LOCAL NEWS.

G. S. Wright, dentist. Wire fence at the Fence Works. Scott & Williams, Grissen's old stand. The price of eggs has reached 28c. This is practically prohibitive. Big cut in ladies' and gents' tan shoes at the Racket store.

The river is getting up to very respectable steambating proportions. Judge Magers is home from campaigning in eastern Oregon. He walks like a man who thinks it's fixed for McKinley. China pheasants are about ripe. Hodson has guns and ammunition to supply you.

Democratic rowdies continue to attack Roosevelt, but he is able to parry them every time. The Telephone-Register gives Bryan 257 electoral votes and McKinley 103, doubtful 87. "Conservative" indeed.

Colon Eberhard, one of the attendants at the state hospital for the insane, is at home in this city for a brief vacation. Notwithstanding all that has been said and done the best intrinsic values are to be found at the Racket store, especially in those Star 5 Star shoes.

The building vacated by W. L. Hembree is being fitted up for a new restaurant, to be conducted by J. B. Williams. A new social circle has been formed among the young people, who have adopted the name of Pollywogs.

We want all the turkeys, chickens, geese, ducks and eggs you have. We pay the cash. Don't fail to bring your poultry and let us see it. H. A. PALMER & Co.

Even our strong Oregon fir timber will succumb to the action of the elements, in the course of years. After weathering the mists of more than twenty years, the S. P. depot was despoiled of a portion of the ornamental structure on the roof last Tuesday.

The Junior society of the C. P. church elected the following officers for the coming six months: Bessie Laelling, president; Lyle Hendricks, vice president; Emily Hamblin, secretary; Fred Schenk, treasurer; Bessie and Essie Baker, librarians.

Third street presented a grotesque appearance the morning after Halloween. The boys got in considerable of their decorative work with wagons, boxes and cord wood, notwithstanding there is said to have been six marshals on the rounds.

Tom Van Orsdal thinks the foundations of the government are threatened as never before in the country's history. It's too bad about Tom. It might be all right if he had just been elected to the legislature last June. We'll all sink with you, Tom.

The reception to Miss Trumbull at the college Friday night was well attended, and was a decided musical success. After the program, Miss Trumbull was generally introduced to the people, and refreshments of chocolate and wafers, with a social hour, followed.

Mrs. N. S. Dubois, for many years an inmate of the state hospital at Salem, died there on Thursday of last week, and was buried Friday in the Masonic cemetery at Albany, in which city she used to reside. Joe Dubois of this city attended the funeral of his mother.

A pleasant Halloween social was given at the C. P. church Wednesday evening. The occasion was rendered grotesque and weird by the use of jack-o-lanterns and fortune telling. Refreshments consisting of apples, coffee and wafers were served. Violin selections by Miss Hamblin and Mr. Grinnold, vocal solos by Miss Carrie Schenk and Mr. Macy, were presented. The attendance was good.

A buggy adorned the dome of the college observatory Thursday morning. But the president was too smart for the boys. With some assistance he had the vehicle down before time for recitations. A philosophical lady remarks: "That was better than trying to find out who did it to punish them." And she was right. It took the satisfaction from the boys of seeing it remain there.

When the fortifications at the mouth of the Columbia river were given modern coast defense guns the old mortars and cannon were broken up by dynamite and the metal sold. Friday of last week and Wednesday of this, a carload of this gun metal was brought through McMinnville enroute to the Oswego iron works, where it will be cast into some form other than grim articles of war. This material takes a roundabout course to reach Oswego, having to come from Portland to Whiteson, a distance of 54 miles, and then back on the other branch of the S. P. to within eight or ten miles of Portland. A transfer of about four blocks in the city would obviate the necessity of this long haul, but the railroad company finds it cheaper to haul the cars.

The population of the United States is 76,295,220. Miles Hendrick now occupies his new residence on north C street. Geo. T. Murton of Portland is visiting his brother, C. C. Murton, this week. Charley Morgan has entered the employ of Reynolds & Powell, the butchers. For rent—Front rooms, for private or office use. Inquire of Scott & Williams. Geo. E. Fish, late of Michigan, has purchased the Simpson property on college side, and is moving therein. We are paying this week 35 to 40 cts per roll for good butter and 28 cts per doz for fresh eggs. WALLACE & WALKER. H. B. Reed visited with his family for a few days during the week. He again took his departure for California yesterday.

That new granite ware at Hodson's is the best and cheapest, but must be used to be appreciated. Johnny Carlsen is back from California and has opened a rabbitry on B street, a business he thoroughly understands. See his card in this paper.

Harvey Bogue, who visited with relatives at Sheridan last Sunday, believes he encountered sufficient wet weather on that day to insure next year's wheat crop without additional rain.

Local physicians have decided that Mrs. Letitia Bean is afflicted with a cancer under her tongue, and she will leave in a short time for California, to spend her remaining days with relatives. Mr. Bryan's answers to the inquiries about disfranchisement in North Carolina are similar to his answer concerning the Tammany ice trust and that as to whether he would pay the government's obligations in gold or silver in case of his election. They don't answer.

Walter C. Woodward, associate editor of the Graphic, was up from Newberg to attend the college entertainment, and remained over Sunday with his friend, Herve Hoskins. We were sorry to learn through him of the continued illness of his father. Walter is conducting the paper in an efficient manner.

"Inquirer" asks The Reporter if something cannot be done in behalf of a poor cowbrute staked out in the northeast part of town during the late stormy weather. Merciful man ought indeed to be merciful to his beasts, and especially to as good and useful a friend as the family cow. A touch of human sympathy should prompt the owner to provide a shelter.

Charley and Ben Laughlin reached this place Tuesday. Ben from Cape Nome and Charley from the Circle City mining district. The boys have been away to the far north for a long time, Ben having left Portland with the great roush via Dyea in the first of August 1896, and Charley went north several years previous to that time. They look rugged and healthy and it is generally admitted that they have been very successful from a financial standpoint. Last Tuesday while Wm. Vail and Frank Hoffstatter were cleaning and deepening the well at the residence of A. F. Fryer, the windlass broke while Mr. Vial was being hauled up, when he was near the surface and he fell back to the bottom, a distance of more than thirty feet. Before starting up he had placed a blast and ignited the fuse. On falling back he had the presence of mind to hunt up the fuse in the smoke and darkness, which he succeeded in withdrawing before the fire reached the charge of powder. In the fall he succeeded in catching with his feet along the sides of the wall sufficiently to reduce the force of the fall to such a degree that he was not hurt, and came out the short but exciting experience unharmed.—North Yamhill Record.

The Real Thing

The art of imitation in jewelry has been brought to such a high degree of perfection that the cheap "gilt" stuff, found in general stores, can with difficulty be told from fine rolled plate or solid. Wear will demonstrate the difference—appearance will not. The only safe course in buying jewelry of any sort is to rely upon experience and honesty of the established dealer, who cannot AFFORD to misrepresent his goods.
