Back From Nome.

Ex-Sheriff W. L. Warren and his sons Tom and Dell reached home from Nome last Saturday evening, all looking happy and hearty, and are being welcomed by their many friends. Not one of them seems to regret his three months' experience in the far north, and in reply to the question "What do you think of that country?" they are unanimous that it is a good place and a country full of gold. The trouble is that the best properties are controlled by a few individuals, and what would be a good thing for 5000 people, is wholly inadequate to support eight or ten times that number.

Billy says he would have been pleased to remain there the coming winter, but Mrs. Warren desired him to come home, and the truth probably is that he was just a little homesick himself. He disposed of his beach mining machinery to good advantage. At present he has some intention of returning next year.

Sam Laughlin, who took a lot of horses up there, lost money on the deal, but he is compensated by a paying property at Dawson.

The accompanying portrait is a good likeness of W. L., with the exception that the beard he brought home with him extends up under his ears, and he has what might be termed whiskers "for further orders."

THE COLLEGE OPENING.

The new year of 1900-1901 at McMinnville college will open next Wednesday, Sept. 12th. Prospects are good for a large attendance from abroad and for a fine year in the college. The program for opening day this year will be as follows:

At 10 a. m. in the college chapel, public meeting to which the citizens of McMinnville are especially invited. Prof. W. W. Bristow, of Corvallis, the new principal of the McMinnville public schools, will deliver the annual opening day address. His topic will be, "Ethical Education." The address will be followed by presentation of new members of the faculty and announcements by the president. Citizens of McMinnville and friends of the college generally will be most welcome to this morning exercise.

At 2 p. m. will occur registration and classification of students. Every young person who expects to attend the college this year should be present the first day, if at all possible. If a new student, do not fail to bring your certificates from the public schools or other schools attended previously, as these papers will be required of all applicants for admission to regular courses, except where examination for admission is taken.

Miss Rose M. Trumbull, the new principal in the department of music, will be present at the opening of the year. Profs. Northrup, Brumback, Storey, Grover, and President Boardman will be in their respective places in the faculty. Rev. Willard H. Latourette, the college's general agent, will not be able to attend the opening exercises of the year, he being absent on a tour for the college in eastern Oregon and Idaho.

The general building and entire plant is being put in good order for the opening of the year. Old students generally are to return, and many new students have already engaged rooms and will be on hand for the opening. Many others delayed for a little time by the urgency of the late fall work on the farms, will enroll later in the season.

Frank C. Stanard and family, of Adams, Or., have been secured for the position of college steward and to conduct the dining hall. The college and the town as well are to be congratulated upon the acquisition of this new family. They will not arrive until October 1st. Other arrangements for boarding will be made, pending their coming. All the available dormitory rooms in the building have already been engaged by students from abroad. Prospects were never better for a fine year in the college.

H. L. BOARDMAN, President.

CONCERNING THAT CARNIVAL. Plans Taking a Little Different Shape from That First Contemplated.

The executive committee may reconsider some plans for the coming carnival, in connection with business citizens, and have concluded that a celebration of one day, or at the longest two days, would be far better under existing conditions, than to attempt a three-days' celebration. The idea is to have a good and attractive time at reasonable expense. The barbecue, for this reason, is likely to be dispensed with and something more interesting put up in its place. It would be an expensive feature, and at best a kind of miscellaneous jostle for a little cooked meat on a stick. It is understood that Capt. Hosford has a couple of steamboats he is anxious to put through the locks ahead of everything else, and those steamboat men who are expecting to traffic on the new route will doubtless deem it an honor to join in the flotilla on excursion day to represent their respective craft.

The executive committee authorize the statement that they are willing to comply with the wishes of the citizens of the town just as far as possible, and if two days is the choice, two days goes. It would not be possible to crowd everything into one day, as the arrival of the boats and crowning of the queen would occupy one day, and the excursion and speaking would take up another.

The 60x60 ft tent for the street fair, made of 10 oz duck, can be obtained complete for $107.50, and as the property of the city, would be very useful on future occasions.

The committee is in receipt of some very encouraging letters. Mr. W. F. McGregor, one of the builders of the locks, thus expresses himself in reply to his invitation:

GENTLEMEN:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your kind invitation to be present at your carnival and return many thanks, assuring you I shall be there. Everything looks now as if there will be no disappointment in the completion of the locks in three weeks time. I trust your greatest expectations shall be realized in benefit the locks shall be to your city and county, and I shall be the happiest man among you when the locks are completed. Seeing the expense your city will be put to we shall be pleased to contribute towards same if you will put us in touch with your finance committee. Again thanking you and hoping that your fair and carnival may be a grand success.

Hon. Thos. H. Tongue responds as follows:

I know of no good reason why I should not accept the generous invitation to share the joys of my neighbors, and I shall certainly do so, and be on hand unless some unforeseen contingency happens to prevent.

Newman's Theatrical Agency of Portland offers any attraction in their line that we may want.

Hon. John H. Mitchell unfortunately cannot be present. He writes that he is compelled to go to New York city about the middle of the month and will not be back before Oct. 10th. He adds: "Nothing would give me greater pleasure than to be able to be with you on that occasion and to join with your people in celebrating the opening of the river to McMinnville. I took great pleasure while in the senate in aiding the inauguration of this work. I had the pleasure of visiting the locks a couple of weeks since, and was very much gratified at the substantial character of the work."

Carnival Meeting.

Many suggestions, valuable and otherwise, have been made in regard to the program for the celebration here the 27, 28, 29, inst., by representative business men and others. Therefore, the executive committee have decided to call a meeting of all committees and others for tomorrow, Saturday, evening to discuss the matter fully. You are urged to attend or forever hold your peace. Be on hand at the committee rooms at 7:45.
