The Ticket and the President It Will Help to Elect.

The Reporter presents this week the presidential ticket as it will appear in this county at the coming election. Twenty-four thousand of them are now in course of printing at this office, and will be completed this week. The form is already marked as a majority of the Reporter's readers and the people of the state of Oregon will mark it. They want Wm. McKinley to remain president. Gaze on that honest and earnest face. See reflected in those lineaments that patriotic solicitude for the welfare of the great nation over which he presides which has guided his course during the past four years of critical and unexpected emergencies. Train your mental vision on the undignified and evasive campaign of his chief competitor, Wm. J. Bryan, the imperial dictator of the amalgamated everything-else. Note the confusion of doctrines in a vain attempt to cater to the different parties he represents. Remember the ragged clothes you were forced to wear in the early nineties, and the prosperous condition of the country today. This done, you will not be long in making up your mind, if you are an honest seeker after truth, to cast your vote with the majority, be you democrat, populist, prohibitionist, or what not.

HON. WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

A LADY WITH A REMARKABLE CAREER.

Mrs. Margaret Watson Burton, who died at the home of her son, Henry Heber, in Portland, October 18th, was an Oregon pioneer of 1844, and a woman with a remarkable career. She and her husband, with three little children arrived at the mouth of the Columbia on the 17th day of March in that year, from New Zealand, via Honolulu, in the American brig Heber. The vessel was nine days sailing up the Columbia, and cast anchor opposite what is now the city of Portland, on March 26. So far as is known, Mrs. Burton was the last survivor of that expedition. The family made their headquarters in Captain Silvester's cabin on the east side of the river for several weeks and finally moved up the river near Oregon City. The following August they moved to the Burton donation claim, on a part of which now stands the town of North Yamhill. She resided on the farm 34 years and afterwards moved to Portland, where she lived ten years.

Mrs. Burton was the mother of 15 children, 12 of whom are still living. Henry Heber Burton, a resident of Portland; Doc Ben L., Lenoir and Miss G. Burton, Mrs. Kate B. Lake and Mrs. Lois Anthony, of San Francisco, Mrs. Lizzie Rogers, of Santa Rosa, Cal., Charles W. Burton and Mrs. Alma E. Hawley, of Oakland, Cal., John J. Burton, of Dawson City, E. R. Burton, of North Yamhill, C. Burton, sheriff of Wahkiakum county, Wash., live to revere her memory. The three who preceded her to the tomb were Misses Amy and Jenima Burton and Mrs. Eliza T. Moore.

Thirty grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren, and a host of relatives in various portions of the world mourn her loss.

Margaret Watson was born in Lancashire, England, June 21, 1822, and was therefore in her 79th year when she died. She was the youngest child of Charles and Bridget Watson, and with her parents left the old country to become a pioneer of Australia, in 1831. Charles Watson, her father, was superintendent of government works in Australia and in 1834 was sent to Tasmania, where she again became a pioneer at the age of 12. In 1836 she moved with her parents to New Zealand, for the third time becoming the pioneer of a new country.

When she was 14 years old she went with her sister and brother-in law (Captain Carew, father of General Carew of the British army) and his wife to the Philippine islands, stopping at Manila. At 15 she was shipwrecked while going from Tasmania to New Zealand and drifted to the East Indies, where they stayed several weeks while the vessel was being repaired.

In New Zealand she married John James Burton, August 14, 1839. In the fall of the following year Mrs. Burton, with her husband, and two baby girls, started for the Sandwich islands on the sailing vessel Heber. Near the Marquesas islands her son, Henry Heber, now of Portland, was born. The family stayed six weeks in Honolulu and then started for the Columbia river, which was reputed to be a land of milk and honey. Her husband died in Portland 21 years ago. Her remains were laid to rest by his side in the old burial ground near the farm at North Yamhill, Monday morning at half past ten o'clock. The funeral services were held in the M. E. church at North Yamhill, the services being conducted by Rev. Joseph Hoberg, who has officiated at the marriage and burial of members of her family for 40 years. Mrs. Burton was a member of the Methodist church, an earnest christian, always gentle and forgiving.

GOPHER.

D. Kirby of Bellevue and Jesse Yocom of Jintown were in the valley Monday. Mrs. Mary Flynn and daughters have moved to McMinnville. We are sorry to lose them.

There is a little daughter in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eborall now. John would not exchange places with the president.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Duvall, who have been spending the summer in eastern Oregon, are expected home soon. Mrs. D's health is much better.

Fred Daniels returned home last Sunday. He has been working in Portland for several months.

Miss Annie Agee came home from Muddy valley last Sunday. Miss Lou Agee will spend the winter with her aunt, Mrs. Ida Spring, of Muddy valley.

Our schools are progressing nicely with Mr. B. Blood at the lower school, and Miss Myrtle Gardner at the upper school.

There is not much grain sown so far this fall. Several of our farmers are seeding their farms down to grass and clover, thinking that stock raising will pay better than raising grain.
