Next Sunday there will be special services at the M. E. church. The pastor will preach in the morning as usual, and in the evening the Epworth League will have charge of the program, which will be in the interests of good literature. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

The lady employes and the wives of the male employes at R. Jacobson & Co.'s store planned a surprise for the gentlemen of that establishment Saturday evening, by coming in on them at the closing hour of business with refreshments, which were partaken of while toasts were responded to. The occasion is spoken of as a very merry one.

Speaking of prosperous years, McMinnville can make a good showing for 1900. If you will cast your eye over the north part of town particularly, you can see some very marked improvement. The four streets leading north, viz., C, E, F and G, would not be recognized by a stranger who had left town two years ago and had been suddenly dropped down in that quarter from the clouds. C street has grown to be the handsome residence row. The houses of Messrs. Martin, Rogers, Apperson, Ferguson, Sully, Hendrick and Mesdames Babcock and Gaunt present an imposing phalanx, and are for the most part new or have been retouched. Then on E street is the Wortman, Hobbs, Rogers, Irvine, Converse, Daniels and Harling houses, all bright and nearly all new. On F is the cheerful Toney row, with Messrs. Bond and Peckham, Bardon and Hembree keeping up the dignity of that quarter. Just now the improvement is centering on the next street, G, where, besides Mr. Gortner's pretty cottage, has sprung up almost like magic the new home of Judge Bird and that of Mr. Hamilton, the man late from North Dakota. We understand that two other new residences are contemplated for this street. In other parts are the residences of Mrs. Lydia Hatch, Mrs. Ball, President Boardman and a score of others whose newness has not begun to wear off, as well as many that have been remodeled and improved. Besides all these is the erection of the Burns, Flynn and Hendrick blocks, the brushing up of the bank buildings and hotel, the new sewers, cement walks, etc., all indicative of prosperous times and an unshaken confidence in McMinnville's future. Add to all this the completion of the locks, making this city the head of navigation with a tri-weekly boat with a 75c fare to Portland, and we have as a community great cause for rejoicing. Will we vote for McKinley? Well, I guess yes!

J. A. Reed, a Portland dentist, practicing at Dayton was arrested last week for doing business without state license, and was bound over by Justice Pugh in the sum of $300.

The ranks of bachelorhood lost one of its most uncompromising members on Tuesday of this week when Samuel H. worth, of the McMinnville Pharmacy was married to Miss Catherine Dibble, the ceremony occurring in Portland. It is believed that Sam will make just as good a husband as he did a bachelor, and the chances are that his only regret will be that he didn't get married long ago. Here's hoping for himself and bride the greatest joys of life. They will occupy the Dr. Johnson residence on Second street.

Cook School Notes.
The Indians have been unjustly treated by the whites; so the judges decided after hearing the arguments pro and con. The debaters did well, except one who forgot his notes. Quite a number of visitors were present, and altogether the meeting was a success. The question for Nov. 2d is, "Resolved, That the inventions and discoveries of Franklin have done more to advance civilization than the discoveries and inventions of Edison have done to advance civilization."

Director Irvine gave the society a good talk. He is counted a friend by every one of the pupils. A number of high school students were visitors Friday; come again, girls.

Some of the girls that are interested in basket ball visited the college gymnasium on Tuesday evening.

The third grade reading class in Miss Daniels' room challenges admiration. Come and hear them read.

If you do not think that a student can be trusted visit the Cook school when one of the teachers is not in and see the order and industry of the students.

Reception to Miss Trumbull.
The literary faculty of the college will give a reception to Miss Rose M. Trumbull, the recently installed principal of the musical conservatory of the college, on Friday evening next, October 26th, at 8 o'clock. The reception will be given in the chapel of the college. A program will be rendered, consisting of both vocal and instrumental pieces, which will illustrate the work of the theory department of the conservatory. All the selections will be original compositions of the principal. In the rendition of the program Miss Trumbull will be assisted by Miss Mollie Patty, mezzo-soprano; Miss Louise Yoran, contralto; and Mr. Charles Grissen, violinist. After the program is concluded all who desire will have the opportunity to meet Miss Trumbull. The evening will be one of greatest interest to all-lovers of music. Admission will be on presentation of the invitational program, which all may secure without cost at Rogers Bros.' drug store. Call for one of these and be present in the chapel on Friday evening. On behalf of the faculty,
H. L. BOARDMAN, Pres.

Monday morning the steamer Bonita was struck by the Pomona while entering the locks at Oregon City, and crowded against the lock wall which tore a ragged hole in her hull at the water line. Capt. Hosford succeeded in getting his trim little craft inside the lock before she settled down, and repaired the damage sufficiently to enable her to proceed to this city. Had the collision occurred at any other point on the river the Bonita would have been lost.
