Child Worth Millions.
"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. Mary Bird of Harrisburg, Pa., "yet I would have lost her by croup had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for coughs, croup and throat and lung troubles. An absolutely safe cough cure which acts immediately. The youngest child can take it with entire safety. The little ones like the taste and remember how often it helped them. Every family should have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure handy. At this season especially it may be needed suddenly. Rogers Bros.

LAFAYETTE.
E. M. Olds lost a fine horse Tuesday. Mrs. Randal of Portland visited the D. of H. Jan. 13. The lodge had initiation and then installed their officers. After lodge there was a bounteous lunch awaiting, and a general good time is reported.

Rev. C. C. Poling of Dallas preached in the Evangelical church Saturday evening and Sunday morning and evening. Dr. Bittner of Portland is here assisting Rev. C. T. Hurd in the meetings. A skating rink has started up in our city.

While Mr. Hodson was helping Mr. Green grub a stump on his farm near town, a stray bullet passed through the folds of his hat. It was a narrow escape, and was found to be some boys shooting near by.

REMARKABLE CURE FOR COUGHS.
A Little Boy's Life Saved.
I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's cough remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere of Goodwin, S. D., and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes, until he "threw up," and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today.—Joel Demont, Inwood, Iowa. ANNUAL MEETING OF O. F. R. A.

Harmonious Gathering. 81 Voters Present.

The annual meeting of the Oregon Fire Relief Association convened Tuesday morning in the opera house, and was called to order by President North-up. Secretary Chandler read the annual report, which made a very favorable showing of the progress of the year. The report of the treasurer was read and placed on file.

Resolutions on the death of O. H. Irvine, late president, drafted by Judge Hewitt and Chas. Grissen, were read and unanimously adopted.

A request from petitioners of Corvallis for the reelection of D. C. Rose as trustee was read and placed on file.

The case of loss by fire of Mrs. Houseman of Seaside, Or., was introduced by W. T. Vinton, being a petition of 107 persons asking that the loss be paid. Reasons why the loss was not paid were called for and were given very clearly by the secretary. The insured had taken insurance in another company without giving notice to this company, which was a direct violation of a clause in the policy, hence the trustees could not pay the insurance. Vinton moved that directors be instructed to pay. He received no second, and Bryant moved that directors decide what is right in the matter. Remarks in favor of a strict adherence to the by-laws were made by Gee, Hewitt, Cooper, Merchant and Grissen, after which Bryant's motion carried.

Under head of amendments Hewitt offered amendment to Art. 4, Secs. 1, 2 and 3 of the constitution, adding to the officers that of vice-president, increasing the trustees from 8 to 9, and changing the term so that three would be elected each year. The amendments carried.

Election of trustees followed. Messrs. Wesley Houck, Wm. Merchant and D. C. Rose being named for the one year term, the rules were suspended on motion of Bryant, and they were chosen by acclamation.

For the two-year term E. C. Apperson, S. A. Riggs and David Smith were chosen in the same manner, on motion of J. H. Nelson.

For the three-year term Messrs. Hewitt, Pershin and Gee were chosen on three successive ballots.

Judge Hewitt called up the report of the committee on examination of books of former secretary. Secretary Chandler stated that the report had been made to the trustees, and he did not have it with him, but could give the substance of it, which he did, showing that only trifling clerical errors had been found, and these had all been righted.

On motion meeting adjourned. At the meeting of directors in the afternoon Chas. Grissen was chosen vice-president and E. C. Apperson treasurer. This took Mr. Apperson from the board of directors, and the vacancy was filled by the election of J. H. Nelson.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. L. A. Derby and children wish to express their sincere thanks and gratitude to their friends and neighbors who have so kindly given of their help and sympathy during the illness and death of husband and father.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

TALKING FOR A CANNERY.

Citizens Met Monday Evening For The Purpose. Action of Board for Trade.

The meeting called for the organization of a board of trade met Monday evening in the city hall. F. S. Harding was chosen chairman and J. G. Eckman secretary. The chair announced the object of the meeting to be to discuss the cannery question. E. Wright stated that there was quite a strong desire for a cannery here, but before it can be secured it will take money to build it and to buy fruit, and will also require a guarantee of 100 acres planted to peas before the required machine for handling the peas can be secured, and the machines are issued on a royalty, and only a limited number are let out. He announced the presence of Mr. O. V. Allen of Salem, a practical cannery man, who was ready to give all the information he could. Mr. Allen opened his remarks by saying that you can't use a cannery unless you have something to can, and there didn't seem to be a great lot of fruit here. He had never been able to find a market for canned pees, but a cannery that would can peas would can anything else. The peas would carry the work along till you could get into berries, which would give a good crop the second year. To handle peas the cheapest way, the "viner's system" is necessary. This is a patented machine which runs through vines and all, and is put out on a royalty, the company issuing machines for a given amount of territory, so apportioned as not to crowd the field and render the business unprofitable. To get one of these 100 acres of peas must be guaranteed the first year. Other machinery necessary would cost about $1500, exclusive of boilers and engines, and some money would be needed for fruit and perhaps some for buildings. To equip a plant and have plenty of room, he estimated would cost $4,000 to $5,000, and there should be some capital besides to carry on the work. If it was desired to start on fruit alone, it could be done very cheap, but a pea canning plant should have a $10,000 investment. Peas are threshed, graded and picked according to their grade. There is as much as 50c a dozen difference in the price of grades. A first-class article sells more readily and without trouble. All the better grades in San Francisco are imported from outside the state or from abroad—Wisconsin in particular. We can grow as fine quality here as in Wisconsin. The trouble is to get them picked while tender. Should be planted so as to ripen in succession. Didn't think there would be any trouble to get the product grown. Many large concerns grow their own stock and make ensilage of the refuse, which makes from one to two tons to the acre, worth about $3 a ton in the silo.

L. Root asked cost of growing peas. Mr. Allen said it was about the same as for preparing any other crop thoroughly. He planted in March, preparing ground with disc and spring tooth harrow, and used a wheat drill for sowing. Seed cost $6 an acre, and total cost of harvesting and delivering to cannery was $15 an acre.

C. V. Galloway asked average yield and average price paid by cannery. For picked peas they paid 1 1/4c a pound; handled in pod $18 to $20 a ton. Four tons to the acre sometimes grown, but usually two. Varieties differ in yield. Would plant variety known as medium dwarf, which requires no sticking.

Henry Gee asked what kind of soil was used. The answer was, sandy loam in the Keiser bottom near Salem, prairie loam and red soil.

Chas. Galloway asked if all peas put in at a certain time would do to cut at the same time. Not altogether, was the answer. You can't save everything, hence there is an advantage in hand picking.

Mr. Kingery—How many can good picker hand-pick in a day? Answer—300 or 400 pounds is the best record by Chinamen. The work is generally done by children. Canneries employ very few men, as women and children are better fitted to the work.

Mr. Gee—Have you tried string beans? Yes, but they are the cheapest thing in the market. Not profitable on a large scale. The Blue Lake people in California are the only successful bean cannery I know of. Their name sells their product. The secret is to get a reputation and a market, otherwise you will go out of business. Better take hold of something known to be successful. Asked the price paid for strawberries, the answer was 3c a pound clear of boxes and crates, which are returned to grower. Raspberries and blackberries are not so high, cherries 3 to 3 1/2c a pound, and Royal Ann's run a little more sometimes. Peas $10 to $12 and $15 a ton. George Keen wanted to know price paid for picked peas. Average price was 35c to 40c a hundred in pod. Would gather peas with scythe or mowing machine, and load with pitchfork.

Discussion then turned to fruit dryer in connection. Chas. Galloway thought a good commercial dryer needed more here than any other place in the valley. M. B. Hendrick was called and stated that he had a 35-horse steel boiler and 20-horse engine, with shafting, belting, trucks and scales which he would be willing to put in at cash value, and also storage room at warehouse. E. Wright tendered his building three years for the payment of taxes thereon. J. P. Irvine favored the project, as the town was growing and should take hold of enterprises.

F. G. Adams was satisfied a cannery would pay, and he would do all he could to assist. Henry Gee was of the same opinion. Chas. Grissen spoke of successful operation of cannery in Rogue river valley, being its first experience with peas, but additional acreage would follow. It should pay here, where fruit trees and orchards are plentiful. David Stout thought it time for McMinnville to take hold and start something. There was plenty of fruit, and for two years the product of his orchard had rotted because there was no means of caring for it. Mr. Lounsbury, traveling freight agent of the Southern Pacific, was present and called for. He said enterprises of this kind prospered in other sections of the state. Explained that the railroad was not allowed to permit anything other than warehouse and depot on its grounds, but the traffic part of the company would be only two glad to aid any project, and thought it a most auspicious time to establish a cannery, because of the emigrant rate from the east to be established this spring of $25 from Missouri river points. Chas. Galloway made a strong plea for action, and pledged that he and his father would put in 50 acres of peas if necessary. Keen would vouch that if city built cannery there would be no lack of peas grown. Root moved that Wright, Hendricks and Gee be appointed a committee to look up the cannery business. Grissen added the names of Galloway and Baker, and the committee to divide the work to suit them. The motion carried unanimously.

The matter of permanent organization was then taken up, and Messrs. Harding, Baker and Grissen discussed a union with the Commercial club. On motion of Grissen, chair appointed Messrs. Grissen, Eckman and C. P. Nelson a committee to confer with the club concerning permanent organization, and to report in the near future.

On motion adjourned subject to call of cannery committee.

SHERIDAN.

We are having some lovely weather for a few days, and, in fact, who could complain of the entire winter so far?

Earnest Brown, who has been visiting with his parents since Christmas, left last Monday morning for Hoquiam, Wash., to resume his work as night watchman in a sawmill.

Mrs. J. R. Mendenhall, who has been seriously ill for a number of weeks, is slowly recovering.

The meetings at the M. E. church are still in progress and will continue throughout the week. The attendance as yet has not been very large.

There will be a ball at Bewley's hall Saturday evening, Jan. 18, to which all are invited.

Mr. Dave Waddel was in town last Saturday and Sunday. Ask one of our fair school teachers if she knows what was the attraction.

Grandma Bogue, an aged lady living in the northern part of town, has been confined to her bed for some time by sickness.

Mrs. James Townsend is visiting relatives at North Yamhill.

Boyd Mendenhall attended the basket ball game at McMinnville last Friday night.

The railing at the side of the foot bridge that spans the river at this place has been made considerable higher. This is a good thing, as it may save the life of some passer-by on a dark night.

Mrs. Dr. W. Tyler Smith spent a few days last week in Ballston visiting her daughter, Mrs. Joe Craven.

Miss Ethel Graves and Mrs. Laura Sawyer were in Ballston last Sunday afternoon.

F. B. Churchman was in town Saturday.

Everything is quiet since the holidays, and everyone seems to have settled down to business again.

NORTH YAMHILL.

Sam Laughlin was a Portland visitor during the week.

Dr. Goucher was a professional caller here this week.

J. A. Campbell and little son visited here the fore part of the week.

A brother to John and Herman Westerman arrived here from Germany Saturday evening.

James Harford, who has been sick for some time, is slowly improving.

Frank Martin, who has been sick for the past three weeks, is now out of danger.

The Adventists held their quarterly conference here Friday and Saturday.

John Geldard expects to depart for the mines near Sumpter this week, where he will remain for the fore part of the summer.

Mrs. A. E. McKern and Mrs. N. H. Perkins visited friends at Monmouth the first of the week.

Miss Grace Trullinger, who is at the hospital in Portland, is getting along nicely, and expects to be able to come home in about ten days.

Harris Glandon was driving his Klondike dog team, hitched to his sled, Tuesday. He left for Alaska Wednesday.

It is rumored that the Laughlin brothers of this place have bought the livery business from Hute Johnson of Forest Grove.

Resolved, that heredity has more influence than environment, is the question to be debated between the public school of this place and Carlton the last Friday in this month, the latter having the affirmative. The ones chosen to represent this school were Thomas Parsons, Jennie Kuykendall and Elsie Hoff-statter.

Mrs. Nora Foster, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dudley, died at this place Jan. 15, 1902. She was born Nov. 28, 1870, near Carlton, Yamhill county. Her funeral was held at the Methodist church Jan. 16. She was buried at the McBride cemetery. She leaves a mother, one son, four brothers and a sister to mourn her loss.

Birthday Fun.

J. C. Cooper is trying to break the monotony of the long winter days during his wife's absence in California. Some time ago he sent out to the members of the Woman's Relief Corps the following:

McMinnville, Or., Dec. 28, 1901.
Mrs. —: All members of Custer W. R. C. in good standing are respectfully invited to my birthday party at 7:30 p. m. some time in January. (I will look up the date later as the family bible is mislaid.) Guests will provide their own amusement. No smoking, games or acting will be permitted. Presents worth more than 5 cents will be returned. You can bring your husband or other escort if you want to as my wife is absent, but please call their attention to the new door mat on entering. You may want them to carry home some of the presents if I give any. At the first meeting in January the president will appoint two janitors or hostlers to come early and take care of the ladies' hats. If enough come to amount to anything we will have a good time; if too many come some of the men can sit on the bathtub. I will retire at eleven and give all a chance to go home. Yours in F. C. & L.

J. C. COOPER, Manager.
P. S.—This note is perfumed, but I will speak to the postmaster. I think he will let it pass.
C.

Some time later he sent the following:
Mrs. —: My wife writes that she hopes we will have a good time at my birthday party; you will therefore bring no escorts or children and very few husbands, and those of the homeliest only.
P. S.—According to Jayne's almanac my birthday and my brother's both happen in January this year—9th and 16th. But the 9th comes on the dark of the moon as well as several other hooks and eyes, nut-crackers and things. I am not superstitious but it is well enough to be careful. It is also a Jewish holiday, "Gosh Kodak Shebat." That's awful; it would never do and it's too late anyhow to get ready for that day, so I have concluded to convene on the 16th, which is the second Thursday after Epiphany. Jupiter sets next day at 4:33 and Perseus doesn't happen until the following Monday, so I think it will be safe. It will be high tide at Astoria at 6:16, and country members will note that the moon sets about midnight, C.

This last note was sent in a large official envelope embellished with astronomical signs, the cow jumping over the moon and other barnyard troubles. It is safe to say that the ladies responded in a body and carried out the program of having as good a time as the occasion would permit. Department Commander Joseph A. Sladen, and Past Department Commander G. E. Caulkin, of Portland, were present. They were met at the depot by a deputation of ladies with carriage, and escorted to the old home under the willow. Mrs. Galloway, state president, and Mrs. Ungerman, past state president, lent their presence and assistance to make the occasion enjoyable.

Demise of a Good Citizen.

James R. Derby passed away at his home in west McMinnville, Jan. 10, 1902, after a protracted illness of nearly two years, during which time he was a patient but constant sufferer. He was born in New York, Aug. 26th, 1826; was married to Miss Lucy A. Olds Jan. 25, 1851, and in the month of March, 1852, started with a company of others for Oregon, arriving in Portland Nov. 25th, being 8 months on their journey. He first settled near Lafayette, but afterward bought a farm near McMinnville, where he resided till the day of his death. The funeral services were held at the house, Sunday p. m., conducted by Rev. H. T. Atkinson and choir of the Methodist church. He has been a member of this church for many years. Mr. Derby was an upright, honorable citizen, respected by all, and leaves a wife and five children to mourn the loss of husband and father. The children are Mrs. Jane Garrison of Idaho, Wm. P. Derby of Gresham, Or., Jerome A. and James P. Derby and Mary E. High of McMinnville. Mr. Derby had been a subscriber of the Oregonian for many years and of The Reporter since its first publication.

CARLTON.

Mrs. W. A. Howe went to Portland Tuesday.

Mrs. D. W. Laughlin is on the sick list this week.

The town people met and elected new town officers last Monday.

Last Wednesday evening the scholars gave Prof. Kingery a farewell party.

Frank McCune is seen again on our streets, after some months' absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Merchant attended the meeting of the O. F. R. A. Tuesday.

Grandma Newman is slowly recovering from the effects of a bad fall a short time ago.

Prof. Kingery has resigned his position in our school. This is very much regretted, as the pupils liked him very much.

Wm. Merchant returned Thursday from Salem, where he had been attending a series of lectures for farmers. He reports a splendid time.

Last Saturday night the A. O. U. W. lodge took quite a boom. They initiated about eighteen members. The Dayton team were present, and the ladies of the D. of H. gave them supper at twelve o'clock and breakfast at six in the morning.

Last Tuesday night the ladies of the D. of H. were greatly and pleasantly surprised. After they closed lodge about twenty of the good Workmen entered the lodge room and recalled them to order. After entertaining them a few minutes with a program they invited the ladies downstairs, where they were again surprised by two abundantly filled tables. The best of it was the Workmen claimed the honor of preparing it all themselves. The bill of fare consisted of turkey, goose, pigeon, baked beans, potatoes, cabbage, pie, fruit, cake and cookies. The gentlemen even made their own napkins and toothpicks. The D. of H. enjoyed the surprise immensely and hope they will do the same next Tuesday night, when they have about fifteen candidates to initiate.

A Cure For Lumbago.
