THE QUEEN IS DEAD

Met Death Surrounded By Her Entire Family.

THE PRINCE OF WALES HAILED AS KING

Passing of England's Queen Causes Universal Sorrow-Was One of Most Beloved Rulers of the World.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 23 .-Queen Victoria is dead and Edward VII reigns.

The greatest event in the memory of this generation, the most stupendous change in existing conditions that could possibly be imagined; has taken place quietly, almost gently, upon the anniversary of the death of Queen Victoria's father, the Duke of Kent. The end of this carreer, never equalled by any woman in the world's history, came in a simply furnished room in the Osborne House. This most respected of women, living or dead, lay in a great four posted bed and made a shrunken atom whose aged face and figure were a cruel mockery of the fair girl who, in 1837, began to rule over England, Around her wer, gathered almost every descendant of her line. Well within view of ber dying eyes there hung a portrait of the Prince Consort. It was he who designed the room and every part of the castle.

In scarcely audible words, the white haired Bishop of Winchester prayed beside her, as he had often prayed, for he was her chaplain at Windsor. With bowed heads the imperious ruler of the German empire and the man who United States has Offered $100,000 for Certain is now king of England, the woman who has succeeded to the title of queen, the princes and princesses, and those of less than royal designation, listened to the bishop's ceaseless praying

Six o'clock passed. The bishop con tinued his intercession. One of the ounger children asked a question in shrill, childish treble, and was immediately silenced. The women of this royal family sobbed faintly, and the men shuffled uneasily.

At exactly half past 6, Sir James Reid held up his head, and the people then knew that England had lost her queen. The bishop pronounced the benediction. The queen passed away quite peacefully. She suffered no pain. The most of the mourners went to their rooms.

element of materialism stepped into this pathetic chapter of international history, for the court ladies went briskly to work ordering their Dourning from London. The wheels of the world were jarred when the announcement came, but in this palace at Osborne everything pursued the usual conrse. Down in the kitchen they were cooking a huge dinner for an assemblage, the like of which has seldom been known in England, and the dinner preparations proceeded just as if nothing had happened.

FIRE, BUT NO PANIC.

and Opera House at Cincinnati Burned Fortunately no Loss of Life.

Cincinnati, Jan. 24 .- The Grand opera house was tonight destroyed by ire, except for its staunch outer walls. The play set for the night was "Hamlet," by E. H. Southern company, and the house was packed by a brilliant audience.

The first act had been finished and in the second Mr. Southern, acting the part of Hamlet, had spoken but a few lines when a slight disturbance in the orchestra seats was observed. It was caused by a slight issue of smoke at that point. An usher went down the aisle and quietly asked the people to be seated, saving there was nothing wrong. Mr. Souhtern, at this point, stepped to the front of the stage and also assured the audience that everything was all right. Then he resumed his part, but before he had spoken two lines the smoke issued in such volumes that there was a spontaneous movement of the people in its vicinity. Without further order or suggestion, one of the most remarkable scenes ever witnessed in a crowded auditorium took place. It was as if the whole situation had been revealed to every person in the house, and without a single shout or anything else indicating a leader, dispersal of the audience began and was carried on with as much order and composure as if no such thing as fire had ever been known. Mr. Southern estimates his loss at $50,000. His company was compelled to reach the street clad in their costumes and office of the governor-general's military secretary, and was called upon to to lose the greater part of their personal effects, left in the theater.
