The North Carolina sheriff who protected his negro prisoner from the mob would probably have little standing at Peirce City, Mo., but he is receiving handsome compliments from the rest of the country.

Mr. Charles A. Towne has driven another nail in the lid of the coffin which contains his pretensions to being a champion of the downtrodden masses. He has become president of a big asphalt corporation.

If the movement to have a battleship named for Kansas succeeds there will be no trouble about arranging the christening program. Carrie Nation will smash a joint over the prow, of course.

The Beaumont boomers are greatly grieved by the death of three men who lost their lives in trying to check the resistless flow of a great oil well, but their sorrow is measurably modified by the fact that the occurrence was well advertised in the dispatches.

The Hon. Pitchfork Tillman says that he has no respect for the newspapers. Whenever a man feels called upon to express that kind of feeling it is safe to conclude that the newspapers have been telling a large amount of unpalatable truth about him.

The war talk between France and Turkey will not result in anything more formidable than a great deal of talk. It is a sort of fashion with the nations now days to threaten war against Turkey, and France has just adopted the fashion, because the porte has refused to settle the acknowledged claims of a number of Frenchmen.

The worm is an unusually tender and fat one which may account for the early hour of the appearance of the birds. Roosevelt and Hill are both out for the presidency, and both will have opposition in their home state. Roosevelt must fight Odell, and Hill must have a reckoning with Tammany. Their candidacy shuts out Gorman for this time.

Perfect armor plate for battleships calls for a perfect projectile to pierce it and render it useless. During the present month the new Goltham gun at the Brooklyn navy yard will be fired at two targets that are to cost $15,000 each. The targets are made to represent a section of the side of the battleship Iowa, are to be covered with armor plate backed by five inches of wood supported by six feet of frame work. The inventor of the gun expects to demolish the targets with two shots, and if he does some other inventor will have to devise an armor plate for ships that will withstand this gun's terrible fire.

Smooth talkers with an easy scheme to make money are at work again in the valley and as usual have succeeded in making the money for themselves. They have been working Linn county, and from all accounts have caught a number of well-to-do farmers. They sell a combination kitchen cabinet and then they sell the right to manufacture them. They take notes ranging from $200 to $300 and then sell the notes. Just what benefit the people who purchase the right expect to derive is not quite clear, but a smooth stranger with a scheme always lands the persimmon.

Advices from Moscow say Russia is on the eve of another famine. Nearly a third of the provinces of European Russia are officially declared to have produced "insufficient," others "sufficient," and still others "under the average" crop of cereals. Only two provinces out of seventy have really good harvests. The official word "insufficient" means utter starvation. The famine stricken area exceeds half a million square miles, and about the same area as that of the great famine of 1891. The population numbers 43,000,000.

THROUGH DIFFERENT LENSES.

It seems that great minds differ radically on the labor problem in Oregon. Governor Geer in his speech at Portland on Labor day used this expression:

Since I have been invited to address you upon this question, I assume that you want my individual opinion concerning it, and you will allow me to say, therefore, that I do not believe all these vast fortunes, which are no doubt, from some points of view, a positive detriment to the country, have been made possible by any kind of legislation.

Following his speech was that of Hon. H. W. Scott, editor of the Oregonian, who said:

But all men see that many of our greatest fortunes, to say nothing of smaller ones, have been produced through conditions made by politics and legislation. Men devoted to the accumulation of wealth have made the state their political agent, and have done it with a success witnessed nowhere else in the world. Since this is so, is the multitude of men who constitute an industrial democracy to be blamed then because they too tend to look on politics and government from the material side?

The state has been used so much to assist in the acquisition of wealth, that it cannot be surprising that the material philosophy has struck its roots deeply into our system of life, society, politics, industry and government. The state never helps the citizen to make or save money—I mean the citizen in general. It does, however, help the few, when it makes grants; allows use of public franchises without proper compensation; enacts laws of which only a few are in position to take advantage, makes a great public debt which, as an investment for money, is the purchase by the rich of the power to tax the poor, for payment of interest and principal. They who can control money eagerly desire, as we all observe, opportunities of this kind. Bonds and warrants are their delight.

The little word ALL may be the loop hole that saves the governor from criticism. He certainly has not failed to perceive legislative grafts in our own state, nor to have observed the negative form of legislation in congress in the interest of trusts by the purchase of congressional votes for or against divers propositions, the intricacies of which the general public is often unable to fathom. These facts must be admitted, and they constitute a serious problem facing the American people. Probably Mr. Scott, in his remedy, is as near the solution as anyone can be when he says:

The tendency to capitalistic combination presents many new problems for labor; but old principles are not yet superseded, never wholly can be. Prudence and industry never can be stripped of their rewards. We have difficulties, but we must not be pessimistic. There are no resources in the assumption that we are approaching the worst of all possible worlds. Labor directed by skill, industry and fidelity will always be wanted, and it is for this class of labor that capitalistic employers must always pay well. * * * The desire of private gain is indeed the mainspring of commercial and industrial action, and its existence is absolutely necessary to human effort. But it should always be watched when it wants grants, bonuses, subsidies and franchises, and when such concessions are made the public rights should always be guarded with extreme care. It is a favorable sign of these times that there is better disposition now to guard the rights of the public in these directions than in former times, when promoters were accustomed to get everything merely for the asking. To the growth of democracy and of an intelligent spirit within it, to the necessity of making appeal to the people and taking their judgment, this change is due; for an industrial democracy is forced to mix business with politics and politics with business, in order to conserve its rights and interests, and to suppose the system will prove a failure would be to despair of mankind. * * * Through long experience and observation I know that the good old virtues are still our main reliance, and that in making necessary changes to the new conditions of an industrial civilization we never can afford to neglect them.

MARRIED.

At the home of the bride's mother in this city, at half past five on Thursday morning, in the presence of relatives and a few friends, Miss Alma Etta Cook and Mr. H. B. Blood of Carlton were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Prof. R. E. Storey.

Miss Cook was one of McMinnville's popular and accomplished young ladies and a graduate of the college. Mr. Blood, also a member of the graduating class of '97, has very successfully supplied the pulpits of Independence, and later of the Helix and Adams Baptist churches.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Blood took the train for Portland to start from there to Rochester, New York, where Mr. Blood will enter the theological seminary this fall. The good wishes of their many friends wherever they were known accompany them for a most pleasant and prosperous life journey.

Cupid's Beam Claims Two of Lafayette's Young Ladies.

By a happy coincidence two beautiful weddings occurred in Lafayette Wednesday. Nature seemed to anticipate the day and gave to it all the warmth, light and grandeur possible to a September day. This lent enchantment as high heaven seemed to smile on the launching of these two barks and bid fair to prosperous voyages over life's sea. The town also was awake to the fact that it was losing two of its jewels, and all seemed ready to assist nature to make the day a most joyous one.

BITTNER—OLDS—Prof. C. F. Bittner and Miss Cecile B. Olds were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents.

At high noon the parlor beautifully decorated in white and green, and about fifty guests, including the bride's and groom's parents, received the bride and groom. They were attended by Miss Elmira Bittner, a sister of the groom, and Mr. Dolph Olds, a brother of the bride. Rev. C. C. Poling then performed the ceremony, and after congratulations they retired to the dining room, which was beautifully draped in pink and green. Here an excellent wedding dinner was served.

The bride and groom left on the afternoon train for Portland. After a wedding tour they will return to the home of the bride's parents for a short stay before going to their new home in Dallas, where the professor will take up his work for another year in Dallas college, of which he is an esteemed educator. Prof. Bittner is a son of Rev. Dr. Bittner of Portland, and in his short career as an instructor has won many friends. Mrs. Bittner is highly esteemed in the town, and will be a suitable companion, being well educated and fully in sympathy with the professor's work.

WINTER—HENRY—Rev. A. A. Winter and Miss Nellie I. Henry were married at five o'clock Wednesday.

The United Evangelical church, well filled and beautifully decorated, under the supervision of Mrs. Hyde, with a double arch and fine potted plants, welcomed the bride and groom. The company composed of bride and groom, bridesmaid and groomsmen, two ushers and minister moved to a beautiful march played by Prof. Kautner to the front of the church. Rev. C. C. Poling performed the ceremony, after which they returned to the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Baker, where about thirty friends and relatives partook of a nicely prepared dinner.

After the meal the bride and groom, accompanied by the bride's maid and groom's man, were driven to the station where a company of friends were gathered, and amid a shower of rice they boarded the train. They expect to go to Newport for their trip, after which they will return to the parsonage in Dallas, where Rev. Winter is the accepted pastor. Rev. Winter is a successful minister in the Oregon conference of the United Evangelical church, and in the personage of Miss Henry has received a valuable assistant. To Mr. and Mrs. Winter the church looks with hope.

Best lady, Miss Elsie Canfield; best man, Floyd Fisher; ushers, Misses Kathleen Canfield and Eula Hodson. Many friends wish these newly wedded couples much joy, which was shown not only by word, but by many beautiful presents.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Thirty Years of Suffering.

"I suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Halloway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by Howorth & Co.

AFTER MANY YEARS

Of suffering from kidney disease, Miss Minnie Ryan, of St. Louis, Mo., found a complete cure result from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It is such cures as this which establish the soundness of Dr. Pierce's theory: "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach. Every other organ depends on the stomach for its vitality and vigor. For by the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition the food which is eaten is converted into nutriment, which, in the form of blood, is the sustaining power of the body and each organ of it. When the stomach is diseased the food supply of the body is cut down, the organs are starved, and the weakness of starvation shows itself in lungs, heart, liver, kidneys or some other organ."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and so cures disease of other organs which have originated through deficient nutrition or impure blood.

"I had been suffering with kidney trouble twenty years," writes Miss Minnie Ryan, of 1537 Louisiana Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., "and I had doctored with a number of the best physicians. Two years ago I commenced taking your Golden Medical Discovery and Favorite Prescription and took also several trials of Doctor Pierce's Pellets. I took eight bottles (four of each), and I feel now perfectly cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.
