3 Corn Removers.

FIRST: Have six pairs of Shoes, use a different pair daily.
SECOND: Go barefoot six weeks.
THIRD: Use Rogers Bros.' Corn Cure.

The latter is the most practicable and surest. Corns can't stay where it is used. It can't fail, can't hurt the toe; can't do anything but take off corns. If you have corns now, next week you need have none. The remedy is different from others, better than others, and the cost is but 25 cents.

PUBLIC WEDDING.

As long as time shall last, human interest in public marriages will not abate. The degree of local interest in such matters was put to a strong test on Wednesday evening, Oct. 31st, when Mr. Wilburn Long, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Long, and Miss Laura M. Agee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Agee, were firmly united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the Christian church in this city. The spacious auditorium was more than filled with interested friends and spectators. Tasteful decorations profusely abounded about the chancel, made from combinations of autumn leaves, ivy, ferns, chrysanthemums, wild grape and geraniums. At the foot of the center aisle stood an evergreen arch, with a large bell pendant from its keystone. The sweet strains of Mendelssohn's Barthaloldi wedding march, performed by Mrs. Emma Barnhart, announced the appearance of the most interested parties. They were attended by Esther Grissen and Lottie Barnhart as flower girls. The pastor entering from his study, with well-timed precision met the betrothed at the arch. The bride appeared resplendent and beautiful, dressed in rich white cashmere, trimmed with lace, with hair garniture of white roses, and carrying a bouquet of white roses. The groom in black, looked as grooms always do—benign as a June morning.

"We are here this evening," said the clergyman, "to solemnize one of the most beautiful ceremonies of God's holy word. One in which not only the moral law of God's word is obeyed, but one in which God's holy and divine law* is brought into harmony with the laws of the land. One, therefore, in which earthly ties are harmonized with heavenly, one through which the golden chain of earthly relationship brings us into bonds unbroken, connecting generation with generation until the entire earth is to be brought into one great family." Then followed the solemn promises, sealed with prayer. The affirmations were not heard all over the church, but were given distinctly and in a spirit of "I mean it." The pastor then introduced Mr. and Mrs. Long to the audience, and extensive congratulations followed. Through all over speedily, it was a pleasing experience for everyone present.

Mr. and Mrs. Long repaired to the Agee home in Happy valley, but have furnished them a home in the Caldwell residence near the waterworks. The groom, born back in Johnson county, Kentucky, 21 years ago, has ever been a good boy, and his lovely bride is one of Oregon's fairest native daughters. Success to them.

President Sets Aside a Day for Thanksgiving.

It has pleased Almighty God to bring our nation in safety and honor through another year. The works of religion and charity have everywhere been manifest. Our country, through all its extent, has been blessed with abundant harvests. Labor and the great industries of the people have prospered beyond all precedent. Our commerce has spread over the world. Our power and influence in the cause of freedom and enlightenment have extended over distant seas and lands. The lives of our official representatives and many of our people in China have been marvelously preserved. We have been generally exempt from pestilence and other great calamities, and even the tragic visitation which overwhelmed the city of Galveston made evident the sentiments of sympathy and christian charity by virtue of which we are one united people.

Now, therefore, I, William McKinley, president of the United States, do hereby appoint and set apart Thursday, the 29th of November next, to be observed by all the people of the United States, at home or abroad, as a day of thanksgiving and praise to him who holds the nations in the hollow of his hand. I recommend that they gather in their several places of worship and devoutly give Him thanks for the prosperity wherewith He has endowed us, for seedtime and harvest, for the valor, devotion and humanity of our armies and navies, and for all His benefits to us as individuals and as a nation; and that they humbly pray for the continuance of His divine favor, for concord and amity with other nations, and for righteousness and peace in all our ways.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Tillman's This Argument.

The other day Senator Ben Tillman, of South Carolina, stood before a crowd of Illinois farmers and said:

"Now I'll go after that full dinner pail."

"Hurrah for McKinley!" came from the outskirts of the audience. The orator wended:

"You are asked to vote the republican ticket because you have got enough to eat. What is the inference? That enough to eat is all you deserve. When you have got a belly full you have got enough according to the republican idea. Do they appeal to your reason? No! Do they appeal to your heart? No! To what do they appeal?"

The South Carolinian clasped his hands across his paunch and grimaced. The Illinois farmers laughed good-naturedly.

"What animal do you know that has a greater affection for that part of his anatomy than for any other?" asked the senator. "The hog. The republican party puts you on the level of the hog."

The farmers laughed again. They were amused. This sort of argument might do with poor whites in South Carolina. It did not go in southern Illinois.

Tillman had been sent into a democratic stronghold to dispel apathy and to arouse the party spirit. A few miles from where he entertained, as set forth above, is a township which used to cast one solitary republican vote. Eight years ago it astonished the county seat crowd by returning twenty-four republican votes. Four years ago it gave McKinley sixty three votes. The poll this year shows 127 will be cast for the republican ticket. That is the kind of a political revolution which is going on in southern Illinois.

The Colonel and the Farmer.

New York Sun.

Colonel—My downtrodden friend, are you aware that the empire is ruining you?

Farmer—Well, Colonel, I told Maria I'd go down town and buy her a set of empire furniture for the bedroom today, and I reckon 'twont quite ruin me.

Colonel—But your liberty is in danger. Farmer—Not's long as I behave myself, and I always calculate to do that.

Colonel—But, my friend, the trusts, with the money trust at their head, are begging you.

Farmer—Well, they'll be a long time doing it. I'm in the money trust myself now.

Colonel—But surely you are afraid of the ravages of the octopus?

Farmer—I don't care a rap for no octopus as long as the pesky grasshoppers keep out of the way.

Colonel—But there's the mortgage. Farmer—Yep, lent money on one yesterday.

Colonel—But surely you do not approve the retention of the Philippines.

Farmer—Colonel, when I get hold of a good thing, I keep hold of it. When I get money enough to buy more land, I buy it.

Colonel—But, my dear sir, would you put the man-made dollar above the God-made man?

Farmer—No, but I'd put the man-made-dollar in the man-made bank. And I must get there before the bank shuts up. So you'll have to excuse me, Colonel.

Colonel—But my misguided friend, think of the declaration—

Farmer—How did you know that Bill Gibbings made one to my daughter, Eliza Ann, last night? Yep, and I've got to go and price pianos and things this afternoon. Good bye. (Exit singing):

"O, I like to see a five and I love to see a ten, So, ho, here we go for McKinley in again."

Sound Argument by Gault.

Bryan ought not to get a vote in this county if its citizens would consult their own interest. Were Bryan elected president he would pull out of the Philippines, bring the army home, its equipment and with it comes our merchants and industries that are just now building up. In that event Washington county will sell no more hay there, nor butter, nor flour. Continue McKinley and his policy and our dairies will have encouragement to justify expanding, we can send larger meadows, we can send our flour to the nearer market instead of to England, and thus save freight and insurance. We send flour, not wheat. The bran and shorts stay at home for our cattle. Our land is not impoverished by us that much, and the labor of manufacturing is an accumulation to our profit. These considerations ought to deny a vote to Bryan.—Hillsboro Independent.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wright was born in Rutherford county, Tenn., Sept. 12th, 1818, and died in this city on Wednesday, Oct. 31st. She moved to Jackson county, Mo., in 1832, where she was married to Thos. M. Wright, in 1834. She crossed the plains to Oregon with an ox team in 1847, and settled on a donation land claim near North Yamhill in 1848. Here her husband died in 1883. The widow resided on the claim until 1886, and then moved to McMinnville. She was the mother of 12 children, of whom nine are living—J. F. Wright, Woodburn; Mrs. T. C. Bynum, Mrs. Don Hayes, B. F. Wright and George Wright of McMinnville; Mrs. B. F. Perry, Tillamook; Mrs. John Dudley, North Yamhill; Mrs. A. J. Howell, Portland, and Mrs. W. H. Boyd, Umatilla. The funeral occurred yesterday at the Christian church in this city, with burial beside the grave of her husband in McBride cemetery, west of Carlton. All the living children were present except J. F. Wright and Mrs. B. F. Perry.

AMITY.

Revival meetings are in progress at the Baptist church.

Miss Lepha Hawley, who has been on the sick list, is now better.

Ira Martin has sold his stock of clothing to a Sheridan merchant.

The free show at the hall last Saturday night was very entertaining.

A brother of Ira Osborne from South Dakota is here making him a visit.

Mrs. Cook and children, who went to California some time ago, have returned to Amity.

Amity is as well lighted a town for its size as there is anywhere, and our citizens all think that it is money well spent.

The basket social at the hall last Wednesday night, given by the Epworth League, was a pleasant gathering, and a financial success.

By this time next week we will know who is to be the next president, and thousands of people all over the country will be out of their misery.

The two new gasoline lamps recently purchased were placed in position last Friday. This gives the town six lamps of this description, and the light is very good.

A portion of those hereabouts, who raised potatoes, took advantage of the good weather and have them out of the ground and under shelter, while others neglected to and will dig in the mud.

SHERIDAN.

Mrs. Ella Jones of Portland is visiting relatives in this city.

There will be republican speaking at Odd Fellows' hall on Friday evening, Nov. 2d.

Mrs. F. J. Steward of near Dolph, has been spending the past week visiting in this vicinity.

Mrs. P. M. Churchman and Mrs. Will Ralston visited Mrs. Allie Branson at Salem a few days last week.

Mrs. J. W. Cows returned to her home in McMinnville Monday morning, after a two weeks visit in Sheridan.

Mrs. Minnie Lady, living above Willamina, is very low of typhoid fever, and it is feared that she cannot recover.

Miss Ella Yates, of Washington county, a former resident of this place, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting old acquaintances.

The meetings which have been in progress for two weeks closed last Sunday night. While there were no apparent conversions there seems to be a more harmonious feeling existing among the different churches of the town.

A child of James Norris, living above Willamina, was so severely burned one day last week as to cause its death. In some way its clothing caught fire from the fireplace and before it could be rescued it was so badly burned that it could not be saved.

A Village Blacksmith Saved His Little Son's Life.

Mr. H. H. Black, the well-known village blacksmith at Grahamsville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five years old, has always been subject to croup, and so had have the attacks been that we have feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms appear we have found that the dreaded croup is cured before it gets settled." There is no danger in giving this remedy, for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by Howorth & Co., druggists.

LAFAYETTE.

Rain, rain, rain, the beautiful rain. Presidential election next Tuesday. Hurrah for McKinley.

J. L. Vickrey was in Portland Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Mr. Barbank is gradually weakening. Can help himself but little any more.

Miss Belle Belcher has returned home from a several weeks' visit with her brother, Capt. C. T. Belcher of Portland.

Rev. E. B. Lockhart will preach in the M. E. church next Sunday at 11 and at night. At night his subject will be "The Burning Question before the Christian Nation." All invited.

Wm O'Conner returned a few days ago from the southern part of the state.

Last Sunday night he was out to church and went home at the usual hour. After being in bed a short time his mother, who was sleeping down stairs, heard a noise. She called out to William upstairs, "What is making that noise as of someone moving about?" It wakened William, who lit a lamp and thought he saw a man moving for the stairway. He reached for his Winchester and made for the stairway; he fired two shots in the direction of the door going out below.

All was soon quiet and upon investigation it was found that the first ball went down the stairway, through the door and through the floor of the porch. Neither ball got the man simply because he was not before the gun. It is supposed William had money in his pocket and somebody wanted it. Don't monkey with a Winchester.

Columbus School Notes.

Miss Goheen has resumed her studies in the 9th grade.

Miss Nora Seitters was absent two or three days this week.

Professor says we must work or we will find the way to the next lower grade.

The boys play ball whenever it does not rain, but they do not get to play very much.

You should attend our debating society today. We have quite an extensive program, and we would be glad to have you with us.

Professor has put numbers on the walls for marching purposes, and makes every one take their own place. Our marching is much improved.

Our heaters will soon be in running order and we will not be sorry. The smoke caused from the stoves is sometimes nearly unbearable.

Revs. Fender and Atkinson were welcome visitors one day this week. They made a few remarks to the high school, and said they were well pleased with our recitations.

Cook School Notes.

All our wood is at last in the dry.

The eighth and sixth grades sing on every Tuesday and Thursday morning.

The eighth grade is practicing and is thinking of challenging some other grade for an old time spelling match.

The pupils of Miss Comer's and Miss Daniels' room are running a race in regard to attendance and punctuality.

"2 x 3 plus 4 divided by 2" was put on the board in the eighth grade room the other morning and here are the answers that were given: 5, 7, 8 and 10. 8 is right. The above was taken from a West Point entrance examination and only two out of eleven got it right.

Manhattan Island, on which the city of New York stands, was purchased of the Indians in 1626 for twenty-four dollars. The simple interest on that amount from January 1st of that year to Jan. 1st, 1901, at 10 per cent would be 660 dollars. When we get to compound interest we shall report again on this problem.
