A Prosperous Industry.
The cannery business of Oregon is undergoing a steady and prosperous growth. The management of the Salem institution, one of the three large concerns in the northwest, finds that its main difficulty is its inability to get enough of the right kinds of fruit and vegetables. But, taking the season through, they have done very well for 1900. They will close up this year's business by putting up all the tomatoes they can get, and 4000 to 5000 cases of apples, taking about two months yet. They have been experimenting with the canning of corn. The conclusion is that corn can be raised here successfully for canning purposes, and that they can put it up in good condition. The question to be decided is this: Can the farmers afford to raise it and sell it at a price they could afford to pay and compete with eastern canneries? The freight charges from the east on the canned article are in favor of our people. If the cannery and the farmers can get together on the matter, a large business will result—in fact, a practically unlimited business.—Statesman.

CLEVER PERFORMERS.
The Beach & Bowers' Minstrels at the Grand Opera House.
The Beach & Bowers' minstrels opened their Butte engagement yesterday with two performances to big audiences, and if laughter and applause is an indication of a good and satisfactory show, and it usually is, such a show is given by the minstrels. The company is made up of a lot of clever performers and specialty artists, including among the number Lou Knetzger, one of the best club swingers ever seen in Butte; Don Gordon, a remarkable trick bicycle rider and on the unicycle; Harry Freeman and the Smith brothers, a team of acrobatic wonders, the Van brothers in a musical act, and the LaBare trio, another team of very clever acrobats. The performance concludes with Bobbie Beach's troupe of wonderful trained dogs.—Anaconda Standard, Dec. 18.

This popular company will appear at the opera house in this city, Wednesday, Oct. 10th. This is their 16th consecutive season.

WHY PA IS ON THE FENCE.
The pictures of the candidates are hanging everywhere; They're gettin' up processions, and there's music in the air; The banners stretch across the streets most every block or so; The papers they are tellin' how the 'lection's sure to go; Some of them say McKinley's vote is bound to be immense, Some say that Bryan's got it sure—but pa he's on the fence!
They're holdin' meetin's in the halls and everywhere around, And men are flockin' there in droves and gettin' held spellbound; They talk about free silver and the danger it would bring, The orators jump up and down and jaw like everything; The folks are mad and shakin' fists; ma says the strain's intense, For 'lection ain't so far away—but pa he's on the fence!
The Joneses they're republicans, the Smith's are democrats, They used to run together, now they fight like dogs and cats; They talk about prosperity and what expansion means, They scold about the army and about the Philippines; But pa he runs a grocery, and he says there ain't no sense In gettin' one side mad at you—so he keeps on the fence.

The Hillsboro Independent suggests a pair of ice tongs for a Bryan campaign badge. It would fit the case.
Sherman Wallace, one of the best boys at the college, is ill of typhoid fever at the residence of Wilson Cook.

GOVERNMENT OF THE PHILIPPINES.
The administration policy for governing the Philippines is explained by these extracts from the president's letter to the secretary of war, published a few days ago, and intended as instruction for the Taft commission:
"As long as the insurrection continues the military arm must necessarily be supreme. But there is no reason why steps should not be taken from time to time to inaugurate governments essentially popular in their form as fast as territory is held and controlled by our troops."
"You will instruct the commission to devote their attention in the first instance to the establishment of municipal governments, in which the natives of the islands, both in the cities and in the rural communities, shall be afforded the opportunity to manage their own local affairs to the fullest extent of which they are capable."
"The commission should bear in mind that the government which they are establishing is designed not for our satisfaction, or for the expression of our theoretical views, but for the happiness, peace and prosperity of the people of the Philippine islands, and the measures adopted should be made to conform to their customs, their habits, and even their prejudices, to the fullest extent consistent with the accomplishment of the indispensable requisites of just and effective government."

All these measures for the ultimate elevation of the Filipinos into a law abiding and self-governing community are founded upon "the provisions of the treaty of Paris" and upon "the principle of our own government." We therefore guarantee to the Filipino the security in his person, property and occupation which is guaranteed to the citizens of the United States under the bill of rights as it is found in the American constitution.
This is what the Bryanites, in their search for a mask for free silver, call "imperialism." The mask is too thin to conceal anything. "Imperialism" can hide neither the justice of the administration's policy in the Philippines nor the enormity of free silver.
