General Summers has deposited with The Oregonian $1400 derived from sale of buttons made from cannon taken at Manila, to be credited to the monument fund. About 10,000 buttons have been sold, 3000 are outstanding, and about 4000 are on hand. The opportunity afforded by the fair is to be taken, as a means of disposing of the remainder of the buttons. This will be a valuable souvenir now, and in future times will be highly esteemed.

The city schools will open on Sept. 17th. The teaching force thus far chosen is as follows: Principal, Prof. W. W. Briston; vice-principal, Prof. I. R. Alderman; 6th and 7th grades, Miss Eva Akin; 4th and 5th grades, Miss Mary Bird; 2d and 3d grades, Miss Emma Greene; 1st and 2d grades, Miss Eva Hembree; 5th and 6th grades of Cook school, Miss Cora Comer; 3d and 4th grades, Miss Detha Daniels; 1st and 2d Miss Hattie Williams. Miss Bentley, who was re-elected, has resigned, and her grade is vacant at present. Prof. Briston is moving down from Corvallis this week, and will occupy the Wes Wallace house.

H. P. Webster and wife returned home Monday from two months' camping at the Barney McPhillips place near Woods. Mr. Webster's health was considerably improved while there, and he reached home feeling 15 pounds heavier than when he left. He probably caught the largest fish with the least effort, of all who have been out this summer. Strolling on the beach one day, an incoming wave rolled up against his heels from behind, and he felt a sensation of something striking him heavier than water. Quickly looking behind him he beheld at his feet a large cutfish, which afterwards tipped the scales at 28 pounds. He gave it a shove with his foot, and then another, as the water receded, and by the aid of a sack was enabled to bear his catch in triumph to the camp, and if Mr. Fish entertained for a moment the idea that he could capture Mr. Webster by riding an incoming tide, he made the great mistake of his life. They ate and ate, and gave away, and still had fish.

Prof. Boardman had the distinction of presiding at the speech of Hon. John G. Woolley in the Marquam theater at Portland Wednesday night. Mr. Woolley has given forth a remarkable utterance for a prohibitionist, in the following: "McKinley is a good man. He is opposed to the liquor traffic—the army canteen—and all that, but until he feels the force in the country back of him supporting him in his attitude, he cannot proceed against the evil. The people will prevail in time. The politicians—many of them—would like to see the liquor traffic stopped. There are men in politics who are just as honest as in private business. They would be glad to see the reforms this country needs." There is a text here for a long editorial or sermon by Dr. Grannis, who will doubtless avail himself of the opportunity. We call it remarkable because of its fairness. All Mr. Woolley is working for is the balance of power, and when his party gets that, it will find the progressive republican party ready to work with it in congeniality and peace.

No votes for carnival queen have been reported from outside precincts. As married ladies are not barred from the contest, they stand a good show, as they are better looking than the single ladies, as a rule.

From a burning strawstack in the vicinity of the Masonic cemetery Wednesday afternoon fire spread and swept over about two hundred acres of pasture and stubble land before the flames were subdued. A small lot of fencing burned was the principal damage.

G. W. Franklin, the new proprietor of the Mack house at Sheridan, is doing a rushing business. It is a common thing for him to send guests to outside houses, and is even compelled at times to send applicants away after he has made special beds in the hall and parlor.

A swindle is reported from various parts of the country of which farmers will do well to beware. The agents offer a churn which they claim will largely increase the yield of butter from any given quantity of milk and they offer to prove this assertion. Chemicals, it appears, are slipped into the milk and cream when the purchasers back is turned, and the butter comes more quickly and in greater volume than it usually does on the premises invaded. Of course the resultant mass is not pure butter, but the agent collects his money and departs before the fraud is discovered.

At the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening the following business was transacted, including the allowance of several bills: Hoberg bridge ordered repaired. Communication read from J. C. Cooper, secretary of carnival executive committee, asking council to give to said committee the money derived from licenses taken during the three-days celebration; also one 50-candle-power light, to be installed in committee room. Requests granted. Recorder ordered to have insurance on city plant rewritten. Resignation of L. Granstrom as chief engineer accepted and C. J. Granstrom elected by unanimous vote to fill the vacancy. Bond ordered filed. Bonds of Willis & Feely and Joe Dubois approved and licenses ordered granted for 6 months upon payment of $200 to treasurer. Ordered that Mr. Howenstein be released from furnishing any more wood on contract. Superintendent ordered to notify all water consumers, including county court, to comply with ordinance regarding hours of sprinkling. Ordered rate at court house to be continued at $20 per month if ordinance is properly complied with. Moved that a temporary rate of $6 per month for motors be established.

Til Ford, the Salem lawyer, is in Rome, and writes concerning the roads there in a manner which furnishes encouragement for Oregonians. He says: "The public roads all over this country are well built and kept in good repair. I remember seeing an article in one of our Oregon papers a short time ago, calling attention to these good roads and somewhat blaming us because our roads are not so good. I have looked into this matter and I find that the people in these old countries first commenced building public roads about 2500 years ago, and they have been at it ever since. Now I will venture to predict that before one-half that time is up we of Oregon will also have fine public roads. We have only been making roads for about fifty years, and I am informed that the roads here were no better than ours at the end of the first half century."

Webber, of Dundee, Yamhill county, arrested a short time ago on a charge of violating the revenue law by using cigar boxes a second time and for having an empty cigar box in his possession without the revenue stamp being erased, had an examination before United States Commissioner E. N. Deady this week. After hearing the testimony, Commissioner Deady dismissed the charge in regard to the empty box, but held Webber to answer on the charge of using a box a second time. It was asserted that he placed cheroots at five for 10 cents in a box containing a well-known brand of 5-cent cigars, and had remarked that "the boys did not know the difference."
