The special shoe sale of F. Dielschneider is continuing through August, and his customers are getting rare bargains. Are you getting the benefit of it?

The North Yamhill town council is endeavoring to find a sufficient supply of water for the town by tunneling the Blackburn hill. This does not correspond with the statement made by a man who went to Wisconsin from that town last fall and reported that people were sailing around the streets in boats.—Stayton Mall.

Every purchase draws a prize in the quality of goods and the extremely low prices at the Racket store, and you do not help pay for some one else's prize or premium.

The public sale of household effects of S. A. Manning on Monday was not very largely attended, but Auctioneer Walker succeeded in disposing of almost all the goods at a fair price. For a midsummer sale it could properly be regarded as a success. E. J. Wood served as clerk of the sale.

C. F. Daniels sells feed for the cow, feed for the chickens, and a full line of general produce to supply the household. Remember the place—the D. street produce market.

V. E. Grinnold, of the Grinnold Photo Co., left on Monday afternoon for an extended trip in the east, his principal stopping place probably being Logansport, Ind. He will remain an indefinite time, and leaves the business here in charge of Adelbert Perkins, an expert photographer.

What most people want is something mild and gentle when in need of a physic. Chamberlain's stomach and liver tablets fill the bill to a dot. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by Howarth & Co.

The excursion on Sunday by the Knights and Ladies of Security from Portland to Independence ran ten coaches, though not all were filled. Frank Ferguson came up as far as this city to visit his family. The train also brought guests to Mrs. C. D. Johnson, her sister, Mrs. Powell, and brother, Mr. Dawson, of Portland.

C. H. Markham of the Southern Pacific Co. desires to obtain samples of wheat, oats and other grains from this section for purposes of exhibition at the Portland carnival next month. The grain must be in the sheaf, and should be in small bundles securely tied at top, bottom and middle, and tagged with the owner's name and address. Those who are able to furnish samples of this year's excellent crops are requested to leave the same with the agent at McMinnville, who will forward them to Portland free of charge.

A. B. Cady, of Beaverton, formerly of this place, writing in regard to Canadian thistles, believes that Oregon would be done for if a crop was allowed to go to seed. As to killing the thistle he gives this advice: "To get rid of them is the question. Summer following will not do it, although it will decrease their growth. My father had a small patch on our farm and they were all cut down, taken off and burned. Then we went on the patch, crawled around on our hands and knees and split open every stock and put salt in the split, and that fixed them. They never came up again."

G. S. Wright, dentist.

M. Underwood had a yield of 20 to 25 bushels of wheat per acre.

Hay baling, low prices, good work. J. A. DERBY & SON.

J. E. Durham and family arrived home from Rossland, B. C., on Tuesday. All are looking in the best of health. It is understood that they have returned to old Yamhill to stay.

Mrs. Geo. Seod and son of Portland are spending a couple of weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Houck, she being called here by the serious illness of her father, Mr. O. Okerson.

The Christian church of this city has called Rev. A. L. Platt of Brazil, Ind., to the pastorate, and that gentleman has signified his acceptance. He will begin his labors Oct. 1st, with a salary of $1,000 per year.

Sheriff Sifton arrested an old man named John Bailey last Friday, who was riding off a horse he had borrowed and forgot to return to the owner, a farmer in Multnomah county. Deputy Sheriff Fred Matthews came up after the prisoner Friday evening.

Wm. F. Dielschneider has let the contract for constructing his new residence to Wm. Arthur, who will do a good job. The house will stand opposite E. C. Apperson's residence on the east, and will be a modern building, lending beauty to this already leading residence street.

Dr. W. J. Wisecarver has returned from Chicago with a diploma from the celebrated Haskell school of prosthetic dentistry. He brings to the dental firm of Lewis & Wisecarver the very latest in methods and appliances. He found his association with the eminent men of his profession extremely pleasant and profitable, despite the warm weather of Chicago.

A. Trudell, of the North Yamhill saw-mills, has a tree now ready for the oxen to transport to the mill, that is something of a giant of the forest. It is 67 inches in diameter, and made eight cuts of 16 feet each. He has a nice tract of timber, but experiences the same difficulty as other millers in getting it to the saw. Each year finds it receding farther from the location of the mill.

Progress is reported on the Gooser place northeast of North Yamhill in prospecting for coal. A ledge over six feet thick has been found, and indications of other ledges. Samples are being assayed in Portland. Outcroppings at this place and elsewhere in the Chehalis mountains have been observed for years, but hitherto the energy to demonstrate what exists under ground has been lacking. The assayer has pronounced this coal good quality for commercial and household use.

Wm. Smith of Pike claims to have the best thrasher engine in Yamhill county. It is said to be his own design. It is made with double cylinders immediately over the boiler, and as a result is an especially powerful machine, and has no dead centers and consequent chugs of motion. He gets the water both by pump and injector, and besides his water wagon, carries a hundred gallon steel tank of water in front of the smoke stack, as a reserve force. He claims he can drive his engine and draw his separator after it up or down any hill where a plow can go. After hearing Mr. Smith, we are convinced that he would rather talk engine than eat a good meal of victuals. He says Elsie Wright will come to his standard of machine about next year.

For feed, hay, flour and berries. J. A. DERBY & SON.

Wednesday night was the hottest of the season.

Miss Dora Pennington is visiting friends in Salem.

Advice to McMinnville people now in the mountains or at the coast: Stay where you are. We are not sleeping under blankets at home just now.

Mrs. Derr and daughter Blanche returned from the Willamina camp on Wednesday. Rev. Fender and fellow campers expect to return today.

Miss Frances Mann, late of Unalaska, is the guest of Miss Ella Hendrick. On September 3d they will leave for the Buffalo Exposition and other eastern points, being members of the Evening Telegram's excursion.

D. B. Kingery changed his residence on Wednesday to the Manning property, recently bought by him. He had the building thoroughly equipped with sewer connections, and in time will make a model little home of it.

Quite a destructive mountain fire has been raging off the west of Jones' mill and north of the Willamina. Where are our forest rangers? We think we hear some one say, "They are drawing their salary." Are they earning it? That's the question.

H. P. Webster and wife returned last week from a visit with relatives in The Dalles. They made the entire trip by boat, and report a most enjoyable time—barring a spell of sickness which attacked Mr. Webster, and kept his attendance at low ebb for a while.

Drs. Smith & Barber performed a very difficult surgical operation on Mrs. Wallace of Grand Ronde, at the McLaughlin hotel last Thursday afternoon, for the removal of tumors on the neck. The operation was very successful in every respect, and Mrs. Wallace is progressing nicely.—Sheridan Sun.

Citizens of Newberg have chartered the Yamhill Coal and Oil Co. for the purpose of engaging in prospecting for oil and coal. The company is capitalized for $50,000, divided into shares of $1 each. A. P. Oliver, J. C. Colcord and A. C. Churchill are the incorporators. Town lots are said to be on the rise.

Rev. T. H. Henderson of Salem suffered a brief prostration from the heat in this city on Wednesday. He came to Weston by boat, and the balance of the way by wheel. The extreme heat and working against the wind, overtaxed his strength, and while at the postoffice a fainting spell ensued. With a little medical attention he revived and has visited with friends until today.

W. C. Miller, an old-time friend of the families of C. H. Fleming and W. B. Sharp, was here on a visit this week, having returned direct from St. Michaels. He was employed by the government up there all winter as a carpenter, constructing army posts. He says he drove nails on top of buildings last winter with the thermometer at 35 degrees below zero, and with nothing on his hands but ordinary buckskin gloves. Ice 20 feet thick remained in the bay there till July 2d, and people had begun to think it wasn't going to break up at all this year. On the morning of the 3d they woke up to the vision of a clear bay. It had gone out to sea in one night. Mr. Miller says about 2,000 people remained at Nome all winter, and since spring from four to five thousand have been added to the population. They were eleven days coming down on the government transport Warren, and came within a hair's breadth of running upon the rocks in a fog. Mr. Miller may become a resident of this county, as he is very favorably impressed.

Temperature for the Week.

The following record of the weather for the week is taken from the thermometer at Williams' book store in this city at 3 p. m.

Monday, 89 degrees. Tuesday, 89 degrees. Wednesday, 98 degrees. Thursday, 94 degrees.

A Narrow Escape.

Thos. Rogers received a letter from his brother Frank, now at Netarts, under date of 13th inst., telling of the following exciting experience: "We had quite a little excitement here on Saturday morning. Five men started from the store to go out over the bar to the Lion rocks off Maxwell's point. When near the last large roller going out the boat overturned and all five were thrown into the water. They succeeded in righting the boat, which was full of water. They all got in and slowly drifted to shore. A large breaker knocked three of them loose from the boat and they were only brought back again by heroic work of the two men remaining in the boat, with the use of buoy kegs. After being in the icy water for more than an hour they finally drifted into the shallow breakers, to which point a team of horses was driven, and the men were all secured, three being unable to stand and would have surely drowned within 100 feet of shore had not the campers been on hand to save them. The men were rushed to Happy Camp and restoratives ministered. With the assistance of warm blankets and vigorous rubbing for a period covering almost two hours, they were brought to the men, at least three of them, owe their lives to the prompt and willing work of the campers here. I was out to Tillamook yesterday, saw all the former Yamhillers. We are thoroughly enjoying every minute of the time."
