Oregon's Population.

The official announcement of the population of the state of Oregon gives the state 413,536 in 1900, a gain of 31.7 per cent in the last ten years. Yamhill county is given 13,420, these being eleven counties whose people outnumber those in Yamhill. In 1890 the population of this county was 10,692. Thus we have a gain of 2,728 in ten years, this being an increase of nearly 26 per cent. Multnomah Co. is first in population, with 103,167, and Curry county is least, with only 1,868. Benton county shows a loss of 1,944 since last census. Gilliam lost 399, and Morrow 54. These losses, however, can be accounted for by the creation of two new counties, Lincoln and Wheeler.

The population of the cities and towns in Oregon has not yet been officially announced.

When the Hair Falls Out accompanied by mucous patches in the mouth, eruptions on the skin, sore throat, copper colored spots, swollen glands, aching muscles and bones, the disease is making rapid headway, and far worse symptoms will follow unless the blood is promptly and effectually cleansed of this violent destructive poison.

S. S. S. is the only safe and infallible cure for this specific poison. It cures the worst cases thoroughly and permanently.

My Condition Could Have Been No Worse.

In the fall of 1897 I contracted Blood Poison. I tried three doctors, but their treatment did me no good; I was getting worse all the time; my hair came out, sores appeared in my throat and mouth, my body was almost covered with copper colored spots and offensive sores. I suffered severely from rheumatic pains in my shoulders and arms. My condition could have been no worse; only those afflicted as I was can understand my sufferings. I had about lost all hope of ever being well again when I decided to try S. S. S., but must confess I had little faith left in any medicine. After taking the third bottle I noticed a change in my condition. This was truly encouraging, and I determined to give S. S. S. a thorough trial. From that time on the improvement was rapid; S. S. S. seemed to have the disease completely under control; the sores and aches healed and I was soon free from all signs of the disorder. I have been strong and healthy ever since.

L. W. SMITH, Lock Box 611, Nokesville, Ind.

The Bible in the Schools.

Attorney General Blackburn has rendered a decision of great interest to the public school boards of Oregon. It appears that a teacher in one of the schools of Washington county has been, each morning, reading a chapter from the bible and repeating the Lord's prayer, or compelling the pupils to repeat said prayer, or to stand up and listen to the teacher as she repeated the same. She was notified by the chairman of the board to discontinue this practice, without any authority from, and against the expressed wish of the other directors. She expelled pupils because they would not stand up and listen to her as she repeated the prayer. The board of directors met and approved her action, but the chairman refused to sign the minutes of the meeting. An appeal having been taken to the county superintendent, that official sustained the majority of the board, and an appeal was taken to the state department. Superintendent Ackerman submitted the questions involved to the attorney general for an opinion.

Judge Blackburn quotes the Oregon school laws, and sections 2, 3 and 5 of article 1 of the constitution of Oregon as authority for religious freedom, and then dwells at considerable length upon the standard of morals taught in the new testament, and the advantages to the world, morally, if every man, woman and child in the country would live up to and comply with its teachings, and follow in the footsteps of him who is called the son of God. He says, further, that "while it does not appear that the teacher was, in the first instance, directed by the board to read a chapter each morning in open school from the bible, yet it does appear that the board has ratified the act of the teacher in so doing, and has thus established a rule on that subject. . . . Where the reading of a chapter in the bible, without comment, and the repeating of the Lord's prayer, have been authorized by the board of directors of the school district, the rules thus adopted can be enforced by excluding from the school for the time limited by law the refractory pupil, and if the people of the district are not satisfied with the rule so adopted and enforced the remedy is in their own hands, and they can elect a board which will adopt and enforce a different rule."
