon one bushel. They will improve the fertility of the soil, and thus require a smaller acreage to grow as much grain as they have formerly produced.

Most extraordinary statements are made regarding the marvelous profits to be made from Belgian hares. If the statements were one hundredth part true the world would be rolling in wealth now, all made from Belgian hares, for this is not a new animal; a pair of them were probably in the ark with Noah, and the world has been vainly trying to get rid of them ever since and abusing Noah roundly for preserving them. Better stock your farms with a few goats, pigs, chickens or cattle, which will have a good market value every day in the year.

McKinley and Roosevelt, is the ticket nominated at Philadelphia, as it was settled yesterday that the governor of New York would receive the unanimous vote of the convention.

President McKinley was re-nominated by acclamation at the Philadelphia convention. The people associate McKinley with protection, expansion and patriotism, and these are the features which Americans believe in.

Every new creamery started, says the Salem Statesman, has been visited by sound commission men trying to buy the output. This industry is only getting started in Oregon. The market will expand as fast as the business—the near-by market, to say nothing of the eastern market. In view of the already wide scope of the market there is certainly abundant encouragement for again starting McMinnville's creamery. There is no danger of over-production, for the whole country is our market. During a large part of the year our people can ship butter to New York City in competition with the Eastern producers. And this does not take into account the increasing demand from Alaska and from the Pacific ports.

Colorado's governor, one Thomas by surname, who was a little over a year ago in a sadly nervous condition over the retention in the Philippines of a regiment of volunteers raised in that state, now has another idea. He wants to transport the vanquished Boers from South Africa and colonize them on the plains. That state might indeed furnish homes for a large number of them. Thousands may come to America, and will be welcomed, but they should not start for this land of promise imbued with the idea that Americans are going to furnish them all a home and then grow lean that they may be fat. They must take pot-luck with us. They should also discard the impression that they will find here a free country, for, if we are to believe our argumentative populist friends and Colorado's governor, it is worse than an oligarchy.

Gen. Merriman has something over 50,000 persons engaged in counting the population of the United States, and the guesses which have been made on the census subject in the past few years cover a pretty wide range. The estimate of the late Gen. Francis A. Walker, who was the leading authority in this country on the subject, was that the population on June 1, 1900, the time at which the count was to be theoretically taken, would be in the neighborhood of 76,000,000. Gen. Walker was the head of the census bureau for many years. The figures of the actuary of the treasury department are about 77,000,000 for this year. Other authorities, though of smaller weight, put the number up to about 80,000,000, while still others place it around 75,000,000. Gen. Merriman is inclined to hold that the 75,000,000 estimate will be very near the mark. A month or two from the present time, it is estimated, the country will know, in an approximate degree, at least, the actual number of its inhabitants.

Republican National Platform.

The platform adopted by the Philadelphia convention indorses the administration of President McKinley, declares unequivocally for the gold standard, for protection, reciprocity, restriction of immigration, just pension laws, efficient civil service, American ships, promises early reduction of the war tax, is against repeal of the fifteenth amendment, pledges for protected Isthmian canal, demands protection of Americans on foreign soil, condemns all conspiracies and combinations intended to restrict business, to create monopolies, to limit production or to control prices, and favors an open door policy for China.

The home of Judge Geo. H. Burnett at Salem was the scene of a very pleasant family reunion on the 17th inst. It was the 81st birthday of Mrs. Burnett's mother, Mrs. Nancy Belt, and also the 65th anniversary of her marriage to Dr. A. M. Belt, deceased, and a number of her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren gathered in an informal way to testify their love for the aged lady, and wish her many years yet of this life's pleasures. The venerable octogenarian was as happy as a girl, and received the earnest prayers of her visitors for many more years of health and happiness.

AN EXCELLENT SUGGESTION.

EDITOR REPORTER: Now that the general interest in our state and county politics has temporarily subsided, I thought perhaps that you might find space for an idea which occurred to me some time since, and which, as the poet says: "In the dead of the night, a queer vision I saw; and, thrice in the morning I dreamt it again." It was this: I dreamt I was in the court house at McMinnville, strolling about the corridors, examining with a great deal of interest and delight a collection of curiosities and specimens, all neatly arranged in cases, which lined the walls. Now why, thought I the next morning, could not this idea be made into a reality, and be the beginning of a collection of curios, etc., connected with the history of Yamhill, which in the future might develop into a veritable museum, and be the pride of every citizen of our county? Every pioneer family, and many of those who have resided only a few years in Yamhill, has or have, no doubt, some relic or relics of bygone times, something connected with the past history of our county or state. These articles have, perhaps from familiarity, become of apparently of little or no value, simply because no especial care has been taken to preserve them. Articles such as Indian pottery, pestles and mortars, old swords and rifles, bows and arrows, arrow heads, books of early travel, etc., etc., are often lost or carelessly destroyed by children, when by being brought together, labeled and classified, they would form an interesting exhibition to any Yamhiller. Such a collection would have an especially good influence upon any new comer, who would wish to make a home with us. I believe there are or were some unused book-cases in the court house which could be utilized for a beginning, and as the collection grew in importance and size, other arrangements could be made for its reception. It is not necessary for the owners of such curios and relics to donate them to the collection unless they wish to do so. They could be loaned for exhibition. I would suggest that the idea, if worthy of your notice and paper space, should be turned over for realization to such a man as Cap. Wyatt Harris, whose time is perhaps not so fully occupied as that of most of us, and whose antiquarian taste and judgment is unquestionably good: Perhaps an association could be formed of philanthropic people who have at heart anything that will benefit the community. In future years such a collection would have an educational and refining influence on our posterity, and perhaps be the means of preserving many an article of priceless value from accidental loss or destruction.

Hoping from this acorn of an idea may spring an oak that will last for generations, and apologizing for taking up so much of your time,

I am yours truly,
JOHN EVENDEN.

Tillamook and nearby places may have railroad communication with Portland sooner than anticipated by the residents. Articles of incorporation have been filed with the clerk of Multnomah county for a railroad from Goble to Nehalem Bay. The incorporators are Edward Cannon president of the Northwest Engineering company, Thomas Day and R. C. Bell. The proposed route, it is understood, is through Columbia county, across a corner of Clatsop and into Tillamook county. It is intended to strike the Nehalem river in Columbia county and follow it to its mouth. With small effort the road can be continued south to Tillamook City and bay, and to points further south, if trade is thought to warrant the cost of building. It is said that only two places on the proposed route will require any considerable engineering skill to surmount. The road will tap one of the most extensive timber belts in the state, and a fertile farming and dairying district, so that no doubt remains regarding sufficient business to pay for the building and operating expenses.

His Terrible Cough.
Few things are so depressing and weakening as a constant cough. Few things are as discouraging as a cough that will not yield to treatment. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures coughs when all other medicines fail, because it is more than a cough medicine. The cough is but a symptom. "Discovery" makes new and pure blood, heals the lacerated tissues, and gives the body the needed strength to throw off disease. It cures the cough by curing the cause of the cough. There is no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor other narcotic in the "Discovery."
"I had a terrible cough something over a year ago and could find nothing to stop it, or even to do me a particle of good," writes Mr. J. M. Farr, of Cameron, Screven Co., Ga. "I chanced to see an advertisement of yours, and forthwith bought a bottle of your invaluable 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Before I had taken half a bottle I was entirely well."
