A Sparkling Gem

Is the expression from many persons who have bought diamonds from us. We have yet to meet the first one dissatisfied with his purchase. We don't allow such persons to leave our store. We can't afford it. We strive to give service that leaves no ground for dissatisfaction. We know diamonds from the ground to our case, buy direct from the cutters, and give you the "middleman's" profit. If you want a diamond don't think you have to go to Portland for it. We keep a good assortment ranging in price from $5 to $150, and sell them for less money than the big city dealer, with his enormous expenses. We do diamond mounting and setting.

TAKE A WALK.

The dwellers in the arctic regions view the midnight sun without emotion; Niagara has no interest or charm to those who have passed their lives within sound of its dashing, and even its thunders are not audible to them. It is a very common old saying that familiarity breeds contempt, and it also may be said that the continued contemplation of our surroundings will result in making most beautiful objects commonplace. Those who do not live within the zone of these two wonders will journey across seas and continents to behold their grandeur, and stand amazed at the magnificence of the one and the physical splendor of the other. But to bring the matter home, how few of us realize the quiet beauty that can be enjoyed by a survey of the environments of our own little city. Take a walk. Shake off the misty cobwebs and look beyond brick walls. Get out from the narrow channels of business. Stop figuring interest long enough to allow yourself to commingle for an hour with outdoor thoughts, where your soul will have a chance to broaden with a vision and an inspiration that reaches beyond the city limits—and that must do so if this, the fairest city in the valley, is to reach out and build up on the business material within reach of her.

Go, climb one of the hills to the west, and then turn and look at the valley as it stretches away till it ends in a hazy mist in the direction of the eternal snows on the crest of Hood and Jefferson, the grand sentinels that stand guard over the garden spot of earth. That row of gold and crimson that winds in and out of the dark green of cedar and fir marks the sinuous course of the Yamhill, its banks bordered with vegetation newly painted by the frost artist, and its bosom assisting to carry to the markets of the world our too meager commerce.

The old town with its cozy homes and its tall steeples nestles securely in the honor and virtue of its past history. Now and then a puff of smoke from a chimney tells that the city is not destitute of industry. But mark, while you gaze, the progressive city of which you are no longer a chained, musty-minded inmate, but a free soul apart, with a power to look upon it with a full scope of your dreams. The visions begin to come upon you and you see new possibilities as your mind broadens. You behold sheltered nooks and orchards, dairy farms and meadows, gardens and vast farms, coal mines and oil derricks, mayhap. You see the endless field of home conquest in Oregon. You are over the hills and through the forests in all directions, for leagues, north, south, east and west; over vales of growing agricultural industry, cattle dotted ranges and valleys, timbered slopes and mineral-burdened mountains. No great stretch of the imagination is needed to see before you new homes and new industries, and the coming and going of the people that would from the establishment of these new homes and new industries form an adjunct to the growth and prosperity of McMinnville. As your brain more and more shakes off the chains, the more and more you see and realize, until right before your eyes the city grows and grows. The roar of industry swells and your ears tingle with the sound of wonders yet to be as the teeming multitude rushes to and fro in the streets, and you see radiating from the magic city a stream of life and business you never dreamed of before.

Take a walk some fine morning and get away for a spell from the hoves of care. Nature and your beautiful surroundings will be a revelation to you. You will return to your work a broader man, realizing that the country is bound to take rapid strides forward in development and natural growth, and that if you as a business man would keep pace with the growth of the country, you must give the country a market for its fruit, its vegetables, its livestock and its milk. You must build driers, canneries, creameries and packing houses. Give the country a chance to develop its resources and it will do its part. The country will furnish the raw material if the business men of McMinnville will furnish the jars and sacks to put it in. Get up early and take a walk. It will do you good.

A Level-Headed Preacher.
We have heard of an up-to-date Baptist preacher who has something new in announcements. Instead of doing some sensational turn in order to attract people to his church he simply advertises in the local paper: "There still remains a few vacant seats at the regular services in the Baptist church of this city. The pastor will, and can, preach better sermons if the seats are all filled with worshipful attendants. Will you not come?"

TWO RECEPTIONS.

Many Friends Honor the Hoberg Anniversary.

The Methodist church was comfortably filled Tuesday evening with friends of Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Hoberg, for the purpose of uniting in a public celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. That chief embodiment of wit, Rev. H. T. Atkinson, presided in a most efficient manner. The various sons-in-law and grandchildren occupied front seats, while the parents and their four sons and four daughters occupied the platform. The program opened with a good old Methodist hymn, followed by invocation by Rev. L. W. Riley of the Baptist church. Rev. Platt of the Christian church read the 71st Psalm. B. F. Rhodes was announced as the first speaker, but was unavoidably kept away. President Boardman came next. He did not feel that one of his age and experience could measure up to the demands of the occasion, but he congratulated the aged people on their anniversary, and the graceful manner in which they are growing old. His earliest recollection of a preacher was Father Hoberg, whose personality had stamped an indelible influence for good upon him. He thought growing old gracefully was almost a lost art, and he coveted no diviner blessing than that it might be his privilege to thus grow old.

Prof. W. A. Pettis of Salem was present and favored the audience with the violin variations of "Home, Sweet Home," in an artistic manner. Rev. A. J. Hunsaker addressed the meeting briefly, and said his first meeting with Bro. Hoberg was 25 years ago at a place where the latter was seeking a drink—of water. He spoke of the ultra-Baptist character of the program, and emphasized the beauty and advantages of smiling countenances, such as the subjects of the meeting had always displayed.

C. P. Nelson gave some early recollections of Father Hoberg, covering a period of 20 years in Sunday school work, and closed with an expression of good wishes. The "Olive Branches" (children) sang "Home, Sweet Home," and to satisfy a demand for more, gave "Hear 'Dem Bells." All have good voices, and enjoy singing.

To all these tributes Father Hoberg gave splendid response, although claiming that the "wind had been taken out of his sails." As is characteristic, he attributed all joys and successes of life as coming from God, in whom they had always maintained an unflinching trust. Mother Hoberg, as usual, had to quietly sit under the fire of several good-natured thrusts from her spouse, and Brother Hunsaker came in for his share also. The presentation of a beautiful silver gold-lined dish was made by the pastor, on behalf of the church, with suitable inscriptions. The meeting closed with a general round of congratulations.

On Wednesday evening many friends came and went at the home, and a large number partook of refreshments of chocolate and cake. Here, also, beautiful presents were bestowed. Judge R. P. Bird, on behalf of Lafayette Lodge No. 3, A. F. & A. M., presented in well-known remarks a silver berry set. B. E. Rhodes followed in like manner for Union Lodge No. 43, bestowing a berry spoon and tea strainer. F. E. Rogers in a good speech represented Knowles Chapter O. E. S. in giving a gold clock. These speeches were responded to by both recipients in remarkably well-chosen expressions. A list of donors of other presents follows:

DEATH OF WILLIAM D. WRIGHT.

"Grandpa" Wright, one of the best known and respected citizens of this city, departed this life early Sunday morning, November 10th. He was ill six weeks, due to senile gangrene originating on one of the toes of the left foot. His sufferings were severe, but borne with wonderful patience and a display of remarkable vitality. His age was 83 years, 10 months and 28 days. He was born near Mumfordsville, Ky., and at the age of 21 removed to Knox county, Illinois, where he engaged in farming and stockraising until May, 1881, when he came to McMinnville. His wife, five sons and three daughters survive him—George, Elsie, Frank, Lee and Lyle Wright and Mrs. Bell Nash, of Dundee; Mrs. Emma Hemstock, of Sellwood, and Mrs. Susie Miller of British Columbia. All were present except George, who lives in Nebraska, and Mrs. Miller. Mr. Wright was married in 1843 to Miss Susan Robertson, who died August 4th, 1858. In 1859 he married Matilda McBride, the surviving widow. He was a man of kindly disposition and a quiet, upright citizen. The funeral was held at the Baptist church, with sermon by Rev. A. J. Hunsaker, on Tuesday morning. He spoke from the scripture: "For I know that thou wilt bring me to death and to the house appointed for all living." The choir, composed of Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Rogers, Mr. Chandler and Mr. Macy, sang "Rock of Ages," "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me" and "Nearer my God to Thee." The pall bearers were G. W. Jones, C. D. Johnson, R. Nelson, John Redmond, Wm. L. Warren and E. C. Walker. The attendance was large. Ceremonies at the grave were conducted by the Masonic fraternity, to which Mr. Wright had belonged for 45 years.

GOPHER.

The cattlemen are engaged in getting their cattle in from the mountains.

Mrs. Chas. Agee and daughter Lela were Sheridan visitors Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fryer of Carlton, have been visiting with Milton Potter and wife.

Norman Barnett visited with his sister, Mrs. T. Short, at Ballston last week, returning to his home Monday.

Marion Murphy and Mabel Stow were out from McMinnville Saturday and Sunday visiting with the family of J. Thompson.

John Eborall started Monday for Salmon river, where he has a claim. He intends to be gone a week.

Marion DeLashmutt, who has been employed on the Bonita, visited last week with relatives in the valley.

The school is progressing nicely under the supervision of Miss McNeil. As this was annual institute week, there was but two days of school.

Eleven hunters were coyote chasing Sunday. They did not secure any game but report a little excitement caused by the explosion of Eb Duvall's gun. Fortunately no one was much injured.

The closing out sale at the Grange store is drawing the crowds and the clerks are kept busy.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express sincere thanks to all sympathizing and helpful friends whose ministrations of kindness have been so abundant and generous in the period of our bereavement and during the illness and death of our husband and father. The beautiful service rendered by the choir is also entitled to our thanks. Respectfully,
MRS. MATILDA WRIGHT AND FAMILY.

The Wonderful Fall and Some of Its Products.

C. S. Hulm brought to this office last week, Thursday, some fine specimens of ripe red raspberries picked that day, and his family had raspberries and cream for dinner. This is an unusual November record even in Oregon. Right along this line was another contribution made by Mrs. Wm. Wess on Saturday of a couple of twigs of lilac in bloom with all the sweetness of perfume of the early spring.

Right on the heels of all this Mr. Wm. Merchant of Carlton brought in on Wednesday a bunch of white radishes, solid and firm, a number of roasting ears, two watermelons and a bunch of green onions. He says they have had green corn all summer, and would have for two months if there were no frost. He also plowed under some wild blackberries a few days since.

William H. Heitniller of Tillamook was found guilty of assault with intent to kill Emil Arndt, last September. He was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

LOCAL NEWS.

Dr. H. H. V. Johnson of this city is again very ill.

Home grown English rye grass seed for sale by R. Baird, North Yamhill, Or.

The St. Charles Store sells good groceries and provisions, and offers no baits.

Bring your chickens and eggs to H. C. Hannon and get the cash. C. F. Daniels' old stand.

Dr. G. S. Wright may be found in his office in this city from this time on, during all business hours.

Lambert Bros. want all the poultry, eggs and farm produce, for which they will pay the highest cash price. At Palmer's old stand.

Delos Underwood departed for Eugene Friday morning of last week, at which place he has a position in a harness shop during the winter.

You get the best values in hats, shoes, corsets, hosiery, oil cloth, ribbons, lace and embroidery, tinware and notions, at the Racket Store.

James Kelly and wife arrived from Minnesota Wednesday evening, and are occupying the John Evenden residence. Mr. Kelly is a farmer, and expects to purchase land in this section.

The Grange store means business and the stock of goods will be closed out at cost.

The subject at the Baptist church Sunday morning will be "Sad Sowing and Glad Reaping." Evening subject, "The Way, the Truth and the Light."

Prof. C. C. Linden, who was attending the teachers' institute, was called home Wednesday evening by a telephone message from Dr. Smith announcing that Mr. Linden's son had met with an accident in which he sustained a fracture and dislocation of one of his limbs.

Wallace & Walker this week shipped their marble soda fountain to Northrup & Sturgis. The old fountain made money the first two years it was operated, and was the best one in town, but the firm found it took too much time to work it in connection with a grocery store.

The A. O. U. W. lodge of Sheridan has taken new life, and the members have gone to work in earnest, and we look for good results in the future. Tests have been made of the vast deposits of shell marl three miles west of Dallas, to ascertain if they will make into cement. The tests proved satisfactory. The present form of these deposits is a very excellent quality of building stone.—Sun.

The Cleveland Concert Co., consisting of soprano, contralto, violinist and pianist, played at the opera house Monday evening. One special feature was the "boy pianist," Mordant Goodnough. Prof. Ruthyn Turney in his inimitable violin playing, received the unrestrained applause of the audience. Prof. Turney rendered four violin solos and was forced to respond to as many encores, the ease with which he wooed the sweet strains from the instrument being almost beyond comprehension. The Cleveland Concert Co. went from this city to Hillsboro.

Fred R. Mellis of the Oregon mineral exhibit at Bullas is home, and speaks in the highest terms of the exposition in general, and of the Oregon exhibit in particular. He says the same amount of advertising could not have been obtained for $200,000 in any other way and it only cost $17,500, as there is a remainder of $2500 of the state appropriation which will be added to the $5,000 appropriated for the Charleston exposition. He reports that Oregon secured 14 gold medals and 30 silver medals, besides a large number of diplomas and certificates of honorable mention. The Oregon mineral exhibit was by far the best at the fair, and attracted a great deal of attention. Of the four silver medals awarded to the Pacific coast states, Oregon received two. There were no gold medals awarded for minerals.

Died in Portland.

Mrs. Ann M. Hussey, widow of the late Allen Hussey of Sheridan, and niece of Mrs. Lucretia Cowls of this city, died in Portland on Monday of heart trouble, after an illness of considerable duration. She was a pioneer of 1846, and the eldest daughter of the late A. B. Paulcner, one of the founders of Sheridan. Mrs. Hussey leaves one son, Charles, a banker of Baker City. Burial was made at Sheridan on Wednesday.

HOPEWELL.

Business with our merchants is good. J. Cooper has moved on the J. T. Cooper farm.

Smith Stephens has moved into his new house.

John Campbell is completing a new house.

J. Lynch has moved to Salem to school his children.

J. T. Cooper has bought the Garrison property and moved in. Garrison has gone to Washington.

A fire last week destroyed one of T. W. Nash's barns, and there was a loss of 250 bushels of oats, and other feed. No insurance.
