Married—Some time within the last week we are moral sure that Mrs. M. C. Rutan and W. E. Howard were united in matrimony, though like everybody else we are unable to get particulars. The uncommunicative couple left for Portland Tuesday morning on their supposed wedding tour. We realize that if this forecast is previous we have trouble on our hands, but the signs seem sure enough to justify the risk—Newberg Graphic.

Bryan a Trust Magnate.

Mr. Bryan is himself one of the greatest trust magnates the country has produced. He secured the democratic presidential nomination in 1896, by which he hoped to secure a monopoly of all democratic votes. To this he added the populist and silver republican nomination, and thus became the head and principal beneficiary of a great political trust, and he has used his power, just as every commercial trust does, by charging exorbitant prices for his product. This combination in restraint of political trade, and of political freedom of action, having failed of its purpose in the general election of 1896, the head of the trust devoted his talents to the writing of a book entitled "The First Battle." He placed it upon the market. At what figure? $3.50!! Not because it was worth it, but because he, as the head of a great political trust, could get it. At the same time you could go to any department store in the country and secure a volume of the best literature in the English language for 50 cents. To-day, according to Senator Dollivar, "The First Battle" can be secured at the second-hand book stores for 25 cents. Later, Mr. Bryan made a tour of the country delivering speeches for pay. He came to Oregon. He delivered one speech at Gladstone for the Willamette Valley Chautauqua Association, and received $500 for it. The association has been favored with scores of infinitely better speeches from the best talent on the American platform at less than half of that figure, but Mr. Bryan had a monopoly in his particular line and charged the full limit, without reference to the quality of the goods. At some of the fairs of the Mississippi valley it is said a single speech has brought him as much as $2,500. The story that his book and his speeches have brought him $250,000, and that he has invested the proceeds in government bonds is not unreasonable, but whether true or false, it is certain that there is not another trust in the country that has, in the last five years, made such an exorbitant advance in the price of its products as Mr. Bryan has in his. In a general sense his action in this matter is perfectly legitimate, but one who has done this is disqualified from talking in a very high key about monopoly or corporate greed.—C. B. Moores.

Telling Blows.

Hon. W. D. Fenton, a former democrat, of Portland, made a speech at the Tabernacle in that city Saturday evening which contained some of the severest yet most logical scoring the democratic party and its leader have received in Oregon. On the subject of expansion he said:
"The great events of the last two years have brought back this old question. And how do the democrats face it? After clamoring in congress that the rights of belligerents be given the Cuban insurgents, and trying to hurry the president into war with headlong haste, war came on us as a righteous war, after the ill-fated 15th day of February, 1898, and was recognized as such by all parties. Dewey entered Manila bay, and later the troops were sent to back up the navy. Do we find Bryan protesting? No. Do we find an alliance with Aguinaldo, who had sold out his countrymen, his interests in the Philippines for the traitor's reward of $400,000? On the contrary one of the first acts of William McKinley was to cable Dewey, 'Make no alliance with Aguinaldo or anyone else.' And then we have the spectacle of Bryan, this gallant colonel with the great fear of militarism, down on his knees before the governor of Nebraska, begging for a commission in a volunteer regiment in the army of the United States, which by his vote in congress had been harassed so that the soldiers of the army may not be paid except by special act of congress every two years.
"Now we come to the terms of peace with the cession of the Spanish islands, Cuba being left out on account of the sentimental resolution of congress. Do we find Bryan protesting? No. Bryan leaves Lincoln, Neb., hastens to Washington, saying: 'I will become an emperor. I will annex these islands, 12,000 miles away, and take in 10,000,000 creatures at $2 a head.' By 10 democratic votes he assists the ratification of the treaty, and the islands became as much a part of the United States as Alaska, the Sandwich islands, New Mexico and Arizona. And Bryan and his party have equal responsibility in the ratification.
"And shall he be allowed to make political capital from it? I say that he has no right to stand up now and say he didn't think it was right. He is estopped from this by every consideration of right. He is estopped by his previous acts from charging that the republican party is now the party of imperialism.
"Bryan proposes, if elected, to establish a stable government in the Philippines. What has President McKinley and the army been trying to do for two years, harassed by Bryan's opposition, encouraging the Filipinos? Do McKinley's attempts savor of imperialism? He has incorporated into the scheme of government to be applied to the Philippines every guarantee of the bill of rights of the constitution. What is good enough for you and your kindred is good enough for the Filipino. Is the brown man to be deprived of liberty of conscience, of trial by jury, of a right to participate in his own affairs?

"Bryan has simply tried to escape from the consequences of the resurrection of former issues buried in the last election by adopting the tactics of opposition, of hypocrisy, to create new political issues, lacking the patriotism, the loyalty, to support the treaty, now the supreme law of the land under the constitution."

New Social Club.

A new club has been formed in this city to be known as the "McMinnville Commercial Club." It has engaged as its quarters the upper story of the new Flynn building. The purpose of the organization is the social, moral and intellectual improvement of its members. The officers chosen are E. V. Littlefield, president; Leroy Lewis, vice president; R. L. Conner, secretary and treasurer; executive committee, W. L. Warren, M. A. Baker, E. C. Apperson, W. S. Wade and C. R. Hamblin.

Cards and billiards will constitute the chief forms of amusement. Membership is now being solicited and a roll of forty-seven names is secured. The club will also include in its purpose the entertainment of new comers, visitors and strangers within the city.

City Ticket Named.

A citizens' meeting was held at the court house Saturday evening, which named the following persons for city officers:
For mayor, Jacob Wortman.
For recorder, Thos. H. Rogers.
For marshal, C. H. Neal.
For councilmen, first ward, long term, John Newell; short term, W. H. Logan.
For councilmen, second ward, Henry Gee and Geo. W. Jones.
For councilman, third ward, H. C. Burns.
It is understood the democrats will put up a ticket. The action of the republicans as a party is still in doubt. We think the above ticket a pretty good one.

Cook School Notes.

Another month gone.
More new students.
We need a library cabinet.
The board is going to fit up one of the vacant rooms for a lunch and general exercise room.
Miss Comer's geography class is preparing a very interesting chart of the products of the different countries of the world.
The literary society in the eighth grade is yet without a name but it will not long be in such a sad plight. It now has a full set of officers, including a librarian to look after the periodicals.
The eighth grade is in search of some mottoes for their walls. Can you suggest one?
There is talk of Indian club and wand drills. Why not?
Columbus School Notes.

The pupils all began in dead earnest Monday morning. It was the beginning of the second month, and the professor said we must tighten the strings a little.
Several college students have been visiting the school this week.
Miss Christa Seitters is able to be in school again, having recovered considerably from her "pitch out" excursion.
Tuesday afternoon a literary society was organized with Otis Neal, president; Geneva Vinton, vice president; Edith Hamblin, secretary. This society is to meet the second and fourth Friday afternoons of each month, between 2:30 and 4 p. m. Its purpose is to make the pupils accustomed to speaking to audiences, and to get them so they won't faint when called on to make a speech or give a talk.
Among the visitors for the first month were: Prof. Duncan, Carl Shortridge, Harry Jones, Mrs. W. T. Vinton, J. P. Irvine, Mae Reynolds, Thos. Hutchens, Lella McCormick, Rua Goucher and Mrs. G. E. Vinton.
There were 184 boys and 186 girls enrolled last month; there were 6095 days attendance, 175 days' absence, 18 tardies, two of them being in the high school.

A jocular farmer of Oakville saves the heads of the Denny pheasants he kills and mounts them in his stubble field near the road. To enhance the effect of his jest he has decorated his fence with trespass notices. However, he has not found it necessary to prosecute offenders.

LAFAYETTE.

Mrs. C. E. Watts is expected home today from Mills City.
Boats through the locks with dispatch nearly every day. Works to perfection.
George Lewis is now at home waiting on his uncle, Mr. Burbank, who is in poor health.
C. E. Burt has closed his work on the railroad here, and will soon go to Eureka, Calif., to work.
The many friends of Hon. A. R. Burbank will be sorry to learn of his fast declining health of late.
Messrs. Olds have rented the Frank Fenton hopyard east of town, and are putting it in order for the crop.
Several relatives of Mrs. N. Olds were up from Portland to see Aunt Nancy over Sunday, returning to Portland on Monday.

Mrs. Ella Metzger of Dallas, who has been visiting here among relatives and friends of late, will return home the last of the week.

Mayor John Thompson returned the first of the week for a short stay, and made a business trip to McMinnville on Wednesday. He will go to East Portland on Thursday.

J. E. Hubbard resigned his appointment as judge of election at this place, owing to ill health, and J. H. Olds has been appointed in his stead. The board now stands: J. W. Watts, Job Carey and J. H. Olds.

AMITY.

So far not a political speech in Amity. Wood sawing is now the order of the day.
The big bridge south of town is being repaired.

Mary Weston attended the Baptist convention at The Dalles this week.

Our public school is progressing nicely under the management of Prof. Fisher. A suit to recover money was tried here last Tuesday by parties from Wheatland. Potato digging is well under way. They are "turning out" good, and quality is fair.

Mrs. Wm. Buffum was taken to the hospital at Portland last Tuesday for treatment.
Mrs. Douglas departed for The Dalles Tuesday last, where she will attend the Baptist convention.

Chester Briedwell now goes on crutches, all on account of some naughty thistles getting in his toe.

Mrs. Broadwell received a severe cut on the arm last Monday while canning fruit. Dr. Wood sewed up the wound.

Auction sale at Roth's store last Wednesday. Mr. Roth will go out of business, which will leave one of the best openings in the valley for some enterprising merchant.

One thing needed very badly in this town is a fruit dryer. There is a large amount of fruit raised here, and those who sell have to haul either to Salem, Dayton or some other far away point. This is the story every year, and it is surprising that some public spirited citizen does not take advantage of this rare chance to make money.

One of Dr. Calbreath's People.
On Monday morning at 5:30 the lifeless form of John F. Adams, an inmate of the asylum, was found in his room at that institution, hanging by a strip of a blanket tied around his neck and attached to a steam pipe above. The patient had resorted to this means of putting an end to his existence, and had probably been dead but a short time, as the body was still warm when it was discovered. The deceased was 51 years of age, and was a resident of Jackson county before his commitment to the asylum in 1896, this being his third commitment.

The four leading angora counties of Oregon are Polk, Yamhill, Marion and Benton. Douglas is gaining very fast and will probably be in the same class in a year or two. There are a number of successful growers of grapes in the Willamette valley. Of these W. K. Newell, of Dilley, is taking the lead, although he has a less favorable location for grapes than some of the others. Mr. Newell confines himself to the American varieties and of the many which he has given a thorough trial he finds Moore's Diamond to be unquestionably the best. It is earlier, sweeter and more melting than the Concord. The only trouble with it at present as a market grape is the prejudice of the people of Portland in favor of black grapes. When they learn how much better Moore's Diamond is than the Concord the former will be in great demand.—Rural Northwest.

Prof. J. G. Lewis, manager of the new Dayton Novelty cash store, was a county seat visitor on Wednesday.
