The Question of The Hour.

Sewers, and How To Assess.

EDITOR REPORTER: For the last few weeks there has been more or less agitation in relation to the construction of the sewer on C street. As I have been one of the promoters of this public benefit, and have been more often misquoted than I have been quoted correctly, I beg your indulgence for a little time and space in your paper. For over twenty years the question of proper sewerage for the city has been discussed by those who wished to see the city take the place to which it was entitled. One of the most urgent needs of any city is to get away with the refuse and garbage of the city in order that the people may have and keep good health, and the first step along this line is the construction of proper sewers, and until last summer nothing but talk has ever been done. At that time a few of the public spirited citizens on E street decided that they would have a sewer, let it cost what it would. They commenced the work, and others at once took it up, until it was extended almost to C street, those along the lateral lines paying the main line sewer $25 for the privilege of connecting. They at that time offered me the same privilege for the same money, but it was not what I wanted, as it was not deep enough in the ground. I then offered $50 if they would put it down so that it was seven feet at my corner, and would pay in addition my part of the cost of the lateral sewer. But it could not be done. Then others along the line of C street said, "We must have a sewer." And so the move was started. While upon my trip to the east, I spent much time investigating the sewer system of the different cities that I visited. First, as to the construction of the sewer, and second, as to the manner of assessing for the payment of the same. I found two systems. One was upon the cash value of the land; the other was upon the area of the land, the latter plan being the one most used, as it was considered worth as much to one lot to get rid of the sewage as it was to another. This is also the plan adopted by the city of Portland, as the following letter from the city engineer of Portland will show:

PORTLAND, Or., June 15, 1900.

O. O. HODSON, Esq., McMinnville, Or.

Dear Sir: When all property is equally benefited, and have equal facilities for using the sewer, all are assessed alike in the city of Portland. This is found to be the most fair and equitable way of assessing. If a man owns four lots on the line of sewer, he pays twice as much as the owner of two lots. The plan outlined for McMinnville by Mr. Hodson is correct I think. The principle governing assessments is, as outlined above, equal assessments for equal advantages. Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM B. CHASE, City Engineer.

Upon the investigation of our charter it was thought best to adopt the first system and assess the property upon the basis of cash values, which I believe will come nearer satisfying the majority of the people, and that is what should be done. The plans of the construction of the sewer are from plans and specifications that I received from the city of Muncie, Ind., and are as complete as time and experience can suggest. I am sure that when our sewer is in and complete and the property connected therewith that not one of the people who have it would be without for many times what it will have cost them, and they will then thank those who were the promoters of one of the health preservers of the city.

Respectfully Yours, O. O. HODSON.

AMITY.

Gravel hauling has commenced.

Miss Faith Tanderup is visiting friends here.

Ed Rea is fencing the lots that he has just purchased.

Mr. Simmons has bought the Roth traction engine.

The roads adjacent to this place are the best in the county.

John Henderson of Tillamook is visiting friends and transacting business here.

Mrs. Gilbaugh, south of town, has the best garden for this time of year we have seen.

Several of the young men of this place will give a concert at the hall next Friday night.

Mr. Losey, father of Mrs. Savage of this place, fell from a building at Salem last week and was killed.

A great deal of clover hay has been damaged by the recent rains, but all kinds of vegetation has been benefited.

Two Seven-Day-Adventist preachers and their friends are tenting and preaching here. They are "fixed up" in good shape and it looks as if they will stay here for some time.

Arthur Cane returned from his meeting at Elkton last Friday. He reports twenty additions to the church there as the result of his preaching. He left the following Sunday for the state meeting at Turner.

Young men and women who go to church and misbehave lack good breeding and are not ladies and gentlemen.

Several from out of town were showing the people what they were Sunday night at the tent. One or two examples have been made here within the last few years of parties who disturbed people at worship, and it looks like something will have to be done again.

James Brown, a cattle dealer from Sheridan, was in the valley Monday and succeeded in purchasing a few head of cattle.

Miss Lillian Cockerham visited her sister, Mrs. J. Eborall, for a few days last week. She returned to her home near McMinnville Monday.

The base-ball boys from this place played the Sheridan team Sunday afternoon at Sheridan. The Gopher team was defeated by a score of 10 to 5.

School district No. 57 also takes part in our picnic the 28th inst. We intend to have a grand time. The Sheridan and Mill creek teams will play ball in the afternoon.

General Sheridan's Gun.

Prof. A. M. Sanders, of this city, sent this week to the Oregon Historical Society of Portland, as a loan, a shotgun, which was brought to Oregon by Gen. Philip H. Sheridan in 1856. Sheridan, then a lieutenant, was stationed at Grande Ronde from 1856 till the breaking out of the civil war in 1861. Before leaving for the front he gave the gun, with some other belongings, to a half-breed, who sold it to Joseph Sanders, grandfather of the professor. Joseph Sanders was at that time superintendent of farming on the reservation. After his death in 1868 the gun became the property of Hon. J. R. Sanders of Yamhill county, who, a few years ago, gave it to the present owner.

The historical society is making a collection of Sheridan relics and this gun is to be a part of that collection.—Independence Enterprise.
