

Another Rambler Bicycle Given Away.

For the benefit of my customers I am going to give away another Rambler bicycle on Dec. 25th. For the gift I intend to purchase a 1902 model, which will be placed on the market about that time. It will be the best wheel ever produced, fitted with coaster brake. Remember, every 50 cents worth you buy at my store gives you a possibility of being the owner of this bicycle. I intend to spend less money advertising in the papers and give it direct to my customers. My stock consists of an up-to-date assortment of dry goods, furnishing goods, hats and caps, groceries, etc. I am prepared to supply all your wants and handle all your produce.

Prof. H. L. Boardman and Rev. L. W. Riley left on Monday morning for the head waters of Testament creek, to hunt and fish throughout the week. J. W. Cook took them as far as a team could penetrate; after that they were to walk and carry their guns and camp equipage a distance of six to ten miles. At first flush this hardly seems worth the candle, but wait till you hear of the fish and deer brought back.

"My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhoea," says J. H. Doak, of Williams, Oregon. Uncle Jacob Wortman has probably the finest field of oats in the county on his farm near Carlton—the old Shelton place. We hope he will exhibit some in the sheaf at both the Portland and the home carnivals. It will do you good right now to drive out and see what a man past 70 years can do on a farm when he gets down to business and pulls off his coat.

The Columbia Telephone Co. has changed ownership. The new owners of the system are the same men that are putting in an independent telephone system in Seattle. The intention is to unite the two systems and establish long-distance connection between Portland and Puget sound points. Eventually, it is said, the system will be extended so as to include all points of importance in Washington and Oregon, but for the present the connection will be between Seattle and Puget sound. In addition it is proposed to improve the Columbia telephone system in Portland, and an effort will be made to extend the service throughout the city. It is expected that the competition between the Pacific States company and the new company will be more or less keen. This company has a local station in McMinnville which has never been given the attention it should have had, in the way of extending connections, making cheap rates and doing business in a business-like way. If McMinnville were given a monthly rate of 50 cents, nearly everybody could have a phone, and a fine business would be done. And don't you think for a minute that the company would not make money at this rate.

The meet of the fruitmen at Newberg last week was productive of some good thoughts. E. H. Skinner of Springbrook, doesn't agree with a good many Oregon horticulturists in the idea that cherry trees can no longer be successfully propagated. In speaking of gumosis, in particular, he gave the following as the mode of procedure which he found most successful in procuring healthy trees. Plant seeds from a hardy, smooth seedling tree and transplant when one year old into rows four feet apart by one foot in the row. Let them grow two seasons and in the spring of the third cut them back to four feet apart and whip-graft them, leaving three buds on each scion, and the result is a hardy seedling body generally free from gumosis or disease of any kind. The speaker in conclusion strongly combated the popular idea that cherry trees will not bear much cultivation. E. Hofer of Salem is a strawberry enthusiast, and thinks there is a gold mine for the horticulturist in the canned strawberry. He said: "It is of universal consumption and the Willamette valley is destined to take the markets of the world. Strawberry growers should learn to specialize; that is to grow different berries for different purposes and different markets. This is the highest development attained. More berries should be grown for the cannery. Strawberry canning, in its infancy where carried on, has already turned the early dull season into one of business. Willamette valley horticulturists should get infused with the Hood River spirit of enterprise and push. What's done there can be done better here, where many conditions are naturally more favorable. This is the strawberry paradise of the world and we are fools not to enter therein. To make a success of the business patiently cultivate your thoughts upon the essential principles of berry culture, master the literature of the subject, study your soil, find one or two varieties adapted to it and stay with them, market only the best and co-operate with your fellow-growers." He specially commended the following varieties: Oregon Ideal, Clark's Seedling, Kansas, DuMaurier, Marguerite, Beverly, Sample, Downing's Pride, Sunshine and Double Cropper. In conclusion the speaker said: "The strawberry patch is the connecting link between town and country, between city and suburban homes, the golden road to industrial emancipation for the white-faced inhabitants of rented houses, giving employment to the largest numbers in field and factory, helping the multitude to get and to keep the most sacred and beautiful thing in the world—a well furnished American home supported by honest, health giving industry by old and young."

A Minister's Good Work.

"I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power, of Emporia, Kan. "My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor. He used them for three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. I went over to see him the next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that they had been running off so long that it was almost bloody flux. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy, and he said, 'No.' I went home and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose, told him to take another dose 'in fifteen or twenty minutes if he did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured." Not Always So In Oregon.

This is the season when the father of a boy gets catalogues containing pictures of the college base ball team with baggy knee pants and undershirts without sleeves; also of the track team, showing ugly bare legs and arms; of the football team in pants looking as if they were made out of mother's old quilts, and of the boat crew with the intellectual looking coach in the middle. Nothing to show that the student gets anything in his head.—Ex.

"Blind Tom," the negro pianist, who had so dropped out of hearing that many thought him dead, has now reappeared in concert. Tom is now fifty years old, and still mentally the child he was when his extraordinary imitative faculty was first manifested. Since 1882 he has been under the most punctilious care, in asylums and sanitariums, and his custody has been a shuttlecock between one attorney and another. The present guardian is Albert Lerche. Of course Blind Tom is a musical freak, but he is quite different from freaks that are made so, for his gift is something born with him, and apparently it continues despite his long sickness. He can still play three airs at once, play second to any performer, play with his back to the piano, and repeat any new tune that is sung or whistled or played to him. Blind Tom remains a riddle, with no fellow. His "original" compositions are of no value, but his reproduction of notable works at a moment's hearing is marvelous. To see this rolling negro, with closed eyes and heavy jaws, delight himself in the music he produces is to witness one of the puzzles of human life.
